Quake, Gale, Tidal Wave.
Editing Coolidge.
Mr. Borah in Reverse.
She Shot the Wife.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE

ALREADY WEAKENED, partly demolished by terrible earthquake shocks, many houses, palaces and churches in Naples were leveled yesterday afternoon by a severe gale, adding to the terror and loss of life. Then came a tidal wave driven by the gale.

KING VICTOR EMMANUEL started for Naples as soon as the first earthquake news came. A dispatch from Rome suggests that Pope Pius XI himself will make a tour of the stricken regions to reassure the terrified inhabitants.

AFTER REPEATED earthquake shocks, with Vesuvius blazing menacingly in the background, a hurricane sweeping the city, thousands injured, 2,000 dead, no wonder the people are frightened.

CALVIN COOLIDGE wrote a history of the United States in 500 words, to be engraved on a mountainside in South Dakota. Mr. Borglum, sculptor carving the mountain, changed the text. Mr. Coolidge disowned it and will probably write another.

You feel as though you had read of Moses coming down from the mountain with the Ten Commandments and Borglum changing the wording, possibly leaving out the word "NOT."

POLITICS IN the fall will be mixed. Two years ago, Senator Borah, his noble mane shaking, fire in each eye, was telling the West:

"Elect Herbert Hoover, and see what HE will do for the farmer."

THIS FALL the West will see Senator Borah, not quite so fiery, telling the farmers that Farm Board relief for farmers, in the language of the day, is a "flop."

THE ADMINISTRATION and Mr. Legge, head of the Farm Board, have done their best. They bought 69,000,000 bushels of the 1929 wheat crop "to stabilize prices."

If an individual did that it would be called "cornering."

When a man corners grain, he does it secretly. Uncle Sam did it openly.

Wicked Board of Trade men stopped gambling in wheat, began building grain elevators to provide space for wheat. They knew Uncle Sam would not sell.

As a result of "farm relief," wheat has dropped to its lowest level in 16 years.

LADY OWEN, in Paris, rich, titled woman, fell in love with Dr. Gastaud. He, she says, reciprocated until she lent him 100,000 francs. Then he stopped reciprocating, went back to his wife and, only the vernacular describes it—gave Lady Owen "the air."

LADY OWEN, thereupon, shot the wife, Mme. Gastaud, three times, principally in the stomach.

Smoking gold-tipped cigarets rapidly, Lady Owen expressed indignant surprise when the police refused to set her free. Who can read the heart of woman?

Why shoot the poor wife instead of shooting the "air giver?"

All through the ages women have protected men and blamed each other.

STANDARD OIL of California, of which K. R. Kingsbury is president, announces that it will make no more gasoline than it can actually sell, and what is more important, that it will not sell anything to dealers that try to take away the business of their competitors by rate cutting.

The so-called "bootleg" dealers are outlawed by Standard Oil.

If other companies follow the example it may help to stabilize the oil industry.

SIR HENRI DETERDING, head of the great Dutch-British oil company that spreads literally all over the world, much greater in extent and power than Standard Oil, or any other, is an active man. For his amusement, he jumps horses over fences.

Also for his amusement, he has made some American oil men jump many hurdles. Our laws forbid an American company to do this and do that. You mustn't be too big. You must not, if you are American, organize a nationwide distributing organization. But Deterding and his "Shell" company can do anything.

AT PRESENT Sir Henri, real genius of industry, has turned to extracting fertilizer for farmers from gas that goes to waste from oil wells.

It would be amusing if he gave American farmers cheaper fertilizers than they can get from their own fertilizer trust.

DETERDING IS the man who this year supplies the entire Japanese navy with oil. He gets the oil from American wells and sells to Japan at a price lower than the United States Navy ever pays for the same oil.

EVERY MORNING, on coldest winter days, Deterding takes a cold bath out of doors. If the water is frozen, his "man" chops away the ice, and Deterding jumps into his pool, running around the edge of it afterward in his wet bathing suit, until he feels warmer.

He has made some American oil men know how that cold plunge feels.

Parents Balk 'Mixed' Baby Trade

WON'T SWAP IN CHILD TANGLE

'Only Over My Dead Body,' Says One Father, Refusing Exchange Despite Experts

International News Service.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bamberger and Mr. and Mrs. William Watkins have the right babies and will not trade, the decision of eminent scientists notwithstanding, the parents decided today after an all-night conference.

Going into a huddle with a group of physicians and a lawyer, the four distraught parents straightened out the celebrated baby mix-up to their own satisfaction and went home smiling, with the same babies they took home from the Englewood Hospital, where the infants were born at almost the same time, June 20.

REFUSED TO 'SWAP'

Only a few hours earlier a jury of scientists, with Dr. Arnold Kegel, health commissioner, in the role of a modern Solomon, decided the Bambergers had the Watkins baby and vice versa. Parent Watkins was ready to accept the decision and make a trade, but Papa Bamberger refused outright. Inspector Ferdinand Watzek, the Viennese sleuth, cast the one dissenting vote, holding they were the right children. Bamberger declared, when asked to make the transfer:

"Only over my dead body!"

Then he promptly disappeared with the infant known as George William Bamberger, but who emerged from the hospital with a "Watkins" adhesive tag on his small back.

MIXUP IN BATH

And as for the confusion in the babies' tags that caused the mixup, the physicians declared the adhesive markers probably were washed off the infants' backs just before they left the hospital and they became mixed.

The names on their dresses, which marked the Bamberger child as himself and the infant Watkins as himself did not get mixed and they were right, the conferees decided.

CLEVELAND, July 25.—Declaring he "hated to see innocent men suffer longer," Adam Krumesc, 36, who claims to have been an eyewitness to the 1916 preparadness day bomb outrage in San Francisco, today arose in defense of Thomas Mooney and Warren K. Billings, who are now serving life imprisonments for the bombing.

Breaking a silence of 14 years, Krumesc, who is now a caretaker at the estate of Edmund S. Burke, Cleveland millionaire, today told his story of the bombing as he says he saw it while sitting across the street from where the disaster occurred.

Krumesc stated to International News Service that he believes the suitcase which contained the bomb, was placed on the street corner by three men who appeared to be Mexicans.

TOLL IN ITALY GROWING WITH GALE, QUAKE

King Arrives in Stricken Regions, Mussolini Calls Cabinet to Push Relief

ROME, July 25.—(AP.)—A new earthquake at Ariano, in the midst of an already ruined area, and a hurricane that spread terror and death through northern Italy today added to an already tremendous relief problem in this stricken country.

Yesterday's quake, more violent than many of the slight temblors of the last 24 hours, cost the life of one person. Its worst effect was a renewal of the state of panic which had subsided to some extent. Southern Italy escaped entirely the hurricane, which was local to the Piave River Valley section and killed 22 persons.

DEATH TOLL 2,930

Gen. Baistrocchi, commandant of the Neapolitan zone, today said the total dead in the province of Avellino was 2,573. His figures added 375 deaths to the total of other provinces, bringing a grand total in the earthquake of 2,930 killed.

The revised figures contrasted sharply with the government's total of 1,526 for Avellino.

The township hardest hit, according to Baistrocchi's figures seems to be Lacedonia, with 600 dead. Villanova stood second with between 400 and 600 dead.

King Victor Emmanuel arrived at Rochetta early this afternoon to inspect the work of relief and personally comfort his subjects who were victims of Wednesday's disastrous earthquake. The King will also visit hospitals in Naples and temporary shelters in which more than 4,000 are being treated.

His majesty reached this stricken center of the earthquake zone by train on the route over which supplies and medical aid had been pouring into the zone for many hours.

The King was greeted by his cousin-in-law, the Duchess of Aosta, her daughter-in-law, the Duchess of Apulia, Prince Bon-

MAX SCHMELING IN BOAT MISHAP

BERLIN, July 25.—(INS.)—Max Schmeling, world heavyweight boxing champion, narrowly escaped injury or possibly drowning today when his motor boat was swamped in Scharmeutzeel Lake, near Berlin.

Schmeling, thrown into the water, was picked up by another motor boat, whose occupants had witnessed the accident.

Banker Accused in $1,000,000 Love Suit

NEW YORK, July 25.—(INS.)—Harris H. Boyce, head of an investment security company, has been sued for $1,000,000 on charges of alienating the affections of Mrs. Jacqueline Athana by her husband, John J. Athana, it was revealed today.

Mrs. Athana, the former ward of Boyce, denied she was anything more to him than a friend. Athana charged she took a trip on Boyce's yacht and that Boyce induced her to consent to divorce the plaintiff.

Builds 'Baby' Blimp For Ocean Flight

AUGSBURG, Germany, July 25.—(AP.)—A "baby" blimp is being built here with which Otto Brinkmann, of New York, plans to attempt a westward flight of the Atlantic Ocean.

Brinkmann, who in 1927 abandoned an attempt to fly from New York to Paris and sold his Sikorsky airplane to Mrs. Frances Grayson, who perished in a later attempt, today was homeward bound.

FIND CLOTHING, DRAG RIVER

Dragging River made.

The Allegheny River was being dragged today for the body of Charles Stoltz, 35, of 371 Main street, Lawrenceville. His brother, Edward Stoltz, helped river police in the dragging while his mother, Mrs. John Stoltz looked on from the Washington Crossing Bridge.

All of Stoltz's clothes were found on the bridge last midnight by Frank A. Gerster, of South Fairmont avenue. Stoltz's mother believes he was murdered. Police doubt it. They say he tried to swim across the river, on previous occasions when wagers had been

TILDEN VICTOR, LOTT BEATEN IN CUP PLAY

'Big Bill' Defeats Borotra, But Young Chicago Star Is No Match for Cochet

By FREDERIC K. ABBOTT.
International News Service.

ROLAND GARROS STADIUM, AUTEUIL, France, July 25.—The United States and France broke even today in the first day's play of the 1930 Davis Cup challenge round, each winning one singles match.

William T. Tilden II, defeated Jean Borotra, 2-6, 7-5, 6-4, 7-5, but George M. Lott, youthful contender from Chicago, lost in straight sets to the far superior play of Henry Cochet, ace of the French squad, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2.

Tilden's victory gave the United States one of the three points necessary to regain the coveted tennis trophy which France won in 1927 and has held tenaciously ever since.

By a marvelous combination of strategy and strength, Big Bill fulfilled all the brilliant promise made when he "came back" at Wimbledon earlier in the year to recapture the British championship he lost in 1921 and struggled nine long, hard years to regain.

VICTORY DECISIVE

Tilden won because he was the master. Borotra lost because he tried to buck that master with the racing, running, tearing net game which has always characterized his play. The American, calm and cool and complete master of the situation, stood behind his baseline and let Borotra run himself ragged. Then he pulled out all his sizzling strength and magnificent placements to race through to complete and convincing victory.

After a nervous start, Tilden swept through to his eighth major

CARNAHAN, ILL, QUITS BENCH

Judge Thomas D. Carnahan's resignation from the Common Pleas Court bench of Allegheny County, was announced today by Gov. Fisher from Harrisburg.

The jurist asked to be relieved because of poor health. He has not been active for 10 months.

Judge Carnahan will be retired on full pay—$14,000 annually—for the rest of his term, which expires in 1938.

For 23 years Judge Carnahan has been on the bench. In 1907 he was appointed a judge, and since has been elected three times.

His retirement leaves two vacancies in the judiciary here, the other being a seat on the county bench left by the promotion of Judge Sylvester J. Snee.

The passing of Judge Carnahan marks the fourth change on the Allegheny bench this year. President Judge John A. Evans retired, and Judges Richard W. Martin and Josiah Cohen died.

Their successors were Samuel H. Gardner, Judge Snee and Joseph Stadtfeld.

FAZIO HEDGES ON GRAFT

Philip Fazio, Clairton wildcat brewer, questioned by District Attorney Andrew T. Park on charges that he had paid $350,000 graft for protection and involving political leaders, today denied the statements, though he named one man to whom he said he paid $3 a barrel.

Park's inquiry was caused by a signed statement published after Fazio's acquittal in the barrel-murder mystery of William McGregory, beer runner. Fred Kury, newspaper reporter, presented signed pages bearing the confession. Fazio testified he was unable to read or write and did not know what had been written.

Fazio admitted he had paid $3 a barrel at various times and named a John O'Donnell as the man to whom he gave the pro-

Heat Wave to Stay, Brotzman Declares

Little relief from the high temperature was in store for Pittsburgh today, Weather Forecaster W. S. Brotzman said this morning. The temperature will be about the same as yesterday, when the highest was 87 degrees and the lowest 67, he said. No rain is in sight.

A disturbance centering north of the Great Lakes and moving eastward late yesterday was the only apparent hope of cooler weather here.

LANG ORDERS 'NUMBERS' WRITING ENDED

Gang Forces Slot Machines On South Side Merchants Magistrate Is Informed

Public Works Director Edward G. Lang, of the Public Works Department, today ordered a special investigation of numbers writing activities among the 3,500 employes of his department, while alleged headquarters of the pool were being raided and racketeers were revealed as forcing slot machines on storekeepers with assurance of protection.

Today's developments in the war on racketeers:

1—Public Works Director Lang, in a letter to all bureau heads demanded names of those selling clearing house numbers, stating that all employes guilty of the practice will be summarily dismissed.

2—Renewed activity of the slot machine ring in placing devices in stores with promise of protection, bared by South Side merchants.

3—Police under orders of Inspector J. J. McArdle begin cleaning-up raids on South Side.

4—County detectives continue drive on clearing house lottery activities.

Lang's order is said to have been inspired by reports that employes of his department were writing numbers. His order follows:

"You will please make a special investigation in your bureau as to any employes who are selling numbers in the clearing house pool and report to me the names of such.

"If there are any employes in your bureau, or you have knowledge of any in any other bureau of the department, you will advise me at once, when the employe guilty of such practice will be immediately dismissed."

MERCHANTS' CHARGED

Proprietors of two confectionery stores, a restaurant and the Eighteenth Ward Social Club told substantially the same story—of machines being left at their places, without request—when arraigned following raids by police last night.

Coolidge Kin Wins Architecture Prize

NEW YORK, July 25.—(INS.)—A distant cousin of former President Coolidge today won this year's Prix de Rome award in landscape architecture. He is Richard Coolidge Murdock, 25, graduated from Cornell and now a resident of Ossining, N. Y. He was born in Woburn, Mass., and is descended from the Coolidges of Coolidge Hill, near Boston.

The award has a cash value of $8,000 and provides study abroad.

BERLIN, July 25.—(AP.)—President von Hindenburg today signed the first decree under the dictatorial power conferred by article 48 of the constitution since the dissolution of the Reichstag. The decree prohibits participants in political gatherings from carrying weapons of any kind under penalty of three months' imprisonment and more.

Coolidge Not Alarmed Over Soviet Traders

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., July 25.

To the Editor of the Sun-Telegraph:

Investigation of the Amtorg, which is a Russian trading company, may raise some important questions. Our government has no diplomatic relations with Russia. But it is perfectly lawful for our nationals, at their own risk, to trade with Russia, or for her nationals to trade here.

CALVIN COOLIDGE

Our law excludes from this country persons of certain beliefs and practices which we think are inimical to our government and institutions. But it is not the practice to inquire very minutely into the beliefs of foreigners coming here temporarily for genuine mercantile purposes. Besides, we have held the opinion that trade and time would be the means of restoring Russia.

It had been supposed that the agents of the Amtorg were not engaged in anything but trade. If an investigation shows that they are taking advantage of the hospitality we have granted them as merchants to participate in activities against our peace and order, our government will take proper notice of that fact. Meantime it is proper to await proof before reaching final judgment. Our people are so thoroughly attached to their own system of self government that we need not feel it is in imminent danger.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

'Baby' Golf Links Battle For Free Sunday Play

Miniature golf will be played free in Squirrel Hill on Sundays if Judge Samuel Gardner grants an injunction restraining city police from interfering with the play. The writ was sought by the Community Midget Golf Company against Director of Public Safety James M. Clark and Superintendent of Police Peter P. Walsh in Common Pleas Court today.

According to Attorney Leonard Mazer, acting for the company, the police have indicated their intention of closing the course on Sundays, by authority of the Blue Laws of 1794. Mazer says unless they are restrained many arrests, suits and fines will be incurred by the company.

The action follows arrest last Sunday of Emmanuel Reese, vice president of the firm.

Gardner did not grant the usual preliminary injunction. He indicated he would take action later in the day, saying it was a question with him whether appeal of the fines to a higher court would not be necessary to decide the spirit of the law.

Operators of miniature golf courses in Oakland and East End were running today on new schedules, provided by the police. The order is said to apply to all such courses.

By order of Police Supt. Walsh the courses are closing at 11:30 p. m. hereafter.

It is understood that Walsh felt whatever noises came from the players would disturb the sleep of nearby residents.

PINCHOT MAKES 'STOP THIEF' CAMPAIGN BATTLE CRY

OPENS DRIVE IN DISPUTED LUZERNE

Ex-Governor Starts Election Stumping—Malone, Other Leaders Attend Rally

WILKES-BARRE, July 25.—Gifford Pinchot sounded the battlecry of his campaign for election as governor at a dinner here last night, under auspices of the Luzerne County Republican Committee.

Other speakers included James F. Malone, former president of Pittsburgh Council, and Judge John S. Fine, of Luzerne County Common Pleas Court. Pinchot's opening blast was:

Other speakers included James F. Malone former president of Pittsburgh Council, and Judge John S. Fine of Luzerne County Common Pleas Court. Pinchot's opening blast was:

"It is fitting that this, my first political address since the primary, should be made in Luzerne County, for Luzerne County is the battleground and out of Luzerne County comes the battle cry of this campaign. That battle cry is 'Stop Thief.'"

HINGES ON LUZERNE VOTE

Pinchot's nomination as Republican candidate by a 20,000 plurality over Francis Shunk Brown hinges on the vote of Luzerne County.

Brown will ask the State Supreme Court, August 19, to throw out the vote of Luzerne County because ballots, except those used in voting machines, were perforated to prevent fraud. Commenting on that pending action, Pinchot declared:

"Those who have wondered at the lack of sportsmanship of Francis Shunk Brown and his associates should remember that there is behind it far more than a refusal to abide by the natural result of the primary.

"The moving force is neither the natural desire of gangsters to win by unfair means, nor even the hope of controlling the government at Harrisburg from Philadelphia, powerful as that motive may well be.

"The real reason behind the effort to steal the election of a governor is the determination of certain public utilities in Pennsylvania to put their own man in office and through him control the state government as they have long controlled the Public Service Commission.

ATTERBURY AT HEAD

"At the head of this conspiracy is W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and member of the Republican National Committee, whose present excursion into politics is doing him no good and the stockholders of the Pennsylvania Railroad much harm.

"The Atterbury-Brown conspirators cannot win. One reason is that their case is bad. The perforations are fair and honest and the only effect they had was to check fraud.

"Another reason, simple but efficient, is the unquestioned fact that the press and the people of Pennsylvania are almost unanimous against their attempt to steal the governorship. No matter what the Supreme Court may say, the Atterbury-Brown conspiracy will lose to the people.

"There is not now nor never has been any contention that a single vote was changed either for or against any candidate by reason of the perforations. There is not now and never has been any contention that the secrecy of the ballot was violated by the perforations.

"In a word, there is and there has been no contention that the recent election in Luzerne County failed in any respect to express the honest will of the voters of the county.

"The issue in this case is greater than any hair-splitting legal distinctions. It is this: 'Does the will of the people control, or is some other will superior to it?'" tection money. He said the total graft paid would not exceed $5,000. He described O'Donnell as being about 35 years old. The money was paid for police protection and not to federal agents, Fazio stated, during various times he operated wildcat breweries at Clairton, Carrick, Mt. Oliver and Bloomfield.

Kury denied Fazio's charge that the "facts had been exaggerated to make a big story" or that he had suggested setting the graft figure at $10 a barrel. Fazio said one of his defense attorneys, Frank Zappala, had taken him to the newspaper office, but had not remained with him.

BOUGHT EQUIPMENT

He told Park that after serving a nine-months' sentence in the workhouse following a federal raid, O'Donnell had sold him $21,000 worth of brewery equipment. He borrowed the money from an uncle.

Following the questioning, Park declared he doubted Fazio's story and did not believe him to be telling the entire truth. He discounted charges that Kury exaggerated facts, stating that the reporter would not have been in a position to have outlined such details. Park said he believed O'Donnell was a fictitious name. Detectives were unable to locate such a person, but would continue their search, Park said.

CITY MAKES HIT WITH BOY STAR

Pittsburgh means more today to little Davey Lee, popular screen star of "Sonny Boy" fame, than does all Hollywood.

Davey will tell you so himself, and it is all because he prefers stage appearances to the movie studios. If you ask him why, Davey sweetly smiles:

"There isn't any reason."

But his mother, Mrs. Ella May Lee, who arrived here today with Davey and his brother, Frank, who is remembered as the youngster in "Miracle Man," will tell you Pittsburgh was all he has talked about for the last week and a half. It is the first city on the personal appearance tour Davey is starting. Mrs. Lee says the child star would much rather be on the stage.

Davey is just as much for play as any youngster of five years. Nothing pleases him more than teasing Brother Frank. He has just completed a picture with Jack Holt and indications are he'll portray "Skippy" on the screen for the next production. Frank has deserted the films for schooling.

DENY DROPPING STEEL MERGER

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP.)—Rumors that the directorate of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation had voted to abandon its plans for the merger with the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company were branded as ridiculous today at the offices of the steel company.

Reports in the financial district here and others from Youngstown were to the effect the Bethlehem directors had taken such action at a meeting in New York yesterday.

Eugene G. Grace, president of Bethlehem, said:

"The rumors are perfectly silly."

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 25.—(AP.)—For consideration received, N. A. Kaercher, of Youngstown, delievered his proxy for 1,400 shares of stock voted to ratify the merger of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company with the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, he testified today in Common Pleas Court, where the merger is being contested by the Cyrus S. The consideration, Kaercher said, was received through the sale of 1,000 other shares at $152.50. W. J. Morris, vice president of Sheet and Tube, bought the stock, he added.

PARIS, July 25.—(AP.)—Dieudonne Coste, noted French airman who is planning a flight to the United States, must wait at least two days more for weather good enough for the trans-Atlantic hop.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Terry Druggan, former beer baron, refuted by telephone the identification of a body found at Brookhaven, Miss., as his, informing a newspaper reporter today that he remains alive and well. His attorney had said early in the day that he was positive the identification of the body as Druggan's was erroneous, and police here had expressed similar conviction.

HUSTON READY TO QUIT AS G.O.P. CHIEF

Parley With Hoover Leads To Retirement August 7; Burke Acts as Mediator

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP.)—The stormy service of Claudius Huston as chairman of the Republican National Committee is at an end.

Mr. Huston brought a sudden close to the controversy over his leadership late last night when he told President Hoover that he would call the executive committee of the national committee together on August 7 and submit his resignation. The President approved.

Senator Pess, of Ohio, is the choice of the Republican high command to succeed Huston, and his election is confidently predicted.

PRESIDENT APPROVES

Robert Lucas, of Kentucky, who became commissioner of internal revenue a few months ago, is slated to take over active campaign work for the approaching congressional elections as executive assistant to Pess.

The new organization has the approval of President Hoover, and it is his intention that it should get to work early next month.

Huston's announcement of retirement came suddenly last night after a hectic round of conferences.

CONFERS WITH BURKE

Coming to the capital late in the evening, Huston went into conference with James Francis Burke, of Pittsburgh, Pa., counsel of the National Committee. The White House visit was arranged immediately.

Burke announced Huston's decision after the White House conference.

The agitation against Huston became active shortly after he testified to the Senate Lobby Committee that he had collected funds for the Tennessee River Improvement Association for use in promoting Muscle Shoals legislation, and had used these funds in his brokerage account before turning them over to the association, of which he was president.

SHIELDS FREED, BUT PAYS FINE

Daniel J. Shields, Johnstown business man and political leader, who recently was released from jail at Lorton, Va., paid a $1,000 liquor fine today in Federal Court today, according to the terms of executive clemency granted him by President Hoover.

After a battle carried to the Supreme Court in 1926, 1927 and 1928, Shields was sentenced to one year in jail and $1,000 fine. In the meantime he was convicted in the District of Columbia on charges of bribery and given a jail sentence. In granting the clemency, President Hoover freed Shields from serving the jail sentence, but required payment of the fine.

Howard Heinz Camps With Hoover Party

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Howard Heinz, of Pittsburgh, was included among the 16 guests accompanying President Hoover today to the Rapidan fishing camp. The party will not return to the capital until Monday morning.

Chicago Mayor's Kin Ends Life With Gas

CHICAGO, July 25.—(AP.)—William Burkhardt, former state and city official and brother-in-law of Mayor William Hale (Big Bill) Thompson, was found dead in his apartment today, his head in the oven of a gas stove whose jets were wide open.

LYSTER BREAKS PRISON RULE

Walter J. Lyster, former coal and iron policeman, serving sentence in the Allegheny County Workhouse with Harold P. Watts for involuntary manslaughter in the death of John Borkowski, Tyre miner, today was reported confined to his cell for a prison violation.

Supt. Robert Braun declined to admit Lyster was being disciplined, but admitted the prisoner had been placed in a cell. Braun stated he had just returned from a trip and was not acquainted with the situation. Lyster and Watts are serving sentences of one year and 10 months, respectively.

WIFE AWARDED $200 A MONTH

An award of $200 a month to Mrs. Bessie Katherine Hadley Roberts, of Los Angeles, Cal., and her three children, was made by Judge F. P. Patterson today in her suit for support against David Lewis Roberts.

Roberts is a beneficiary to the extent of approximately $140,000 from the estate of the late David P. Reighard, Standard Oil magnate, through the death of Robert's aunt, Mrs. Isabella Roberts Reighard.

The couple were married in Jamestown, N. Y., in 1911. In 1923, in Los Angeles, a divorce was refused. Before the death of Mrs. Reighard, it is said, Roberts resided at her Highland avenue residence, and is now said to be residing in a Penn avenue rooming house.

Divorced Ship Head Remarries in West

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP.)—J. Lewis Luckenbach, former vice president of the Luckenbach Steamship Company, announced today that he and Miss Dell Louise Stowe, of Southbury, Conn., were married in Arizona, June 26.

Luckenbach was granted a divorce in Miami, Fla., April 23, from Mrs. Lillian Luckenbach, daughter of G. Hilmer Lynbeck, director general of the Swedish-American Steamship Company.

Gov. Fisher to Urge State Hall of Fame

HARRISBURG, July 25.—(AP.)—A "Hall of Fame" of distinguished Pennsylvanians for the state capitol may be recommended by Gov. Fisher to his successor at the end of the present administration.

Erection of a large bronze statue of Boies Penrose, one-time Senator and political leader of Pennsylvania, in the Capitol Park late yesterday occasioned the Governor's remarks today.

East Deer Bonds for $100,000 Approved

HARRISBURG, July 25.—(AP.)—Several municipal bond issues were approved today by the Department of Internal Affairs.

East Deer Township, Allegheny County, was authorized to float a $100,000 loan for improvement of streets and sewers. Fallowfield Township, Washington County, $30,000 for street improvements, and funding present indebtedness; Amwell Township, Washington County, $20,000, road building.

CYCLONE, NEW QUAKE IN ITALY

compagni Ludovisi, governor of Rome, and a group of other government and Red Cross officials.

The King went by automobile to Melfi, from whence he was to proceed through other townships.

Touched to the heart by the realization of inestimable numbers of homeless, ever-growing death lists and hospitals filled with injured, the Italian people today disregarded the edict of Premier Mussolini against public and private subscriptions for the victims and united in spontaneous offerings which steadily flowed into the Premier's office.

MILLION FOR RELIEF

Italy's relief subscriptions at noon had mounted to a million lire. Banks and other institutions and private individuals continued to place funds at the government's disposal, particularly in the aid of the hundreds of orphaned children in the southern earthquake zone.

Rescuers by thousands in the earthquake area today continued their task of taking the dead from the ruins and seeking out the thousands of missing who, crazed with fear and grief, have left their home neighborhoods and wandered away.

Premier Mussolini today called a council of ministers for next Tuesday morning at Viminale Palace, where he had remained, almost without sleep, since Wednesday. The council meetings will occur on his birthday and on the thirtieth anniversary of King Victor's accession to the throne of Italy.

Alexander Kirk, of Chicago, charge d'affaires of the United States embassy, today personally presented the formal condolence of the American government to the Italian foreign office. Similar calls of sympathy were made by the diplomatic representatives of Cuba, Ecuador, Peru, and Venezuela.

Charleroi Travelers Escape Earthquake

CHARLEROI, Pa., July 25.—Word was received here today that Mrs. Frank Riva, wife of a banker and real estate operator, and their two daughters, are safe in Italy.

Because the daughters, Ena and Caroline, persuaded their mother to remain at St. Moritz three days longer than intended, they missed the quake.

Naval Treaty Read In House of Lords

LONDON, July 25.—(AP.)—The naval treaty bill which passed the House of Commons yesterday on third and final reading, was formally read for the first time in the House of Lords this afternoon.

FIND BLAST SUSPECT DYING

Langham, Father of Victims, Cuts Own Throat When Trapped Hiding in Barn

By AL GOUGH,
Staff Correspondent.

SPANGLER, Pa., July 25. Perry Langham, murder suspect in the dynamiting of his wife and four children, was near death today from a wound, said by police to be self-inflicted. Two of the children died in the blast which tore their Emeigh Run bungalow home to shreds and seriously injured the mother, Mrs. La Mura Langham.

Facing capture last night in a barn between Arcadia and Hillsdale, Indiana County, by state police and Cambria County detectives, he is alleged to have slashed his throat with a penknife. He was found hiding under a pile of hay in a corner of the loft, the knife clutched in one hand and two notes, one a will and the other a tribute to his wife in the other. The tribute read:

"La Mura, a memory for you to mind.

"The memory of your laughing eyes just keeps the sun a-shining

"To every cloud that's across the skies you are the silver lining."

LEAVES CRUDE WILL

The poem was a tribute to his wife, whose death, police say, he sought when he is believed to have set off the charge of dynamite which killed his two children Tuesday night. On another crumpled sheet of paper, pencilled laboriously, was the will addressed to Albert and Rairigh, of Cherry Tree. The note reads:

"You give me a good berrial." "Make it right, then give the rest to Dady and mother. My insurance is $515."

FEARED NEAR DEATH

Lying on a cot in the hospital, in a ward adjoining that in which the wife is confined, Langham, a pitiful figure, torn and bruised from his flight across the mountains from Emeigh Run, tried to talk. Failing in this, he made several attempts to write messages to the guard at his bedside, but each time he sank back exhausted.

PASTOR DEFIES 'RIDE' THREAT

CORRY, Pa., July 25.—"There's more coming."

This is the manner the Rev. Frank A. Wimer, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church here, answered leaders of the underworld who have threatened to "take him for a ride" unless he stops his campaign for law enforcement and leaves the community.

An anonymous letter was received by the clergyman Tuesday morning at his home. The writer ordered him to leave the community within 10 days or be taken for "a ride to Tidioute." The writer also declared the church property would be destroyed.

Mr. Wimer is one of the small group of citizens blamed for bringing prohibition agents and state police into the town last week for a series of spectacular raids. Harold D. (Three Gun) Wilson, deputy prohibition administrator from Pittsburgh, led the raiding squad. Twenty establishments were searched and about 30 prisoners arrested. All were held for court.

Leaps from Car, Rescues Child

COLUMBUS, Ga., July 25.—(AP.)—B. H. Base is a street car motorman with presence of mind and fleetness of foot. His car came upon baby Ellen Rowe, playing on the tracks. The brakes made the car skid on slippery rails. Base jumped, ran ahead of the car and saved Baby Ellen.

Quiz Drowning Of 3 Fishermen

RHINELANDER, Wis., July 25.—(INS.)—An inquest was ordered today over the bodies of three fishermen who drowned in Seven Mile Lake when their boat upset late yesterday.

The dead are George Olson, William McEachin and Frank Saline.

Princess, 73, Fights to Wed Mrs. Corey's Ex-Suitor

PARIS, July 25.—(AP.)—The 73-year-old Princess Amadee de Broglie today resisted in court a family suit to prevent her from marrying Don Luis de Bourbon, cousin of King Alfonso and 42-year-old son of the Infanta Eulalia of Spain.

A statement by the princess' attorney created a sensation. It said:

"I realize that many persons think my marriage with this much younger man ridiculous, but I want to spend a few happy years before I die."

Don Louis once reported betrothed to Mrs. Mabelle Gilman Corey, of Pittsburgh, was believed to be at his San Remo villa as the case came to trial. He has been prohibited from entering France.

The Duke de Brissac, nephew of the princess, represents the De Broglie family.

Henri Torres, the princess' lawyer, presented a great many documents containing written testimony of eminent persons intended to convince the court that the princess was "far younger than her years. Thoroughly sane, healthy and freef rom a record of "folly" that characterized the actions of some of her children."

Torres sought to refute charges of the family that the princess had beend issipating a fortune estimated at $2,000,000.

Burglar Frightened From Couzens Bride's Home

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(INS.)—An attempt to burglarize the apartment of William J. Chewning, Jr., son-in-law of Senator Couzens (Rep.), of Michigan, by "jimmying" the front door, was frustrated by the appearance of the janitor, who frightened the man away.

The intruder carried a heavy screw driver. The door had resisted several attempts to pry it open.

The Chewnings, whose elopement to Baltimore a few months ago, surprised capital society, are in one of the city's fashionable apartment houses in Massachusetts avenue.

When they were first married they had rented a "honeymoon" apartment, less pretentious, where the former Margot Couzens was to do her own housework.

When Senator Couzens became reconciled to the marriage, the newlyweds changed their plans without ever occupying their first selection.

Chewning was a bank clerk. Since his marriage he has joined a brokerage house.

Shaw Discards Birthdays, Rides Motorcycle at 74

LONDON, July 25.—(INS.)—George Bernard Shaw, novelist and playwright, celebrates his seventy-fourth birthday tomorrow, but isn't particularly interested in it, he revealed today. The famous wit told International News Service:

"The more my birthdays are forgotten the better I am pleased. By deed of poll I have discarded birthdays forever."

Shaw reaches his seventy-fourth milestone with two typical shavian controversies raging about his head. One is whether he should be elevated to the peerage, as he has indicated facetiously a dukedom might interest him, and the other centers about the pleasures of riding the tandem seat aboard a motorcycle.

It was revealed just a few days ago that Shaw is an enthusiastic motorcyclist, but some of his critics have alleged most of his riding is done on the rear seat.

"WELL, I'LL TELL YOU . . . I'LL TAKE TWO MORE!"

Then cards, 'cause when you play cards time passes quickly in that quiet and cool treetop tent, 'lectric-lighted and everything.

"NO, NO, NO TURN IT 'WAY OVER THAT WAY!

Music, with its restful rhythm helps to while away the long afternoons. Afternoons in treetops are much, much longer.

"LET'S WIND IT AND GO BACK TO BED AGAIN . . . OH, HUM"

And so to bed for these Homestead moderns, like countless others in a treetop in search of fame. Thus their day passes.

VOUGHT, PLANE BUILDER, DIES

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP.)—Chance Vought, 42, aircraft manufacturer and designer, died of septemia today in the Southampton (L. I.) Hospital after a long illness.

Vought left the University of Pennsylvania in 1909 to become consulting engineer to Harold F. McCormick, of Chicago, later the first in the United States to employ an airplane for commuting.

Vought became identified with the Wrights in 1910 and attracted prominence by his daring flights. In 1914, he became editor of one of the earliest journals of aviation—Aero and Hydro.

During the World War he was consulting engineer for the Bureau of Aircraft Production. Vought scout seaplanes and observation planes now are standard equipment on the big naval aircraft carriers.

He is survived by the widow, the former Ena Lewis, of Pittsburgh, and their sons, Chance, Jr., and Peter, who were at the bedside.

ANDREWS FINDS HUGE FOSSILS

PEIPING, China, July 25.—(AP)—On the shores of a dried-up inland sea, near the outer Mongolian border, Roy Chapman Andrews, noted American explorer, has discovered what he believes one of the most amazing fossil deposits ever revealed to human eyes.

In a deathtrap, formed by a bog of sticky, almost bottomless mud, the expedition has found the remains of 25 to 30 great shovel-toothed mastodons with 6-foot jaws, one of which had previously been found near the same locality in 1928. Mr. Andrews, who returned here last night on a brief trip, said the animals must have roamed Mongolia three million years ago.

The expedition will work carefully along the shore line of the lake in the hope of finding some place where primitive man, even older than the Peiping man, may have been trapped.

CITY'S FIREMEN AID PENN TWP.

Pittsburgh firemen yesterday aided firemen of Penn Township in combatting a fire which destroyed two residences in the Pride road district with a loss of $7,000. Much of the furniture of both houses was saved.

The fire originated in the home of Mrs. Irene Volquarts at 68 Pride road. Mrs. Volquarts was led to safety by neighbors, who called city firemen. Two city companies responded, traveling two miles. The house, a double frame dwelling, was destroyed. The other section of the residence was occupied by Howard Gibson.

Mrs. Clara Weale, of 8606 Westwood road, a leader for annexation, criticized the volunteers. She declared she would revive the campaign at a meeting in her home Tuesday night.

Mrs. Weale says city firemen have on three occasions this month halted fires in the district that probably would have caused serious damage. Yesterday the homes of Frank Moesta, at 67 Pride road, and W. M. Whiteford, 69 Pride road, were saved by firemen, who held the loss to a low figure.

Lomax to Manage Plant at Wheeling

CHICAGO, July 25.—(AP.)—Continental Roll and Steel Foundry Company officials announced the appointment of H. A. Lomax as general manager of the Wheeling Mold and Foundry division of the company at Wheeling, W. Va.

Lomax was for many years with the Duquesne Steel Foundry Company at Pittsburgh.

BRITISH PEERS TAKE UP PACT

LONDON, July 25.—(INS.)—The House of Lords, following passage of the London naval treaty bill by the House of Commons last night, today gave the first reading to the bill.

It is generally believed the House of Lords will give its consent to the pact after brief consideration.

SYDNEY, Australia, July 25.—(AP.)—Sir Henry Chauvel, chief of general staff for the Australian forces, in his annual report today said recent events had tended to reduce British seapower below the minimum of safety.

While drawing attention to Australia's dangerous position in war time, Sir Henry suggested that her contribution to imperial naval defense be revised in accordance with what she can afford.

Two Concerns Add To Working Forces

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP.)—The R. C. A. Victor Company has increased its force in Camden, N. J., by 7,000 employes.

The American Chicle Company announces a night force has been placed on the payroll to keep one of its largest factories in Queensborough working night and day.

Saved by Parachute As Plane Goes Wild

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 25.—(AP.)—Lieut. Thomas G. Fisher made a parachute jump from a 2,000-foot altitude yesterday when his plane went out of control. He fell into the bay and was rescued in a small motorboat.

3 BURNED IN GAS FUMES BLAST

Mrs. Peter Beck, of near Clinton; her daughter, Helen, 5, and son, Harold, 12, were burned yesterday in an explosion caused by a visiting salesman carrying a lighted cigaret into a room in her home which was filled with gasoline fumes.

The four-room dwelling was badly damaged, its walls being bulged out. Mrs. Beck operates a gasoline filling station in connection with her store.

She was cleaning the room when the accident happened. George Beck, 18, took his mother, brother and sister to Hookstown, where a physician dressed their injuries.

Neighbors extinguished the fire.

RELATIVES LET WOMAN STARVE

CHICAGO, July 25.—(AP.)—Police last night walked in upon a strange scene in the cottage where Miss Dina Schreiner lived.

Miss Schreiner, 55, speechless and deaf from lack of nourishment, lay on a bed, shrunken by starvation from a normal weight of 100 pounds to 38. Watching her were her brother-in-law, Jacob Pfeiffer, 78 years old, and her nephew, Joseph Shea, 37.

The woman was moved to a hospital, where she died.

Police displayed interest in reports that $2,000 Miss Schreiner was presumed to have had in a savings account had been spent while she lay starving. They said, too, they had information that she carried a small insurance policy.

LAST TRIBUTES PAID CURTISS

HAMMONDSPORT, N. Y., July 25.—(INS.)—Glenn H. Curtiss, one of America's renowned aviation pioneers, who died suddenly Wednesday, was to be buried late this afternoon with quiet simplicity.

He will be laid to rest in Pleasant Valley Cemetery, a stone's throw from where, years ago, during the horse-drawn era, he made spectacular flights in the strange-looking contraptions of his own creation that were the forerunners of today's airplanes.

Friends and neighbors in Hammondsport, his birthplace, paid their final respects today.

They came solemnly to the Curtis residence, on a hill at the edge of the town, in endless groups of twos and threes. Everyone in Hammondsport, which has become known as "the cradle of aviation" because of Curtiss' early experimental and developmental work, knew him intimately. He was "G. H." to them, a friend and a good neighbor as well as a great man.

From miles around and from distant states, notables are arriving for the funeral.

Soviet Stage Troupe Coming to America

NEW YORK, July 25.—(INS.)—Vsevolod E. Meyerhold, leading theatrical conductor of Soviet Russia, and his company from the Moscow State Theater will visit New York in the coming theatrical season, it was announced today. The exact date of the visit and the plays to be produced were not made known.

Children Killed For Soap Tale Jails Woman

MOSCOW, July 25.—(INS.)—The Soviet government today imposed a two-year term of imprisonment upon Maria Reychinskaya, a member of the Russian aristocracy, after finding her guilty of spreading malicious rumors.

The government charged her with spreading false rumors to the effect that the Soviet fat and oil trust was encouraging the kidnaping of children, killing them and using their corpses in the manufacture of soap.

CALL EX-CHIEF IN LINGLE QUIZ

CHICAGO, July 25.—(INS.)—Police Capt. William Russell went before the grand jury today to tell what he knows of the murder of his close friend, Alfred J. Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, which ended Russell's rule as police commissioner.

Capt. John Stege, who was demoted from chief of detectives when Russell went out, is to testify later in the day.

Corporation Counsel Samuel A. Ettelson, political sponsor of the two police officers, was called by the jury today, but had a previous engagement, so will testify Monday.

Germans in England For Flight to U. S.

CROYDON, Eng., July 25.—(AP.)—Wolf Hirth and Oscar Weller, German aviators who started from Berlin yesterday in a small monoplane on an attempted flight to the United States by way of the Orkneys, arrived here at noon from Calais.

SUSPECT HELD AS CLUBBER

DETROIT, July 25.—(INS.)—A man, who, according to police, answers to the description of the "clubber" who was sought in connection with the death of an unidentified woman found slain in a room in the Royale Hotel here late yesterday, is being held a prisoner in Receiving Hospital today. He told authorities that he was William Scott, 27, of Dayton, O.

He was arrested when he applied for treatment for a minor throat wound.

Attaches at the hotel declared, authorities stated, that they had seen a man, with his throat bandaged, leave the woman's room a short time before the killing was discovered.

The woman's head, Deputy Coroner George Berg said, had been crushed with a blunt instrument. Her clothes were strewn about the room, indicating that a struggle had occurred. The woman was about 32 years of age.

Released Prisoner Murdered in Detroit

DETROIT, July 25.—(AP.)—Jack Brown, 34, released recently from the Detroit House of Correction, where he served 60 days for assault and battery, was shot and killed early today while sitting in an automobile on Fourth avenue with a woman companion, Miss Evelyn Littlefield, 34.

Police said Brown was slain by a jealous suitor of Miss Littlefield. She refused to name the slayer.

FLOODS CAUSE HEAVY DAMAGE

WHITBY, Yorkshire, England, July 25.—(AP.)—Four days of incessant rain left this seaside city in the grip of a flood with hundreds homeless and destitute throughout the valley of the River Esk.

A veritable cloudburst furnished a climax of the storm, and temporarily put an end to relief work. The Esk flowed in a raging torrent. Small dwellings, scores of boats and a vast amount of debris were piled high in the streets by the tide, and great trees of the picturesque countryside lay uprooted in the fields.

KARACHI, India, July 25.—(AP.)—Property losses estimated at more than $1,000,000 were caused in this area by floods due to a rainfall of approximately six inches in 24 hours.

Huge stocks of grain, sugar and cotton have been wiped out by a tide which swirled through the streets and cut off telegraphic communication with the rest of India.

EGYPT ON VERGE OF REVOLUTION

LONDON, July 25.—(AP.)—The London correspondent of the Daily Express says Egypt is bordering on revolution and that the Wafdists (Nationalists) will hold a session of parliament outside the parliamentary building in Cairo tomorrow.

Heavy forces of troops have been concentrated in the capital and there is grave danger of a serious clash, he said.

Such sessions have been prohibited by King Fuad since Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha recently formed a new cabinet. Followers of Nahas Pasha, former premier, planned Monday to hold a forcible session inside the parliament building but called it off because of the government's show of force. Adherents of the Wafdist party led riots for the next two days in Cairo, Port Said and Suez.

The correspondent writes that all Egypt is tense, with reports frequent that the Wafdists are planning to force King Fuad's abdication and establish either a republic or a new dynasty.

Connecticut Town Gets Out of Debt

HADDAM, Conn.—(INS.)—A town without a debt is the town of Haddam, nestled beside the broad Connecticut River, and because of the generosity of a citizen, the town has a new hall of records, made out of what once was an historic schoolhouse—Brainerd Academy.

TREE-PERCHERS ON TENTH DAY

Pittsburgh's present tree-sitting champions, Robert Gravely, 9, and his brother, James, 14, up a cherry tree, and Lawrence Gravely, 11, and his cousin, Sam King, who prefer a locust, are on their tenth day among the leaves.

The night passed uneventfully, free from opposition in the form of missiles, which were hurled at them the night before. The teams were reported "sitting it out."

The Homestead team is still at its post. The boys, Paul Roper, 13; Edward Thomas, 10, and Ray Stopher, 13, are still firm in their intention to "stay 'till school starts." The boys are keeping cool 20 feet above Thirteenth avenue and West street.

Two Lincoln place teams are still contenders for the title. With only one and one-half days to their credit, they feel certain of remaining intact until the school bells ring.

Rumors were rife today that labor troubles may develop among refueling crews, due to the practice of the sitters demanding food at any and all hours.

FIGHT FIRE ON LUCKNER SHIP

NEW YORK, July 25.—Two Pittsburgh boys were among the 40 sons of wealthy parents who battled a fire at sea yesterday.

The party is aboard Count Felix von Luckner's sailing vessel, the Mopelia, in which a slight blaze occurred the day before she weighed anchor here three weeks ago. According to a message intercepted by the Radio Marine Corporation, yesterday's fire was extinguished with little damage done.

The Pittsburgh boys are Thomas R. Johnston, of 1081 Shady avenue, and James Lindsay, president of Pittsburgh chapter, Kappa Sigma fraternity, who was graduated from the University of Pittsburgh last June. Johnston's mother today said the last message she had from her son was a radiogram from Barbadoes last week.

Driver, 4 Nurses Hurt in Collision

ERIE, Pa., July 25.—Five persons were injured early today in a collision of automobiles near here. The injured are Harold Camp, Frances Burke, Marie Field, Florence Wasser and Albert Jones. The girls are student nurses at St. Vincent's Hospital. All were removed to that institution.

The machine, driven by Jones, sideswiped a car driven by Miss Margaret Cantlon, Erie, and overturned into a ditch. Miss Cantlon was unhurt.

CITY FIREMEN BEAT VOLUNTEERS

BLACK RUINS OF VOLQUART HOME, 68 PRIDE ROAD, ONE OF TWO DESTROYED BY FIRE

Penn township neighbors say that city firemen responding to a township fire for the third time in a month, beat Lincoln and Rosedale volunteers to this scene and stopped the threat of widespread flames. And so an annexation movement has been revived in that district.

Dates Mixed, 11 Swains Go Into Battle for Girl

HAMMOND, Ind., July 25.—(AP.)—The swains of pretty Charlotte Seidenstopp, 18, and red-headed, turned out to be a riot yesterday.

Either Charlotte got her dates mixed, or her 11 suitors did, for they all showed up to escort her home from work. The young woman, desiring to be absolutely fair and impartial, hit upon the idea of having the 11 young men fight it out for her favor.

She suggested something along the line of a battle royal, with swains fighting en masse, the survivor to see her home.

The swains went to work—Biff! Bing! Crash!

Police Capt. Charles Carlson was informed by the telephone that a grand riot was in progress.

Two squads of police rushed there. The swains were mixing it fast and furious. In a minute night sticks were tapping youthful heads.

Twelve persons were taken to jail—the twelfth being Miss Charlotte Seidenstopp.

Rain Spoils Fashion Show At Royal Garden Party

LONDON, July 25.—(AP.)—Raincoats and umbrellas constituted the fashion display at the royal garden party at Buckingham Palace—ordinarily exhibiting the summer's smartest chiffons and organdies.

A cold drizzle fell with the beginning of the festivities. The King and Queen and their guests, fortified with umbrellas, donned heavy coats over light attire and paraded about the 40-acre garden, undaunted by the weather. Only when the drizzle became a downpour did they seek refuge in the tea tent.

Queen Mary appeared in a coat of green and red gold lace over a gown of turquoise blue brocade. King George wore a gray bowler with a heavy black overcoat covering his conventional frock coat. A white carnation in his buttonhole was his only concession to party array. With their majesties were all the royal children and King Feisal of Irak.

Among the guests were the bishops attending the Lambeth conference, including the greater part of the American delegation and their wives.

PITTSBURGH'S WAR MOTHERS FETED IN N. Y.

Father Wallace Eulogizes Party Leaving for France To View Graves of Sons

By CHARLES A. EARLEY,
Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, July 25.—The title of Gold Star Mother is the proudest any American woman can claim, Pittsburgh and Allegheny County women making a tour to sons' and husbands' graves in France were told here today by the Rev. Edward A. Wallace at welcoming services in the Hotel Commodore by New York officers of the Eightieth Division.

Father Wallace former chaplain of the Three Hundred and Twentieth Infantry, Eightieth Division, told the group of half-sad half-happy mothers and widows:

"We officers share your joys and sorrows and claim your dead as our brothers.

"When you arrive at those sacred American cemeteries 'over there' each will feel the same emotions as your hero sons who laid down their lives that democracy might live."

The voyagers who sail tomorrow were likened to a group of crusaders carrying on the traditions of real American womanhood. Father Wallace continued:

"Your trip will be one of sorrow of that there is no doubt, but you will find recompense in the thought your loved ones died for a heroic cause. Allegheny County and Pittsburgh boys are well represented over there."

Father Wallace under fire officiated at burial services for many Western Pennsylvania soldiers in France during 1917 and 1918.

Today's exercises drew a large attendance.

As a gesture of good will on the part of the officers each Gold Star mother and widow in the contingent will be presented a basket of fruit as she boards the S. S. Republic at Pier 4, Hoboken, tomorrow for the start of the voyage to the Meuse-Argonne, Oise-Aisne and St. Mihiel cemeteries.

MET BY ARMY OFFICERS

Following their arrival here this morning the pilgrims were met by army officers and trained guides at the Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio Railroad terminals. Best wishes of the War Department were offered and then part of the women were escorted to the Commodore Hotel. The others were taken to Hotel Paramount, where additional quarters are maintained.

Activities on today's program, aside from the veterans' reception, called for a sight-seeing tour of New York City and environs.

Every facility for the convenience and comfort of the visitors during their stay here has been extended by the War Department, under whose auspices the overseas journey is being made.

Guides and Army nurses have been placed at the disposal of all.

Eightieth Division officers are taking an especial interest in the presence of the Western Pennsylvania women. Most of the personnel of that outfit was recruited from young men of that section. Nearly all the mothers are those whose sons fought in that organization.

HOTEL GUEST LISTS

Hotel Commodore guests in the party are Mrs. James M. Bebout, Mrs. Rebecca Blades, Mrs. Anna Bortkiewicz, Mrs. William Brotherton, Mrs. Jane E. Detcheon, Mrs. Mary E. Griffiths, Mrs. Louise E. Hohman, Mrs. Augusta Klein, Mrs. John Klein, Mrs. Justine Schaler, Mrs. Annie Schmitt, Mrs. Louisa Schmitt, Mrs. Fanny Solomon, Mrs. Smilla Stipanovic, Mrs. Louise Stotz, Mrs. Anna Wilson, Mrs. Lydia McConnell Wilson and Mrs. Susan Woestgeff, all of Pittsburgh, mothers and widows of Eightieth Division dead. Mrs. Emma Jane Downer, Mrs. Emma Foster, Mrs. Hannah Gallas, Mrs. Anna McGough and Mrs. Catherine C. Murray, mothers and widows of Twenty-eighth Division and other outfit heroes.

Hotel Paramount guests are Mrs. M. C. Boyd, Mrs. George O. Dailey, Mrs. Philomene Maas and Mrs. Josephine Maas, of Heidelberg; Mrs. Bertha Nowak, of Carnegie; Mrs. Fannie Thompson and Mrs. Victoria Witchnekey, of Carnegie, mothers of Eightieth Division dead. Mrs. Carrie V. and Mrs. Marie Herbert, Mrs. Cecelia Woods McIntyre and Mrs. Catherine Rava, mothers and widows of Twenty-eighth Division soldiers.

Germans Capture Notorious Crook

KARLSRUHE, Germany, July 25.—(AP.)—Herbert Sandowski, notorious international crook and jailbreaker, has been recaptured and is being sent to Berlin under a strong escort. He was caught breaking into a villa. On him were found the most modern burglars' tools, a loaded revolver and a gold watch.

Wisconsin Governor Faces New Attack

SHEBOYGAN, Wis., July 25.—(AP.)—Gov. Walter G. Kohler must undergo another court hearing in defense of his office.

Notice of appeal rom the verdict acquitting Kohler of violating the state corrupt practices act was received today by E. A. Hickey, county clerk.

Monument to Work Pilot's Last Flight

CEDAR CITY, Utah, July 25.—(AP.)—A stone monument with a parchment beneath telling the tragic story of Maurice Graham's last flight with the air mail is to be placed on the spot in Crystal Canyon where he surrendered to cold and fatigue.

NUNS' CAR STRUCK BY HIT-RUN AUTO

SEDAN IN WHICH THREE MERCY HOSPITAL NUNS CRASHED AGAINST SQUIRREL HILL TREE

Car smashed against a tree at 5641 Forbes street after it was struck by a hit-and-run driver, whose identity police said they have established and expected to arrest today. Sister Hurberta, Sister Ethelreda and another, whose name was not learned, were slightly injured.

SLOT MACHINE 'RING' BARED

place police confiscated a 25-cent machine last night, testified.

"A man who gave his name as Jack Prendergast, of Spring street, left the machine in my place Wednesday. I protested, but he left it anyhow. It had not been played. Prendergast said he was giving protection with each machine."

Wolfe was discharged by Magistrate John J. Sweeney in South Side Police Court.

PROTECTION PROMISED

John Leindecker, proprietor of a confectionery store at 2433 Arlington avenue, testified that two machines found in his place had been placed there by Prendergast and three other men.

He said:

"They told my wife in case of any trouble to call up a number in the Carrick exchange and that 'Goose' Goslin would fix things up. I don't see anything wrong with keeping slot machines in my place. They are all around the neighborhood."

Leindecker was fined $25 on a charge of maintaining gambling devices. George Milseas, restaurant owner at 2622 Carson street, where two machines were found, according to police, testified a stranger had left the devices Wednesday, saying he would be given protection. He said he had formerly had slot machines in his place, and that he received 50 per cent of the receipts. Recently he had discontinued this method of profit, he testified. He was fined $25 by Magistrate Sweeney.

MACHINES PRESENTED

In Mt. Washington Police Station, Ralph Paganucci, who police said was in charge of the Eighteenth Ward Social Club, 737 Warrington avenue, when it was raided last night, testified that two slot machines found in the place had been presented to the club by a "stranger" at the time the club opened three months ago. He was fined $25.

The raid followed a complaint by John Neads, 25, of 112 Became street, that he had been thrown down stairs at the club. Half a dozen men in the club denied this. All were discharged.

'NUMBERS' RAIDS

With orders from Inspector of Police John J. McArdle of the South Side district to "clean up and get anything you can," Lieut. Edward Moser raided three spots in South Twenty-seventh street today.

Clearing House lottery paraphenalia was seized in the first place hit by the raiders at 22 South Twenty-seventh street. Stanley Smith, 27, alleged proprietor, was charged with operating a lottery.

In two other places at 42 and 75 South Twenty-eighth street quantities of home brew and moonshine were seized. Roy Connors, 27, and Sam Buza, 40, alleged proprietors, were charged with keeping disorderly houses.

Moser and his squad arrested Mitchell Oris, 27, at 2109 Sarah street and charged him with keeping a disorderly house. The police said they found moonshine and home brew there.

COUNTY DRIVE

Capturing two alleged clearing house pool proprietors after a brief chase, county detectives today continued their drive on lottery headquarters with a raid on a cigar store at 1345 Fifth avenue.

Two adding machines, number books and records were reported seized. The pair, caught after the chase, were Joe Barnett and Abraham Stewart, both giving the store as their addresses. They were held under $2,500 bail each pending hearings before Alderman Thomas A. Flanigan on charges of operating a lottery.

A partition separated the cigar store from lottery activities in the rear of the first floor.

The search for Nat Mattes, alleged numbers racketeer, of 1600 Center avenue, said by police to have jumped his bail yesterday when called for a hearing before Alderman John Kaercher, of South Thirteenth street, was continued today by county detectives.

He was arrested last week in a raid on his place by county detectives and released under $1,000 bail for the hearing. When he failed to appear, Alderman Kaercher had his bond forfeited.

GANDHI PEACE MOVE HINTED

LONDON, July 25.—(AP.)—Bombay dispatches to the Daily Mail say that suspension of the Indian civil disobedience campaign on certain conditions is believed to have been suggested by Mahatma Gandhi in a letter confided to Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru and M. Jayakar, liberal leaders, who visited him in Yeroda prison.

The dispatches do not state the source of the belief. The two intermediaries maintained great secrecy today and yesterday.

The note given him by Gandhi is addressed to Pandit Motilal Nehru and Jawaharlal Nehru, former field leaders of the civil disobedience campaign, imprisoned at Allahabad.

Parasite Developed To Control Insects

BERKELEY, Cal. (INS.)—Good news for orchardists came today from a University of California experimenter.

Insect pests that annually cause vast losses in California may be controlled in the future by a parasite called the trichogramma which may be produced for $10 a million.

The prediction was made in a report by Stanley L. Flanders, parasite collector of the University of California citrus experiment station at Riverside.

Love Affair Drives Boy Scout to Suicide

VALLEY STREAM, N. Y., July 25.—(INS.)—A 14-year-old Boy Scout uniform, killed himself today because of a love affair, by lying on a railroad track and allowing a train to run over him. The body was identified as that of C. Davis, of Valley Stream. He left a note reading:

"Give my ring to Florence Phillips. Give my bike, boxing gloves and so forth to my boy friend. Don't let my parents see my body. Throw it in the ocean. Flo, I can't live without you. Goodby."

Hoover Sends King Sympathy of U. S.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(INS.)—President Hoover this afternoon cabled the following message to King Vittorio Emanuele II of Italy:

"The people of the United States join me in extending to Your Majesty and to the people of Italy sincerest sympathy in the great losses suffered in the earthquake which has wrought such widespread destruction in the vicinity of Naples."

Fashion Review For Bankers Scheduled

CLEVELAND, (INS.)—An elaborate fashion review will be one of the major features of the entertainment program planned for the coming fifty-sixth annual convention of the American Bankers' Association which will be held at Cleveland from September 29 to October 3.

More than 7,500 bankers from all parts of the United States will attend the convention. The fashion show is intended primarily for the wives of the delegates but it is expected also to provide relaxation for the bankers in-between discussions of bank mergers, bank branches, the current financial situation and international debts.

THEFT SUSPECT BEING SOUGHT

West Homestead police today were seeking Andrew Turiak, 24, of 833 Forest avenue, for questioning in connection with the theft of $78 from the home of Steve Kanuck, of 831 Forest avenue, West Homestead, late yesterday, they said. Turiak was seen leaving the Kanuck home and police chased him to Pittsburgh, where the trail was lost, they said.

Kanuck had the money at home preparatory to paying his taxes, he told police.

STATE COMBED FOR CONVICT

A state-wide manhunt was under way today by state and city police for R. B. Canfield, of North Bessemer, who escaped from the Western Penitentiary before two fellow convicts were captured by guards early yesterday.

Canfield, with Ralph Minter, 29, of Johnstown and Freeland Preston, 29, of North Bessemer, slid down a rope from the tower of the prison, but the latter two were captured outside the walls.

Preston, the last man down the rope, was caught when he reached the ground. Minter was nabbed an hour later under a hedge near the prison where he had crawled after breaking his ankle while descending the rope.

Toadstools Kill Two Of Destitute Family

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 25.—(AP.)—Toadstools, gathered to supplement a slender food supply by the almost penniless family of a disabled and unemployed World War veteran, today caused the death of two girls.

Josephine Purno, 6, was found dead in bed early this morning. Her sister Grace, 9, died several hours later in St. Mary's Hospital. The father, Patay Purno, the only other member of the family of six to partake of the poisonous fungi, is recovering.

State Searched For Lost Flier

PORT JERVIS, N. Y., July 25.—(AP.)—Aerial search was being made over Northern Pennsylvania today for a Detroit flier named Doty, who disappeared en route from Matamoras for Harrisburg Wednesday. Air searchers today flew over the territory between Matamoras and Stroudsburg, but no trace of Doty was found.

Final Boulevard Rail Contract Let

The final contract for protective fencing on the Boulevard of the Allies was awarded today by the city to the Fort Pitt Malleable Iron Company, which bid $39,969 for the job. The fencing will be used on the viaduct over Brady and Forbes streets and the contract specifies that the work be completed within 20 days.

2 Killed, 4 Hurt As Trains Collide

TOPEKA, Kan., July 25.—(AP.)—Two trainmen were killed and four others injured west of here last night in a collision of two Union Pacific freight trains.

The dead are John Quackenbush, 36, the conductor, and Herman Rowe, 26, a brakeman. Both lived in Kansas City, Kan.

RIVALRY KEEN IN TOBYHANNA TRAINING

Battalion Chiefs Eager to Make Best Showing; Dunlap Will Visit Soon

CAMP TOBYHANNA, Pa., July 25.—Each of the majors commanding the three battalions of the One Hundred and Seventy-sixth Field Artillery is very eager for his battalion to be the most efficient, and much friendly rivalry exists.

During the artillery firing yesterday the officers at the observation post spotted a large seaplane flying within the range of the big guns and in consideration of the safety of the fliers "Cease firing" was ordered.

SALUTE TO RECKORD

Excellent problems were fired by Capt. Louis M. Shriver of Battery B, Lieut. Herrmann of First Battalion staff, Capt. Thomas H. Cassady of the Second Battalion Combat Train and Capt. Clarence P. Bolick and Lieuts. Thomas R. Brown and J. R. Sproat of the Third Battalion.

A salute of 11 guns announced the arrival in camp of Brig. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, adjutant general of Maryland, visiting the One Hundred and Tenth Field Artillery Regiment of the Maryland National Guard in camp at Tobyhanna for its annual tour of field training at the United States artillery range.

BEARY TO VISIT

Word was received by Col. W. R. Dunlap, regimental commander of Pittsburgh's old Duquesne Grey Regiment, that Brig. Gen. Frank D. Beary, adjutant general of Pennsylvania, would arrive in camp soon.

Both generals will be the guests of the Sixteenth Field Artillery at the mounted review and exhibition drill in honor of the two National Guard regiments in camp. The Sixteenth is one of the crack field artillery outfits in the country, having its home station at Fort Myer, Va.

12 DRYS HERE GO TO PHILA. AREA

Transfer of 12 members from the prohibition enforcement unit in the Pittsburgh district to the Philadelphia area was announced at prohibition headquarters, Plaza Building, today. With one exception, the transfers will become effective August 1.

Those notified to report to the Philadelphia headquarters, main office of the Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey districts, include Attorneys Mame Hamrick and Clinton Whetstone, Investigators Avery Gaskins, Frank Gunning, Kenneth Beck, W. L. McCartney and Ira Brought and Clerks Walter Park, Morris Kaplan, Edna Sloss, Alice Herowitz and Alice Deckenbaugh.

Six others recently were transferred to the Philadelphia section, among them A. J. McDuffie, deputy administrator for Philadelphia.

Belasco Keeps Busy On His 76th Birthday

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 25.—David Belasco celebrated today an event which happened in San Francisco 76 years ago, and called this the blithest birthday he's ever had.

It marked for him the end of a theatrical season—his fiftieth-odd—in which his only production, a boisterous little farce called "It's a Wise Child," made profits comparing favorably with any play he ever has produced.

Quake Causes Panic In Mexican Town

MEXICO CITY, July 25.—(AP)—Special dispatches reported an earthquake Wednesday night shook the town of Pinotepa, State of Oaxaca. It was preceded by subterranean rumblings and accompanied by torrential rain.

The inhabitants fled from their houses in panic. No casualties were reported.

Seize Alleged Killer In Chase Over Roofs

CHICAGO, July 25.—(INS.)—George Lombus was under arrest today charged with the murder of Harry McHugh, 27, who, according to Lombus, had been annoying his sister, Mrs. Josie Coonce.

Police pursued Lombus over roof tops following the shooting and captured him. He confessed to the shooting, according to police.

Dainty Warm Weather Frock

Pattern 1987

Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS.

This charming model has unusual square details of neck and skirt flare that make it delightfully individual. And, too, it is very simple to cut and put together. The soft cape collar removes the necessity for sleeves, although there are sleeves with the pattern if you care to use them.

Pattern 1987 is cool and summery fashioned of voile, georgette, chiffon, lawn, batiste or silk crepe. Small geometric designs such as dots, coins and rings vie with flowers for popularity among the warm weather prints. Pastel grounds printed in vivid colors are smart just now.

May be obtained only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 14 requires 3⅞ yards of 39-inch material.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped, or stamps, for each pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

Mulets Clergymen As Bishop's Son

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP.)—A young man posing as the son of the Rt. Rev. John Pyntz Tyler, Episcopal bishop of North Dakota, has been swindling clergymen in various parts of the country by "borrowing" money, the bishop said today.

Bishop Tyler, who is preaching this summer in St. Thomas' Protestant Episcopal Church here, sent a letter to the Churchman, warning clergymen that the youth is an impostor.

Boy Hit by Truck Dies, Driver Held

George S. Shank, 5, of 803 Tobin street, died in the Allegheny General Hospital today of injuries suffered yesterday when he was hit by a truck in Short street, North Side.

Carl G. Snyder, of 981 Chartiers avenue, Carnegie, the driver, was ordered turned over to the coroner.

MINERS' UNION TO EXPAND

Plans will be proposed at the annual convention of the National Miners' Union, opening tomorrow, to organize the entire "extraction" industry. It was stated at the union's headquarters in the Lyceum Building this includes the coal, oil, copper and all such bodies.

The convention will assemble at 35 Miller street, Freeman Thompson is the president.

The convention will protest wage cuts, demand work or wages for miners, a six-hour day and a five-day week. The slogan, according to printed literature, will be $35 per week minimum wage for all mine workers. The organization will direct its efforts principally against the coal and copper industries, it was stated.

The convention will vote to change the name of the organization to Mine, Oil and Smelter Workers' Industrial Union.

3 BANK HOLDUP KILLERS HANG

KANSAS CITY, July 25.—(AP.)—Three bank robbers who sprayed bullets into a Republican national convention crowd in a downtown district here two years ago were hanged simultaneously today for the murder of Policeman James H. (Happy) Smith, victim of their fire.

They were Tony (Lollypop) Mangiaracina, Carl Nasello, machine gunner for the gang, and John Messino, driver of the bandit car.

One of five buttons, pressed by five deputy sheriffs, released the trap at 6:04 a. m., sending the killers to their deaths.

The bandits were part of the gang of six who planned and executed the robbery of the Home Trust Company June 14, 1928.

2 DIE IN ROLLER COASTER CRASH

OMAHA, July 25.—(AP.)—Two persons were killed and 17 injured last night when a roller coaster train at Krug Park plunged through a gap in the track work and dropped 35 feet.

The train of four cars had just left the starting stand and was being pulled up the first incline by the cog chain. As the heavily loaded cars reached the midway point, timbers in front of the lead car gave way, opening a large gap.

While men, women and children stared in voiceless fear, the car moved on until the cog chain pulled it over the edge of the gap and plunged it to the ground. Some of the cars overturned and their passengers were pinned underneath as they struck the ground.

The dead are C. H. Stout, 50, and Ruth Farrell, 14, both of Omaha.

3 BOYS DRAWN UNDER BOAT

CHARLEROI, Pa., July 25.—Three Webster boys were badly injured when drawn beneath the stern wheel of the towboat Homer D. Williams, of the Carnegie Steel Company. The boat's engines were reversed suddenly while they were riding in a skiff behind it.

The boys were Defendo Augustine, 13; Anthony Matte, 13, and Ben Steinmaker, 16.

The boys were following in the wake of the craft. At Webster curve, due to low river stage, it was necessary to maneuver the tow into the channel.

Unaware that the boys were close behind, Capt. W. P. Buttenfield gave the reverse signal. As the wheel reversed, the skiff was drawn under by the suction. The boat was splintered and the boys thrown into the river.

Dog Guards Body Of Master Who Died for It

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., July 25.—A bulldog keeps mournful vigil beside the casket of its dead owner, Frederick A. Megown, 58, pottery worker, who lost his life in the Beaver River in an attempt to rescue the pet, which he believed was drowning.

Megown, his niece, Florence Ecoff, 11, and the dog had gone to the river. The dog became exhausted while swimming and Megown jumped into the water to rescue it. He sank almost immediately. The girl gave the alarm. Firemen rescued the dog and recovered Megown's body.

Legion Air Circus To Be Held Sunday

The air circus and bugle corps parade of Pvt. Claude Beltz Post, No. 380, American Legion, at Bettis Airport, will be held Sunday, instead of both Saturday and Sunday as previously planned, according to R. E. Harrison and H. C. Fenton, members of the publicity committee. During the morning and early afternoon there will be an air circus, at 2 o'clock the bugle corps' competitive drill, and in the evening another air circus.

CASE AGAINST JUDGE ENDS

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., July 25. Decision is expected next week by Judge Charles S. Turnbaugh, of Cambridge, in case of Belmont County Common Pleas Judge Warren W. Cowen, two lawyers, ex-Judge Charles J. Lynch and Walton J. Walker, and Cowen's son-in-law, Charles C. Bulger, whose trial on a conspiracy charge ended this afternoon after three days' testimony.

Two supporters of Cowen's opponent in the recent primary filed suit contending Cowen approved action of attorneys and Bulger in affecting reduction of taxes on a coal mine of which Bulger was receiver.

By ROY JANSEN
Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor
While Darrell V. Martin Is Away

Because she is here in person and because she is one of the leading motion picture stars, Bernice Claire's appearance on the air, tonight at 6:15 o'clock, eastern daylight time, over KQV during the Warner Hour, is a major event. Miss Claire was in the stage production of "The Desert Song" and "No No Nanette" and in the motion picture "Song of the Flame" and others. Davey Lee, youthful star who was the "Sonny Boy" of the screen with Al Jolson, is also in Pittsburgh and will have a part in the KQV program at this time.

Bernice Claire

Boasting about their golf game in the studio, certain members of KDKA'S force were suddenly challenged to a series of three games by the Red Arrow Quartet of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The figures of the first game were sad. For the Red Arrow team, Seifert shot a 91, McVicker 93, Sprague 105 and Weis 107. That adds up to 396. The KDKA boys turned in these figures: Kaufman, 96; Rodgers, 101; Boyd, 106, and Riggs, 109. Which should add up to 412.

Much interest centers about Florenzo Tasso, Italian tenor, who will make his first important radio appearance tonight as guest soloist during the dinner concert by KDKA'S Little Symphony Orchestra. This young singer, who landed on these shores but three years ago, worked in coal mines, later becoming gardener on the C. McKay Lynch estate near Greensburg, where he was "discovered" singing at his work. Miss Geraldine Farrar predicts a distinguished future for him. It is a stimulating and romantic story of possibilities in life. If you have talent.

They are making an interesting demonstration of the ability of radio waves to penetrate the depth of the earth and pass through solid rock. In the Lookout Mountain Cave, Chattanooga, Tenn., a radio was set up and experiments on getting local and distant stations commenced. Lots of people in Pittsburgh know that radio sounds pass right through solid apartment walls—but's that's something else and not so interesting.

It seems the Swiss do not like the word "broadcasting" and are staging a contest to find a new name. Well, some folks don't like Swiss yodeling, but no definite steps have been taken about this to date.

Little Miss Babe Murry will be heard over KQV tonight at 7:30 in a vigorous organ recital. This Pittsburgh girl is but 14 years old, yet she has a surety and fine style and is an entirely satisfying player.

Complications arise. Prewee and Windy, when the episode "What Ship Sailor?" Prewee and Windy start for their ship's anchorage with every intention of keeping out of trouble so that they will be able to get ashore to see their girls the next day. But a meeting with an eccentric fellow gob from another craft in the fleet complicates matters and the radio audience learns something about shore patrols, crowds and circumstantial evidence.

Woman Scorned Causes Man to Be Deported

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., July 25.—In a day or so, Julius Oznoskey, of Leckrone, will be sailing across the Atlantic for his native land of Poland, mourning the fickleness of woman.

Julius had been in the United States three years toiling at the Leckrone mine. He met a girl and they exchanged confidences. She suggested marriage, but Julius declined. Angry, she turned him over to Federal officers, revealing that he had entered the United States through Canada without a passport. He was taken to Pittsburgh for deportation.

Boy, 4, Starts Fire; Home, Garage Burn

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 25.—A fire started by Arnold Kovatch, 4, in some hay stored in the garage near his home, caused the destruction of the garage and the bungalow in which the Kovatch family resided, with a loss approximating $4,500. Firemen were able to prevent the destruction of an adjoining home.

"What a wonderful help Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been to me. I was so nervous and rundown I couldn't be up half the time. When I had taken one bottle of Vegetable Compound I could tell I felt better, so I took seven bottles and I recommend it highly. It helped my nerves and keeps me strong to do my housework and wait on four little children. I hope some other suffering woman will try it."—Mrs. Porter L. Arnold.

BROWN SCORES POSTAL LEASES

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP)—Government leasing of postoffice branch buildings in large cities was termed "poor business" by Postmaster General Brown in proposing congressional action to permit their purchase.

In an address last night in the national radio forum sponsored by the Washington Star and the Columbia Broadcasting Company, the Postmaster General said the leasing policy was "forced on the Postoffice Department by the government's suspension of ordinary building operations during the war and for a considerable period thereafter."

During the last session of Congress, postal leases were attacked in both the House and Senate.

Brown said growing postal business had forced the government to lease buildings where possible but in many instances the department was forced to contract with private persons to construct buildings to be leased to the government.

Exclusive of the many small towns where the government finds it most economical to rent postoffice space, the Postmaster General said the department now leases about 6,500 buildings at a total rental of approximately $17,000,000.

Philanthropist Dies On Home-Bound Ship

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP)—The New York Times says reports have been received of the death of Solomon L. Sulzberger, 73, Chicago philanthropist, Wednesday aboard the liner Aquitania, which is due here today.

Sulzberger went to Europe with his wife in May. He founded the Enterprise Paint Manufacturing Company, of which he was president.

Strike Gas Near New Philadelphia

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., July 25.—A million and a half feet daily capacity of gas was developed by the shooting of the Federal Oil and Gas Company's well five miles south of this city, drilled to the Clinton sand at a depth of 4,900 feet.

Woman Trampled By Circus Horse

AMBRIDGE, Pa., July 25.—Trampled by a work horse at a circus here, Mrs. Joseph Linhart, 43, sustained cuts and shock.

Two Hours in Jail Cures Woman Tax Rebel

CONSHOHOCKEN, Pa., July 25.—(AP)—Two hours in the Montgomery jail convinced Mrs. Laura Gordosky, 40, that she ought to pay her county and borough personal tax.

Collectors said she had several times slammed the door of her house in their faces when they called to collect $4.35 from her for 1929. She argued, they stated, that she didn't need to pay taxes as she was not a citizen of the United States.

So Tax Collector William S. Irwin issued a warrant, a deputy collector served it and Mrs. Gordosky went to jail at 4:30 p. m. Shortly after 6 o'clock her husband appeared, talked with her for a few minutes through the bars, then paid the tax for her.

DAIRY SILENT ON MERGER

Officials of the Liberty Dairy Products Corporation today refused to comment on the report that within two weeks the local concern would be merged with the Beatrice Creamery Company of Chicago. Auditors of the Chicago concern are said to be at work in the offices of the Liberty Dairy, scanning the books.

Stories are that the basis of exchange is to be three and one-half shares of Liberty Dairy common for one share of Beatrice. The local concern, it was said, will retain its corporate identity if the merger goes through. Forty-one organizations were taken over by the Beatrice company during 1929 and 1930. Sales for the fiscal year, ended February 28, 1930, were over $83,500,000, equal to $7.31 a share on the common stock.

Judge Dismisses Bankruptcy Suit

TAMPA, Fla., July 25.—(AP)—Bankruptcy proceedings against the Southern Sugar Company, $20,000,000 corporation with headquarters at Clewiston, Fla., were dismissed in Federal court by Judge Akerman.

B. G. Dahlberg, president of the company, and other officers were in court with its records. When complaining creditors said they were not prepared to question the witnesses or examine the books, Judge Akerman threw the case out of court.

KOPPERS FIRM OFFICIAL DIES

Donald MacArthur, 50, vice president and director of the Koppers Gas and Coke Company, is dead in his home at Glen Ridge, N. J., it was learned here today. Mr. MacArthur, who also was vice president and director of the Eastern Gas and Fuel Association, the Seaboard By-Product Coke Company and of several other subsidiaries of the Koppers company, was well known in Pittsburgh. He died yesterday morning in the Mountainside Hospital at Glen Ridge.

Mr. MacArthur was born in Glasgow, Scotland, and came to the United States with his parents when a boy. He spent his early life in Wisconsin and graduated from the mechanical engineering school at the University of Wisconsin. He at one time was general superintendent of the Laclede Gas Company at St. Louis.

He was a member of one of the leading gas associations of the country and was a member of many clubs in New York. He was an elder in the Glen Ridge Presbyterian Church. He leaves his widow, a son, Donald, Jr.; his father, Angus MacArthur, of Superior, Wis., and three brothers and three sisters.

Confectionery Sales Decrease in State

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP)—Thirty-nine Pennsylvania confectionery manufacturing wholesalers reported a decrease of 11.1 per cent in their June sales as compared to sales in June, 1929, the foodstuffs division of the Department of Commerce announced today. The decrease in the first six months of 1930 from the corresponding period in 1929 was only 4.9 per cent.

The slump was attributed to extremely warm weather in June, 1930, the Pennsylvania firms produced confections valued at $2,144,858 as against $2,337,869 in June, 1929.

Reserve Men Here Given Commissions

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP)—Commissions in the Officers' Reserve Corps have been issued today to Pennsylvanians, including:

John D. Dorgan, Washington, and Frank G. Gerlock, Altoona, second lieutenants, infantry; Chauncey G. Moorman, Pittsburgh, second lieutenant, Veterinary Corps; Sands G. Witmer, Aspinwall, second lieutenant, engineers.

GEMS STREWN IN AIR CRASH

LONDON, July 25.—(AP)—The Daily Express says that jewels valued at £65,000 (about $325,000) were scattered over the ground near Meopham, Kent, at the time of Monday's airplane disaster, in which six persons, including three of the nobility, perished.

The jewels in question belonged to the late Viscountess Ednam and the late Mrs. Loeffler, both of whom were wearing pearl necklac and diamond brooches.

The accidental discovery of a few gems by a villager reminded friends of the dead women that they had their jewelry with them. Police began a search over a three-mile area in the hope of finding others.

Los Angeles Police Get Air Corps of 10

LOS ANGELES, July 25.—(AP)—Ten Southern California aviators have been officially sworn into service as an emergency aeronautical department of the Los Angeles police.

The 10 fliers are Art Goebel, Roscoe Turner, George Noville, Waldo Waterman, Dick Barnitz, Bud Campbell, Tommy Thomas, Paul Richter, Woodruff De Silva and Jack Caris. Private planes have been offered for pursuit of criminals.

'Tall Man' Leads Funeral March Of Circus Pair

MONCTON, N. B., July 25.—(AP)—The circus tall man and the circus band led a funeral cortege of showmen and townspeople yesterday for two members of the A. G. Barnes Troupe, killed with two others in a train wreck near here Sunday.

The bodies of Albert Johnston and James McFarland were buried in a lot purchased by circus officials in a Moncton cemetery. Monuments will be erected by the company and the grave will be cared for in perpetuity.

Three Men Held In Theft of Wire

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 25.—Lawrence Jackson, 30, R. C. Croushore and Joseph Policastro, 24, of Greensburg, are in the county jail following their arrest by state police after it is alleged they stole copper wire from the Star Brewery.

Beauty Shop Owner Found Dead in Room

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., July 25.—Mrs. E. Gibbons, 73, a beauty parlor operator, was found dead in her room by an insurance collector. She had been dead several days, the coroner reported.

ORDER GRANTED IN GROSS SUIT

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP)—Supreme Court Justice Schmuck has signed an order requiring Capt. Christian Gross, war hero and member of the United States foreign service, to show cause why he should not be restrained from prosecuting an action in Chicago to prevent two trustees from handing over a $250,000 trust fund to his wife, Virginia Harrison Gross.

The money is part of $830,000 Mrs. Gross said she signed over to her husband to keep him from leaving her. She said that in 1928 the captain agreed to return $250,000 of the money on condition she relieve him of any obligation to support her.

Mrs. Gross brought legal action here to enforce the agreement and was given judgment for the sum. Gross countered with the Chicago suit.

Child Drowns When She Falls Into Ohio

BRILLIANT, O., July 25.—(AP)—Mary Elizabeth Green, 8, drowned when she fell off a ferry landing and her head become imbedded in mud at the bottom of the Ohio River. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Green.

Horse Runs Away, Aged Driver Killed

SCRANTON, Pa., July 25.—(AP)—A fractured skull received when the horse he was driving became frightened and ran away in Archbald, near here, resulted in the death of Frank Butch, 79, of Olyphant, in a hospital late yesterday. The runaway horse dashed the wagon against a pole.

Too Much ACID

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief. Please do that—for your own sake—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

NEWS FROM HOLLYWOOD AND BROADWAY; REVIEW OF NEW PICTURE

John Mack Brown Slated For Second Picture Of Pioneer Life

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, July 25.

Having successfully portrayed the character of Billy the Kid in the film of the same name, Johnny Mack Brown, M. G. M. has declared, shall play the lead in another picture dealing with pioneer history.

This time his activities will be confined below the Mason and Dixon line with "The Great Meadow," by Mary Mattox Roberts. The story deals with Daniel Boone's life and the early settling of Kentucky.

John Mack Brown.

In book form the story has proved to be one of the biggest sellers and also received high mention in the Literary Guild selection of 1930.

This film is not scheduled to start for some time as Johnny Mack still has several scenes for "Billy the Kid" and a lead opposite Joan Crawford in "Great Day" to complete first.

SMART MANAGER

To further the laughs generated by five comedians appearing in Radio's Half Shot at Sunrise" the comedy dialogue writers have contributed generously with wisecracks. Here's one of the latest written for the war-time comedy:

Diner "I can't eat this duck. Send for the manager."

Waiter "It's no use. He won't eat it either."

OUT-SMARTING WILL

According to reports Will Rogers has little use for photograph galleries or "still" pictures in general. He will not go into the studio gallery to pose for portraits and is inclined to react unfavorably to requests when being photographed on the sets. However one ingenious boy on the Fox lot has him out-figured. If he wants the star looking straight into the camera he merely suggests that Mr. Rogers does not look into the lense and Will is a cinch to gaze directly at it. So far his scheme has worked perfectly but if Will happens to read this he may have to develop a new routine.

A LAVISH WELCOME

Ina Claire's opening night in her new play "Rebound" at the Belasco was an occasion which brought Hollywood and Beverly Hills to the theater en-masse, and aside from the large arc-lamps that usually herald a first night it was as lavish as any world premiere of a picture.

Ina Claire

Inside the theater Miss Claire responded time and time again to curtain calls in answer to the applause from the enthusiastic audience. And probably most excited or enthusiastic of all was Jack Gilbert who had never seen his wife on the stage before.

Jack sat in the first row and Ina is reported to have stormed a bit because of it. "The big 'bum' is sitting in the front row and I wanted him to stay out of sight," she lamented between the first and second acts. However it seemed to spur her to greater efforts and she gave a beautiful performance.

In the audience I saw Delores Del Rio and Cedric Gibbons, Gloria Swanson, Ruth Chatterton and Ralph Forbes and Harding and Harry Bannister, Colleen Moore, Norma Shearer and Irving Thalberg and many others.

ANOTHER GARBO

From Europe comes the announcement that Greta Garbo's brother, Swen, is working in his first talking picture. He has been signed by Paramount to appear in an all-Swedish talking picture, "Where Roses Bloom." The film is being produced at the Paramount studios in Paris and is supervised by Robert T. Kane, formerly an executive at several studios here. Before talkies Swen appeared in several pictures produced in Sweden.

Current with activity in the Paramount Paris studio is the announcement that Fox has purchased 26 acres near London to erect a studio. John Stone, who is in charge of the foreign versions here, plans to leave for Europe next month to represent Fox on a survey of the situation.

J. Robert Rubin, vice president of N. G. M., is also in Europe studying conditions relative to that studio's foreign developments.

River Excursions On Two Boats

Deck and cabin entertainment will feature the river excursion of Geneva College students and alumni from the Rochester aboard the steamer Greater Pittsburgh this evening.

Saturday afternoon office employes of the R. C. Dun mechantile agency will be aboard the steamer Roosevelt for an outing at Crescent Beach. Sunday the steamer will make a trip to the same resort, leaving the wharf below Water and Smithfield streets at 9:30 a. m. The steamer Greater Pittsburgh will make both afternoon and evening excursions Saturday and Sunday. Herman Middleman's Stanley Stage Band provides the music Sunday.

What kind of work do you like? Keep reading the "Help Wanted" ads and you'll soon find the very job you were made for.

Dramatic Role

Constance Bennett plays a highly emotional role as the star in "Common Clay," a screen adaptation of the stage play. The film is soon to be released.

HEROINE STEPS FROM SCREEN TO STAGE IN STANLEY

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

Bernice Claire, one of the heroines of the talkies, is personally appearing in the Stanley. She is one star that manages to beam in connection with Dick Powell's stage show, "Moonbeams." She wears a fluffy blue gown that trails the floor. She holds hands with Mr. Powell. She sings three songs. She makes a little curtain speech in tones that never reach the balcony. And she gets a great big hand.

There is an operatic flare to one of Miss Claire's numbers. Her second song is Victor Herbert's good old "Kiss Me Again." And her third is that old "No, No, Nanette" number of her's, "Tea for Two." This is done in duet style with Mr. Powell being the other tea drinker.

Miss Claire's stage appearance is coincident with her appearance on the screen in "Top Speed." But the biggest news about this picture is that Joe E. Brown is present.

WIDE OPEN SPACES!

This Mr. Brown is a fellow of many distinctions. His chief one is that he can open his mouth wider than anyone you ever saw. And he's the clown all over. He even has the sad eyes that comedians are supposed to have.

In the film Mr. Brown dresses in a check suit so loud that it endangers the sound apparatus. And he smokes a cigar a foot in length.

He is supposed to be a broker's clerk on vacation and as such he and a fellow-worker go to a swell resort. They meet a couple of wealthy girls and Brown spreads the news that he is a playmate of the Fords and the Morgans. Of course, the deception is found out. But before that comes a motor boat race, snappy chatter, songs and dance. And after—and in spite of it—comes more singing, dancing and the happy fadeout.

AND LOTS OF LAUGHS

The film packs plenty of laughs—and some suggestive lines. Several of Mr. Brown's comments make you think Pa Pitt's censors have been napping. Meeker things than in this film have been muffled by them. However, they were on the job part of the time. Silent witness of this is a silent moment or two in the picture's action.

Jack Whiting and Laura Lee are prominent in supporting roles.

Now back to the stage show to note that another movie player is to be seen in person. The name is Eddie Lambert. This lad has been featured in Educational comedies. Eddie is funny enough. But as far as we're concerned, his act is over long.

Bernie Armstrong has deserted the organ for the piano and takes part in a David Broudy overture—an overture that is worthy of attention.

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

COPYRIGHT 1930 DAILY MIRROR INC.

In the Vernacular

According to a recent number of a monthly, Noah Webster, the big verb and adjective man who is remembered for his famous corner on words, tossed off without a break in his lexical stride this definition of the word "slang": "Slang. To use abusive language, to use slang; an insulting word; a new word that has no just reason for being. Origin: Cant of thieves, gypsies, beggars, etc.; new language or words consisting either of new words or phrases in arbitrary senses; and having a conventional but vulgar or inelegant use; also the jargon of a particular calling or class of society; popular cant."

All of which any Broadway peasant might dismiss with: "Mebbeso, but it sounds like a lotta applesauce to me because that mug Webster certainly don't know his groceries." But Mr. Webster, it seems, knew his dictionary. Slang, briefly speaking, is verbal shorthand, a language coined by various groups to crystallize in one word or phrase a frequently needed and complicated meaning. There is army, hobo, railroad, circus, stage, underworld slang and other kinds of argot, but the slang of show business has, perhaps, more color and certainly a wider currency than any other.

Probably because Broadway is where the theatrical business begins (and ends for most of its followers), it is the slang capital of the world. It is difficult to imagine any other spot on the globe where the citizenry takes so readily to slang, and one suspects that the reason why the articulations of the show business are chiefly in slang is that most actors were "born in a dressing room" or neglected their schooling to go on the stage. Consequently, they are naturally more accomplished in the art of mimicry than they are in the three R's, and even the youngsters whose parents are stars and can afford special tutors for them, are exposed to the idiom of the theater long before they begin kindergarten. It is not, therefore, unjust to assume that the majority of show people are no more than semi-literate. The terms in which they evaluate their fellow-men are sufficiently indicated in the gag about the two acrobats who, between performances in a Brooklyn humpty-dumpty, strolled through the residential belt. Observing a plump man slumbering in a porch-hammock, one of them said:

"Humph, looka that guy enjoying life. I'll bet he's so ignorant he can't even do a handstand!"

The average member of the show business (and one speaks quite naturally of all Broadway natives in the same breath) would rather perfect his "personality," his specialty or his stage style than achieve an education. When he has developed a dance routine distinguished by hair-raising steps or if able to arouse an audience to gratifying applause with his songs or fables, it does not matter very much whether he can swap conversation with what he calls "highbrows." Hence, his daily commerce is accomplished in the language he understands—slang. He doesn't hope that he "makes good." He hopes that he "clicks." He trusts that he doesn't "flop," "brody" or "lay an egg," meaning that he hopes he will not fail. And when he "wows 'em" or "panics 'em," he has been a hit, and, when a person snubs him he doesn't call that person a snob, a "high-hat" or a "ritzy person." He merely decides that he has been "up-staged." The greatest distance from the "apron" back to the rear wall is up-stage, or as far away as you can get from the footlights. Lately, "tall millinery" means "high-hat" also, but the word "up-stage" is commonly used by all groups.

T. A. Dorgan (Tad) contributed gracefully to slang of all sorts. He created the famous "Yes, we have no bananas," which later became a popular song, although Tad never drew a cent of royalty from it. Another of his class was "the ball-and-chain," meaning the wife. Jack Conway was responsible for a lot of current slang, which first appeared in his Variety reviews of vaudeville and burlesque shows. Conway coined such colloquialisms as: "Meet the headache" (meet the wife) . . . "That's a lotta boloney!" (that's the bunk) . . . "Play the chill" (putting on airs) . . . "They got belly-laughs" (meaning an act that drew abdominal upheavals) and many others that naturally an army will dispute. Variety, incidentally, created the labels "big time" and "small time," differentiating the first-rate circuits from the second-rate.

The word "hoofer" is show business for dancer, meaning one who "hoofs" dances, clogs or uses his pedals. Entertainers who "hoof" used to "hop-the-buck." When Bonnie Glass, the wife of Ben Ali Haggan, first danced at the Palace Theater in New York she was described (by the famous exploiter, Walter J. Kingsley) on the foyer billboards as a "high-toned hoofer." When her husband first saw that billing he swooned.

There are numerous other word-coiners, but only the names of Damon Runyon, Bugs Baer, Johnny O'Connor, Rube Goldberg, Johnny Stanley, James Gleason, Wilson Mizner, Jefferson Lee (of Forty-seventh street) and Tommy Lyman come at the present recording. But there are hundreds of Broadway wisecrackers who rate recognition for pieces of slanguage now famous. "He's a phoney" is Broadwayese for "he isn't on the level—he's a fourflusher," etc. . . . "Laughing soup," "canned heat," "giggle water" or "dream syrup" is liquor . . . To "beef" or "squawk" is to complain. . . . A "flicker" is a movie . . . When you have the "needles" your nerves are jerky or you've the "heebie-jeebies," the h-j's being a Billy DeBeck creation. "To make whoopee" is to get good and drunk.

A "turkey" is a third-rate show . . . "Taking him for a ride" is underworld for enticing a person to his death . . . A "rat" or "heel" is a double-crosser or a worthless person . . . A "femme" or "broad" is a girl . . . "Rolled off my knife" is being indifferent to trouble . . . The "run-around" is stalling or failing to keep a promise . . . A "poker face" is a "dead pan" or a lifeless facial expression, commonly used by card players . . . Abel Green first referred to Broadway as "Mazda Lane," while others call it "Orange Juice Gulch," "The Tungsten Belt," "The Chow Mein Stem," "The Big Artery" or "Coffee Pot Canyon" . . . A "torso-tosser" or "hip-flipper" or "thigh-juggler" is a kooch dancer.

Most of the argot that Broadway invents or borrows is relished and rolled on the tips of main stem tongues, but little of it is comprehensible west of the Hudson or north of Harlem. Some wiseacre once said that a nation without its slang is in the period of decadence. The glory of Greece and the heights of Roman civilization never left slang to posterity. Perhaps, if they had, Caesar's "Commentaries" might not be so difficult to swallow. If the greatest Roman of them all ever said that Cleopatra had "a mess of S. A." history carries no record of it. But hundreds of years later, Will Shakespeare dug up the whole affair and was panned by the critics because he delved into the argot of his day to put it over. And today Shakespeare's slang is the classic of literature. So it may be with Broadwayese.

There's no law against the old fashioned method of house hunting. But the new way of reading the Classified Ads is much better.

STRIKE MARKED BY SABOTAGE

PROVIDENCE, Ky., July 25.—(AP.)—Disorders that followed the reopening April 1 of the strike-closed mines in the Providence coal field, developed into sabotage, forcing two mines to suspend operations temporarily.

Electric power transmission lines broken by the dynamiting of poles compelled the Diamond Coal Company to close one of its mines and the Meador, Young and Holt Company to shut down its mine. Three hundred and fifty men were employed at the workings. The operators plans to reopen.

Twenty poles of the Kentucky Utilities Company, two bridges and the home of a mine employe were dynamited. Blasts also tore down power line poles at Coiltown, in Hopkins County, and Clay, seven miles from here. About 300 shots were fired near the homes of working miners at Clay but there were no casualties.

A bridge over the Illinois Central Railroad's spur track leading to Hartero coal mine here was damaged by dynamite and another bridge in the Providence yards similarly damaged.

Taunted at Prayer, Man Fights, Dies

SHAFTER, Cal., July 25.—(AP.)—Felix Lopez, 24, was taunted by four youths while at prayer in church here. He ran outside and during a fight was shot and killed. Alphonso Beltren, 20, accused of the shooting, was at large today.

Real Estate

The opening of a new 40-acre plan adjoining Brookside Farms by the Freehold Real Estate Company about August 15 will bring the first fire hydrants and electric street lights to Upper St. Clair Township.

Steam shovel work on the old Phillips farm, which has been in progress for several weeks, has transformed a high plateau into a modern building tract of about 100 lots of 160 feet in depth and with frontages of 70, 80 and 90 feet, according to their locations. These face a street a mile in length and 22 feet wide with a 20-inch rolled curb on each side. The pavement is of asphalt on a concrete base. The street is circular in its formation and connects with the Washington road at Brookside boulevard.

The lots will be sold under restrictions requiring buildings of a cost of $10,000 or more and of construction other than frame. City water, natural gas and electricity will be brought to the curb. Electric street lights will be an innovation on building plans in this section.

In the face of a general statewide decline in building construction for June 30, as measured by the volume of building permits issued, compared with the same month for 1929, McKeesport showed a gain in the number and cost of estimated projects. Ten more permits were issued this year for construction to cost $130,120.

The Gribbin Company through John J. McKenna sold for John F. Brady for a private consideration the property at 3823 Clement way, Sixth Ward.

G. E. Knable has made application for a building permit for a brick dwelling and garage at 611 Amberson avenue, Seventh Ward. The cost is estimated at $20,000.

C. R. Jefferies will build two brick dwellings with garages at 3851-3 and 3855-7 Beechwood boulevard, Fifteenth Ward. They will cost $19,000, according to estimates made in the application for building permits.

W. H. Springfield has applied for a building permit for a brick veneer dwelling, to be erected at an estimated cost of $7,500, at 1687 Durbin street, Twenty-eighth Ward.

Application has been made for a building permit for a brick dwelling and garage to be erected by John Beler at 4514 Poland street, Fifteenth Ward. The estimated cost is $4,000.

Ready Prepared, Packaged Meals Coming Soon

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Former Health Commissioner of New York City
United States Senator From New York

There are times when even the most particular and exacting housewife wants to be free from the demands of the kitchen. To plan, to cook, and then to plan again the meals of the day, becomes a monotonous and tiresome task.

To meet the demand created by the drudgery of cooking comes forward the prepared packaged meal. One of the largest wholesale grocers of the country will soon introduce on the market packages of prepared well-balanced meals done up in glass containers for immediate use. For breakfast, luncheon or dinner you may have for the asking your favorite menu for two, three or four persons.

The housewife who has a full afternoon at her club, bridge party or shopping trip may find here a very good dinner menu. It is all set for heating and serving in 15 minutes' time.

A PRACTICAL SCHEME

The business woman and the club woman will be able to have on hand something for the unexpected guest. A hurried midnight lunch is all done up ready for use. Ideal picnic lunches are ready to store away for the motor trip, to be served later hot from the camp stove or open fire.

Surely here is a practical scheme for having on hand wholesome food for the unexpected occasion. A sample menu sounds most attractive. It is labeled "Dinner No. 1" for two persons. In it are a tomato juice cocktail, stuffed olives, boned chicken, string beans, beets, cranberry sauce, sponge cake and chocolate sauce, salted nuts and coffee, all done up in glass containers. You simply warm up the food and serve.

LITTLE EXTRA COST

Each package carries a label instructing the buyer what perishable foods are needed to complete the menu. These may include lettuce, butter and fresh milk. Not the slightest effort is required to think out what shall be served.

Naturally the practical housewife will ask, "What about the price?" It is intended that this shall meet the average housewife's budget. The cost will be only slightly above the aggregate retail cost covering each item of the meal.

Here you have something good to eat put up in the most painstaking manner, hermetically sealed in glass containers, free from contamination of every sort. You are saved much time and energy, and have easily and quickly served attractive and wholesome meals for a very little extra cost.

HOUSEWIVES HELPED

The housewife of today is being emancipated from drudgery. Many a woman will ask why stop and cook every meal when you can have packaged meals to meet various occasions in the modern way?

Of course, the honest-to-goodness home-cooked meals will never be replaced six days out of the seven. But they will solve the problem of many a perplexed housewife. These glass packaged meals are meant to fit the emergency occasion. For that they will be excellent substitutes for the usual meal and have a popular demand when they appear on the market.

PRUDENCE PENNY'S RECIPES

Sauerkraut and Tomato Juice Cocktail.
Baked Sirloin Steak.
Broiled Bananas in Bacon.
Saratoga Onions.
Julienne Potatoes.
Celery and Radish Salad.
Raspberry Short Cake.
Coffee.

One of the most interesting stories in the annals of cookery is that bit about sirloin steak and how it was named. History relates that one day Charles, the Merriest Monarch of England, stopped at the castle of one of his lords at the end of a hard day's riding and hunting. There was a great deal of bustle and an immense platter of thick, juicy broiled steak was placed before the famished king.

The monarch smacked his lips in the most approved royal fashion of his day, and demanded to know what manner of meat this was. "Loin of beef," he was informed.

"Then henceforth it shall be known as Sir Loin!" shouted the king, touching the meat with the point of his sword. Thus in knightly fashion he bestowed the title as a sign of his royal approval!

With or without the title, loin of beef is a most worthy dish to set before the family at a Sunday dinner. My favorite method of preparing the sirloin is to bake it in the oven. I like the steak cut about 2 inches thick for baking. Place it in a pan, add salt, 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce, about 3 tablespoons ketchup, and dot it all over the top with bits of butter. Then into a hot oven it goes for about 20 minutes, until tender.

With the steak, try bananas broiled in bacon. Peel the bananas and cut in 2-inch lengths, rolling each piece in a strip of bacon. Broil the rolls until the bacon is crisp and brown, and serve around the steak, garnishing the platter with sprigs of parsley.

For many, onions are the inevitable accompaniment to steak. To vary the procedure somewhat, let me suggest Saratoga onions, prepared in this way: Slice the onions crosswise in rings. Separate each ring and dip the onions in milk. Drain and dredge with flour. Fry a few at a time in deep hot fat, until the onions are crisp and brown. I'll warrant you'll agree with me that never did a steak taste better!

Jaunts to the cool of the woods, hikes for the sheer joy of hiking, picnics where food is abundant and served often—those are the things that make for red letter days in childhood, yes, and in maturity, too!

And the most important item in each excursion is the lunch basket. Half the fun of the outing is in the opening of the kit to see what goodies it contains!

Mothers who know the leaning of young appetites will include a more-than-generous supply of cookies with the lunch—such cookies as these.

SCOTCH COOKIES: Cream a cup of butter with a cup of brown sugar. Add 2 well beaten eggs with another cup of brown sugar. Add gradually 4 cups of sifted flour—and with the last cup of flour sift ½ teaspoon of soda and a teaspoon of cream of tartar. Add a teaspoon of vanilla and a cup of broken nut meats.

Knead this mixture into 2 loaves about 10 inches long and 1¼ inches thick. Let stand in refrigerator overnight. Slice very thin. Bake in a moderate oven 325 degrees F.

PEANUT BUTTER COOKIES: Cream 2 tablespoons butter and 1½ cups peanut butter with a cup of sugar. Add a well beaten egg, ½ cup milk alternately with the following sifted dry ingredients: 2 cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt and ½ teaspoon cinnamon.

When well mixed, chill. Turn out on a floured board. Knead lightly and roll into a very thin sheet. Sprinkle with granulated sugar, cut into rounds or fancy shapes and bake in a hot oven 375 degrees F.—until light brown.

Have you tried any of the very new Jellied Fish recipes? a jellied dish, in torrid weather, has a charm all its own; and many a scornful appetite can be softened to mellowness at the very sight of its quivering coolness.

Lemon is the natural complement of fish; you rarely serve any sort of fish without its quota of lemon slices. Thus, to get the necessary tartness in a jellied dish, you simply use a lemon flavored gelatine; and a French chef would glory in the result!

Molded crabmeat is an especial favorite of mine. One beautiful thing about it is that I can prepare it in the morning, and have a dinner fit for a king when I go home at night, with so very little additional preparation. These jellied dishes, I tell you, are a boon to the modern business woman, besides being a very decided boon to the modern digestive apparatus.

To prepare the molded crabmeat, first of all dissolve a packet of lemon gelatine in 1½ cups of boiling water. Add 3 tablespoons of vinegar and ½ teaspoon of salt. Chill. When slightly thickened, fold in 2 cups of shredded canned crabmeat, ¾ cup chopped celery, 2 tablespoons chopped pimento, a teaspoon of onion juice and ½ cup of cream mayonnaise. Turn into molds, and chill until firm.

Unmold on crisp lettuce. Garnish with dainty sprigs of parsley or mint and with stuffed olives—these for local color—and surround the jellied crabmeat with sweet pickles.

CREAMED HAM AND CAULIFLOWER—Cook a head of cauliflower whole; or, if you desire, cut a head of new cabbage in quarters, and cook it in boiling salted water until tender.

In the meantime, melt 3 tablespoons of butter, smooth into it 3½ cups of milk; season with a bit of pepper, a dash of paprika, and a teaspoon of minced parsley. When the cream sauce is smooth, add a can of deviled ham and stir until smooth and very hot. Pour over the cauliflower or cabbage and serve at once.

Left over ham may be minced and used in place of the deviled ham. This sauce may be served with other vegetables, such as asparagus, or as a variation from the usual creamed eggs.

SCRAMBLED EGGS AND FRANKFURTERS—Heat the frankfurters thoroughly in boiling water and then skin. Keep hot. Scramble the required number of eggs and place in a mound on a hot platter. Lay the frankfurters around the base of the mound. Sprinkle the eggs liberally with paprika to give color; garnish the platter with sprigs of parsley or a bit of watercress.

This is a cold dish which will be most acceptable for luncheon on a hot day. To a cup of chopped cooked ham add 2 cups cottage cheese which has been beaten until smooth. Shape into croquettes and roll in finely chopped nut meats. Serve on a salad plate with curly endive or lettuce.

LIVER AND RICE CASSEROLE—Wash 1 cup rice and add slowly to 1 quart boiling water seasoned with 1 teaspoon salt. Cook. When tender, add 2 tablespoons butter and a few grains pepper. Line a buttered casserole with the rice and set in a cool place until firm.

Cook 1 pound calves' liver gently in boiling salted water until tender; drain and chop fine. Melt 2 tablespoons butter or fat and blend with 2 tablespoons browned flour. Gradually add 2 cups heated soup stock, well seasoned, and stir until smooth. Add the chopped liver and turn into the rice-lined casserole. Cover with buttered crumbs and place in the oven to brown.

SALMON IN GREEN PEPPERS – Remove the stems and seeds from green peppers and soak them in salt water. Remove the bones and shred 1 can salmon.

Mix together with 2 tablespoons chopped pickles, 2 tablespoons chopped olives, 2 tablespoons chopped capers, and ¼ teaspoon salt.

Add enough mayonnaise to hold the mixture firmly together.

Fill the peppers and place on lettuce arranger in individual servings with the salad and sliced tomatoes.

PEAR CONSERVE—Run 2 lemons and an orange through the food chopper, using the coarse knife. Combine 5 cups of peeled and chopped pears, 2 cups of raisins, the orange and the lemon juice with 5 cups of sugar. Cook slowly until thick. Pour into hot sterilized glasses. Cover with melted paraffin wax and seal.

CITRON PRESERVES—Remove the rind from citron melon. Cut the melon in one-inch squares. Cover with warm water and cook slowly until tender. Drain. To each pound of melon add ½ cup raisins, ¼ melon sliced, a teaspoon of whole cloves, a stick of cinnamon and a cup of hot water.

Simmer slowly until thick and well flavored. Pour into sterilized glasses. Cover with melted paraffin.

CREAMED VEAL PATTIES—Cut veal from the leg into pieces sufficiently large for one serving, flatten with a potato masher or meat pounder. Spread each piece with ½ teaspoon minced green pepper, ½ teaspoon each minced onion and parsley and 1 strip of finely chopped bacon. Season with salt and pepper. Roll and tie securely or sew and brown in bacon drippings or butter. When well browned pour over milk to cover and simmer slowly for 1 hour. Thicken sauce with browned flour. Season to taste. The additions of a few mushrooms will add to the deliciousness of the gravy.

CANNED BERRIES—All kinds of berries should be canned as soon as possible after picking. Hull or stem them, place in strainer, and wash by lifting up and down in a pan of cold water. Pack in hot sterilized glass jars using care to not crush the fruit. To insure a close pack put in a two or three inch layer of berries, in the jar and press around gently with a spoon. Continue in this manner until the jar is filled. Boiling water or a boiling thin syrup should be poured over the fruit at once. Loosen seal and sterilize for 16 minutes in boiling water. Remove the jars, tighten the covers, but do not place them in a draft until they have cooled.

STRAWBERRY CHIFFON PIE—Beat the yolks of 6 eggs until light and creamy, then gradually beat into them a little at a time 1 cupful of sugar, and beat until smooth. Place in a double boiler and stir and cook slowly until the mixture thickens. Remove from the fire and add the stiffly beaten whites of the 6 eggs. Return to the double boiler and cook for two minutes longer, stirring until the whites are well mixed with the yolks. Remove from the fire, fold in two cupfuls of halved strawberries. Pour into a baked pie shell, place in a moderate oven and allow to brown.

CAKE FROSTING—Soak 1 teaspoonful of gelatine in 2 tablespoonfuls of cold water, place in the double-boiler 3 marshmallows and ½ cupful of hot milk, and cook until the marshmallows are melted, add the softened gelatine, and stir until dissolved. Pour into a bowl, add 2 tablespoonfuls of melted butter, and stir in enough sifted sugar to make stiff enough to spread, about 2½ to 3 cupfuls.

NO TROUBLE AT ALL NOW

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Has Benefited This Woman

Millions today are eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation.

The cause of constipation is the lack of roughage in food. Add sufficient roughage and constipation disappears. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is nearly all roughage.

Here is a letter from Mrs. H. Gilbert, 107 E. Knight Ave., Collingswood, N. J., which will be interesting to many sufferers:

"I had a very serious operation in October and when I came from the hospital my main trouble was constipation. One day I said to the doctor, 'I am going to eat ALL-BRAN,' and since I started I have no trouble whatever. So you see I can't praise it enough and am always telling my friends what it did for me."

You will enjoy the nut-like flavor of this delicious, ready-to-eat cereal. It is rich in iron, and when eaten with milk or fruit juices, adds important vitamins to the diet.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is an essential in any reducing diet. Your grocer has it in the red-and-green package. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

IT'S DIFFERENT

Yes—the Controlled-Temperature Process is expensive—

Certainly it cost us considerable money to install the wonderful "Controlled-Temperature Process" in the Puritan plants.

But—this every second watchfulness of the manufacturing process results in every batch of Puritan being up to specifications and like every other batch.

One reason why Puritan Malt is "different" is because it is absolutely the same—perfectly uniform everywhere—all the time.

—most all other brands give you less quantity than Puritan—the Puritan can holds 10% more than most.

BRIBE CHARGED TO 2 POLICE

Charges that two motorcycle policemen waived seizure of a truckload of whisky for a "fix" of $315, brought their suspension by Traffic Inspector Jacob Dorsey today. Both denied the charges.

The men are Harry Gordon and W. J. Kahout, who patrol the downtown district and boulevards at night on the lookout for auto law violators.

The charges upon which they were suspended originally were the "shaking down" of the Allies Garage, Forbes street. Dorsey later said the two men stopped a truckload of whisky belonging to Mark Epstein, formerly of the garage.

Dorsey said:

"Epstein says the arrest was fixed for $315. Then Epstein told me about it, demanding suspension of the officers. Both of the men deny the charges and say Epstein threatened to 'get' them. I have not had time to investigate the charges yet. Details will come out before the Police Trial Board Wednesday."

David Lutterman, of the Allies Garage, denied connection with the case.

Mistaken as Thug, Man Shot in Jaw

NORRISTOWN, Pa., July 25.—(AP.)—James Flood, 29, was shot in the lower jaw early today when, police said, he was mistaken for a burglar by George R. Simcox, proprietor of a store. Flood said he entered the rear yard of the candy store thinking it was his own backyard. Simcox was held by police, charged with the shooting.

Bought for 'a Song,' Village Celebrates

NEWTOWN, Conn., July 25.—(AP.)—This little Connecticut village of 2,631 population today observed the two hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary of its purchase "for and in consideration of various articles including four collars, 10 shirts and 10 pairs of stockings" from the Pootatuck Indians.

Firemen Relieved As Street Cleaners

STRATFORD, Conn., July 25.—(AP.)—Stratford firemen now can go back to their checker games between fires. The Town Council last night rescinded an order requiring the fire fighters to clean the town streets in their spare time.

Rumania Keeps Vigil To Safeguard Jews

BUCHAREST, Rumania, July 25.—(AP.)—The Ministry of the Interior kept in close touch today with the authorities of Bereshty, a town near Galatz, in Bessarabia, where a bazar was in progress and where Jewish leaders had asked protection.

HELD AS GEM THIEF

MAN ARRESTED AS GEM THIEF

Mt. Lebanon police are holding Frank Lawson, alias Frank Taylor, 45, 280 Shady avenue, East Liberty, on charges of robbing six houses of jewelry and other articles said to be worth thousands of dollars. Lawson is said to have confessed to the robberies after police, who arrested him yesterday in Lemoyne avenue, found missing articles and two revolvers on him, besides loot in his room in East Liberty.

Lawson's arrest followed complaint of Mrs. Mary Dudley, 238 Pennsylvania boulevard, Mt. Lebanon, that she had surprised a burglar in her house late yesterday afternoon. The robber fled. Policemen said he had just looted the home of C. H. Stolzenbach, 37 Lemoyne avenue. Shots were fired to stop his flight.

BOYS BUILD WEE LINKS, CASH IN

The most unique miniature golf course in the city has been established at Fifth avenue and Robinson street.

To construct it required five hours.

Five cents is the charge for nine holes play.

It was built and is being operated by 11 youngsters, ranging from 8 to 15 years of age, who call themselves the "Forty Thieves."

Tuesday the "Forty Thieves" ventured into the business world with only 10 cents. They bought two toy golf clubs.

The nine-hole outlay was made of bricks, stovepipes, cans, scrap iron and sand. Tuesday evening their earnings jumped to $5.45.

Tonight the "promoters" will hold a tournament, giving a bag of small clubs as the prize.

1 Killed, 2 Hurt in Stolen Car Crash

CHESTER, Pa., July 25.—(INS.)—While three men were attempting to escape in an alleged stolen car today one man was killed and the two others were seriously injured when the car crashed into another automobile here. The dead man was Louis Pfeiffer, 25. The injured were Clyde Teague, 24, and Hubert Lewis, 21, all of Chester.

'Ape Man' Frightens Dairy Farm Women

MEDIA, Pa., July 25.—(INS.)—Frantic complaints of frightened housewives of the Wawa dairy farm three miles west of here of an ape-like man who hurls stones through the windows and doors of their dwellings aroused the state police today.

DRYS' PRISONER HURT IN FLIGHT

A handcuffed Negro leaped from an automobile in an effort to escape from federal prohibition agents near Finleyville early today.

He was captured again, badly cut and bruised from his jump, and brought to a hospital here where his injuries were dressed.

He then was arraigned before a United States commissioner and held for Federal Court charged with violating the liquor laws. He gave his name as James Thigpen, of Cokeburg, Washington County.

Agents testified they caught him transporting five gallons of moonshine liquor in an automobile.

Customer Ownership

—a Logical Step in Newspaper Enterprise

Fifteen years ago the plan of employe-customer ownership first gained its foothold in this country in the public utility field. Now it is virtually universal among the public service corporations. This plan of financing is an established success in Great Britain.

It is not new in the publishing business. Several outstanding publishing concerns have adopted it. After several years' study of this plan, William Randolph Hearst became convinced of its value and benefits to all concerned. In consequence opportunity is now afforded to purchase

ENGINEERS FIGHT BIG WATER PERMITS

8 Held, Others Sought, After Liquor Raids

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

Louis Giesenkamp, the cashier of Traffic Court, frequently falls for bad checks for $1 in payment of tags and he handles hundreds every day, but he can't change a dollar . . . The battle cry of the hot-dog barkers at Forbes Field, who make a penny on each of 'em, is: "Get hungry!" . . .

In Havana they read novels to cigar wrappers during working hours. . . Fred Wertenbach, Ed Ballinger and Charley Doyle, the three baseball writers who travel with the Pirates, all write poetry. . . The late John Goettmann, the restaurateur, owned one of the first automobiles in Pittsburgh. . . Ginger ale costs so much more in hotels because you pay for the wallpaper that is splashed with the stuff after the first few bottles. . . .

Pennsylvania Railroad employes will tell you that what's just about the oddest name on the Pullman cars on the P. R. R. is "Canandaigua." . . . Did you know that there are Pullman cars named "East Liberty," "Homewood," "Wilkinsburgh," "Edgewood," "Swissvale," "Manor," "Jeannette" and "Greensburg"? No, you didn't.

While the folks at R. B. Mellon's Fifth avenue home sleep, three men stay awake and prowl about the house all night long. . . .

When the Alan Magee Scaifes (Sarah Cordelia Mellon) started to think about their European trip, they sent to Newark, N. J., where he was recuperating, for Charles W. Cooper, long a resident of the Homewood district, to "watch" their home. . . .

Pittsburgh postoffice people can tell you that the Jugo-slavia postoffice is probably the most thoroughgoing because it sends more mail directly to Pittsburgh than any other . . . the bags aren't opened at the seaports. . . .

We have never seen in print an analysis of pineapple upside down, which is a dessert. The dish consists of pineapple inserted in a cake. After the cake is baked you turn it over and there, staring you in the face, is pineapple upside down—thus the name. We write of pineapple upside down only because we should like to know who named the dished. In the public square there should be a monument to that ingenious person. We feel a campaign coming on.

Believing in what she preaches, Miss Mercedes Dumm, the Ellwood City brunet who dispenses air travel information at the William Penn Hotel for Pittsburgh Airways and connecting routes, is packing her parachute for an aerial vacation trip hither and thither between Cleveland and points east.

A South Hills woman who is sensitive about the condition of her new runabout car was worried by a peculiar knock which developed. She submitted the motor to expert mechanics, who gave it a thorough overhauling. Everybody was ready to give up in disgust when one of the experts, in an idle moment, found a set of bath scales jumping about in the rumble seat. This proved to be the knock. The moral is obvious.

Will Rogers Says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 25.

You don't hear so much of prohibition lately. Just drinking for the novelty of the thing has about wore off, and the ones that really liked it and decided to adopt it seriously have just settled down to steady drinking and are keeping pretty quiet about it.

The House of Commons indorsed the naval treaty without the Norris amendment, which said, "If there is any catch in this that we can't see, why, it don't go." The British said, "If there is anything in it and we can't see it before we sign, why that's our fault."

Yours,
WILL.

POLICE LED TO STILL BY RIOT CALL

Dry Agents and Constables Active; Crowd Tries to Block Arrests on Hill

Four men were held today as a result of a raid in the Hill district, four other persons were under arrest following raids by state constables, and city police were seeking other suspects as the aftermath of a raid on a "vacant" house in Oakland.

Joseph Williams, Abe Slain, F. J. Skippen and Howard Smith, arrested by prohibition agents in a raid at 1410 Clark street, after they locked themselves in the place when warned the agents were coming, reports said, were being held for the grand jury.

REPORT BEER SEIZED

The agents said they confiscated 90 pints of beer and a gallon of whisky after smashing the glass in the door the four men locked. A large crowd gathered during the raid and interfered with them, the agents declared.

John Thomas, of 440 South Graham street; Max Stepanik, of 243 Hogan's alley, and John Suro and Mrs. Pauline Schwartz, of Seavey road, Millvale, were reported arrested by constables after liquor was confiscated in raids.

FIND STILL RUNNING

Oakland police were seeking the occupants of the "vacant" house at 2 Dover street, in which they found a 150-gallon still in operation when they answered a riot call from that address.

Residents said a score of men who had been fighting, broke and ran when the police approached. Two shots were fired during the fight, the police said they were told.

MIFFLIN TOWN HALL STARTED

Construction of a new municipal building for Mifflin Township at Homeville was under way today, ground having been broken for the structure yesterday. The building, to be located at Green Springs avenue and Eastman street, is expected to cost $33,000.

Plans call for a two-story brick structure to contain commissioners' rooms, police station, courtroom, offices of justices of the peace, township secretary and engineers.

The township has been without a municipal building since last July when the section containing a municipal structure was annexed to Munhall.

Falls From Window Of Apartment, Dies

Howard Riddell, 33, of Union and Mifflin avenues, Wilkinsburg, died in Columbia Hospital from a fractured skull at 2 a. m. today, two hours after he fell from a window of his second floor apartment.

Mrs. Riddell told police they were preparing to retire when they heard what they believed to be shots in the street below, and when her husband ran to the window, he lost his balance and fell out.

Man's Premonition Of Death Borne Out

His premonition of a sudden death came true when Walter E. Godfrey, 53, a polish manufacturer, dropped dead in the bathroom of the home of Mrs. P. Blish, of 1701 Brownsville road, where he lived, early today.

Mrs. Blish told morgue officials Godfrey had been ill and recently told her he feared he would die suddenly. Death was pronounced due to heart disease.

Bandits Take $160 In South Side Store

Four men, two of them armed, walked into the store of Sam Socknich, at 2909 Carson street, at 6:30 a. m. today, held up the proprietor and robbed him of $160. Returning to the street, they entered an automobile and drove away in the direction of Hays.

Raquel Enjoys Freedom Near End of Journey

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Raquel Rojos is on a train headed for Phoenix, Ariz., the first lap of her journey to New York. She is fleeing from Bill Johnson, the rich man to whom she was engaged in the border town of Hermosa—and from her father's wrath. His wrath has been aroused because Raquel has fallen in love with Jack Farrell, a handsome young engineer. Farrell has advanced her money for the trip East. On the train, Raquel, confident of her power over men, decides to charm the conductor into forgetting to collect her fare, after she has found that he has no change for the hundred-dollar bill that she has offered him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER IX.

Raquel began to suspect Phoenix, Ariz., was somewhere at the other end of the world.

Had she been on the train hours or years? The latter seemed more probable. Her weary muscles rebelled against her reluctance to flex them, to move about and give them stretching room. Caution told her such a course would bring down upon her the unwelcome attention she had thus far avoided.

She had decided at length that even smirks and stares would be preferable to the growing discomfort of inactivity when the conductor brisked in at the far end of the car and made a business-like survey of passengers.

"We must be getting into Phoenix," Raquel concluded. The conductor fairly reeked of official capacity. Made a great show of getting his house in order. She felt for her roll of bills, the money loaned to her by Farrell. They were safe in her blouse.

"Pretty long trip, ain't it?" The conductor stopped by her seat.

She fluttered heavy white lids. Her smile was wistful, confiding.

"It's the first real train ride I've ever taken," she said in an awed voice. "I like it. And I feel quite safe, knowing you are back and forth all the way."

More Praise

Conductor Forgets to Collect Fare

The conductor smacked a cloud of white dust from his frayed blue sleeve, yanked nervously at his shiny black tie.

"I been lookin' out for yuh, miss," he admitted. "Can't never tell when some o' them cowmen'll git fresh."

"I knew you would," she nodded, her eyes covering him with a warm wave of gratitude. "That's why I felt so safe. You've been so kind to me."

The conductor whacked the dust from the other sleeve.

"Changed your mind about where you was goin'?" he asked, with an attempt to be jocular.

"You mean about the end of the world?" She shared his mood. "Mercy, no. Aren't we there already? We should be—we're so long on the way."

He regarded her quizzically.

We've only come as far as I told you, Phoenix," he said. And added in a tone meant to be confidential: "Are you going to stay long in Phoenix?"

Her eyes caught his, held them fast. He tried to escape the gleam through the black velvet curtains of her eyes. The gleam of a candle shining through a dark window in a house of mystery. Made a man feel queer as all get out. Funny. Nice little girl like her with such queer eyes.

"I—don't know." The pupils of her eyes dilated, contracted. That mountain cat he had tried to tame had just such eyes. "But I will never forget—how good you've been to me."

Raquel Fearful

Afraid of Being Taken Back Home

Jehosaphat! He was out on the back platform again and he'd be consarned if he knew how he got there. Well, he was short one fare. He didn't have the face to go back and ask her for some of the money she had probably saved, penny, by penny. After the way she'd praised him. He hoped there wasn't a "spotter" for the road in the car. It might mean his job. And jobs were scarcer than hen's teeth in this man's country.

Raquel, concealing an impish smile behind her fur collar was saying:

"I knew I could do it. I had him so he didn't know his heels from his head. It was a shame. He's really a big baby . . . I mean booby. I'm glad I did it, though. I save my money . . . Jack's money. And it keeps me in practice."

The impish smile burbled into a laugh, no sooner born than suppressed.

Raquel was visualizing the conductor, out there on the back platform, scratching his head with a blunt thumb and forefinger.

In Phoenix, first goal of her worldly dreams, Raquel did not leave the station. She selected an inconspicuous seat in the waiting room where she could see without being seen; buried her face between the pages of a paper bought without care of

BERTHA TEACHING A CLASS OF CHILDREN IN THE CENTRAL PRESBYTERIAN MISSION

Is she the busiest girl in Pittsburgh? Bertha, 2222 Second avenue, from 5:30 to 9 a. m. tends a store, teaches a class in the afternoons, and then from 4:30 to 5:30 each day sells newspapers at the Soho entrance to Jones and Laughlin mills. Otherwise, she's idle.

ALIEN FACING DEPORTATION

John Sotak, 29, a Hungarian, wishing to immigrate from Canada and join his brother in McKeesport, did so without formality, it was said, of asking permission of the government.

He crossed the Detroit River at Detroit in a rowboat and went to McKeesport, arriving December 6, 1929, it is claimed. On Wednesday he was taken into custody by the immigration authorities for alleged illegal entry into the United States.

Yesterday after a hearing before Immigration Inspector William Marshall, he was released under $1,500 bond, pending warrants for deportation from the Department of Labor.

Man Hurt by Truck Sues for $25,000

His shoulder crushed between a tractor and a truck, James M. Burns, of Hampton Township, has filed suit in Common Pleas Court for $25,000 damages against Ambrose Huber, also of Hampton Township. He says that on June 10 Huber was using a tractor to tow a stalled truck, and when the tractor stalled, asked Burns to uncouple the machines. As he stepped between them to do Huber's bidding, he says, the tractor was suddenly backed up, catching him between the machines.

Pennsy to Start New Chicago Train

A passenger train running from Pittsburgh to Chicago in 10 hours and 15 minutes will be inaugurated by the Pennsylvania Railroad Monday morning. The new flyer will leave here at 8:15 a. m. It will carry the latest type parlor cars, diner and coaches. The train, one of the fastest on the system, will arrive in Chicago at 5:30 p. m., making the entire trip by daylight.

Bucket Brigade Saves Home From Fire

Quick response by a bucket brigade probably saved the home of John Fink, of Jacks Runs road, from destruction by fire early today. The Bellevue fire department was summoned, but by the time firemen arrived the brigade had extinguished the blaze, which was confined to the living room of the residence. A lighted cigaret dropped between cushions of a sofa caused the blaze, firemen reported. Damage was estimated at $400.

FOUR HOLD UP CONFECTIONER

Sam Soknich, who operates a confectionery store at 2909 Carson street, South Side, was held up and robbed this morning shortly after he had opened the store for the day's business.

Four young men, two of them armed, entered the store and commanded Soknich to raise his hands. The men then took $83 from his pocket and $70 from a cigar box under the counter. They fled in a waiting machine and disappeared on Carson street, going east toward the Glass Run road. Leo Olup, of 2619 McCord street, a passerby, witnessed the holdup and called police.

Purchasing Agents Plan for Meeting

The Pittsburgh Purchasing Agents' Association will be host to purchasing agents from eight Ohio cities at the annual convention of the sixth district, National Association of Purchasing Agents, October 16 and 17. R. W. Mackensen heads a committee planning for the convention.

GIRL TEACHER'S DAYS BUSY

Bertha Korpa, 14, daughter of Andrew Korpa, of Second avenue, wastes none of her day. At 5:30 in the morning she opens her father's confectionery store, also on Second avenue, and stays there until her father arrives around 8:30 or 9. But this is only the beginning of her busy day. From 9 until 12 each morning, except Saturday and Sunday, during the month of July, she teaches the younger children at the co-operative summer school of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches, at the corner of Forbes and Seneca streets. Her afternoon in helping her father in his store.

"I help in the afternoon," said Bertha, "and mother gets the dinner."

When asked if she did anything else during the day, she said she also sold papers at the gate of the Jones & Laughlin mill.

Bertha attends the Fifth Avenue High School. She is taking commercial work.

LINE TAPPING PROTESTED SINCE 1900

Lang Now Asserts Squirrel Hill Shortage Caused by Use of Lawn Sprinklers

The New King Edward Apartments building is only one of six huge consumers of water tapped into the Squirrel Hill water main over the protests of the Bureau of Water Engineers, according to the report of James H. Kennon, superintendent of water distribution, to Director of Public Works Edward G. Lang.

These consumers were granted permits to tap the main despite the objections of the bureau engineers, according to Kennon's report: Carnegie Library and Schenley Hotel, both granted in 1900; Schenley Apartments, granted December 18, 1922, by Charles A. Finley, then public works director; Webster Hall, granted August, 1926, and the King Edward Apartments, granted April 11, 1930, both by Director Lang, and the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, granted February 27, 1928, by Charles M. Reppert, acting for Director Lang.

Kennon's report says no particulars are available on the Carnegie Library and Schenley Hotel grants.

BLAMES SPRINKLERS

When interviewed Wednesday afternoon, Director Lang declared use of lawn sprinklers was responsible for the lowered water pressure in Squirrel Hill.

Airing the the water situation came as a result of the complaint of William McCune, of Scott and McCune, Frick building, that John McSorley, builder of the New King Edward Apartments, Craig and Bayard streets, had obtained a permit through political influence to tap the Squirrel Hill water main.

This, McCune charged, lowered the pressure so much that Squirrel Hill residents were forced to visit country clubs to bathe and shave. Water was not available in basements to do the family washing during the recent heat wave, McCune said.

DONE FOR OTHERS

Director Lang said that what has been done for the new apartment building has been done for others.

He said yesterday in a formal statement:

"We did there what we will do, and have done, for every citizen who tries to advance the welfare of the city by building."

The city is now laying a new water main on Beacon street from Schenley Park. When this is completed, unless it also is tapped for big consumers in lower locations, Squirrel Hill will be amply supplied with water.

CIGAR MAKER ASKS $50,000

Claiming he is not a "spit tipping cigarmaker," Jacob M. Kartub, who rolls perfectos by hand at 1003 Carson street, has filed suit in Common Pleas Court for $50,000 damages against the American Cigar Company.

Kartub claims a picture was printed of him at his work in an advertisement of the company in many large newspapers with reading matter citing him as using spit in making cigars.

He says that last July 16 the American Cigar Company sent a photographer to his shop and asked to take his picture to be used in a series of industrial pictures so the old style of rolling cigars by hand could be shown. He said he submitted to the picture in good faith, but says the publication of it in the advertisements in the manner presented is false, scandalous and defamatory, and have brought him into contempt and hurt his earning power. He says he rolls cigars of dampened tobacco and never uses spit.

Ambridge Audience Calm At Threat of Fire

Although fearing a fire was imminent, persons attending a show in the Ambridge Theater, Merchant avenue, Ambridge, quit the building without the slightest sign of disorder or disturbance last night, Ambridge police said.

Two reels of film remained to be shown at the last performance when the film caught fire in the projection room. A sudden flash gave warning to the audience to leave the building. The damage was estimated at $600.

In passing out of the theater patrons were returned their tickets, according to the police.

RIVER AND POOL CLAIM LIVES OF TRIO

Bodies of Young Men Taken From Allegheny; Child Loses Her Life at Picnic

Two youths and a little girl were dead today, drowned while swimming, according to police reports. The youths had been swimming in the Allegheny River. The girl was drowned in a pool in Upper St. Clair Township.

Alexander Conawall, 19, of 657 Linden avenue, East Pittsburgh, had been swimming in the river near Nadine station. Frank Jefferies and Ollie Shepherd, of Blawnox, fellow bathers, recovered the body a short time after he disappeared. Police worked over him half an hour, but were unable to revive him.

Tarentum police recovered the body of William Harris, 21, of Mars, drowned near Tarentum. Other persons saw him go down, but were unable to aid him, it was said.

Clara Koerner, 8, of 209 China street, was drowned in Paris Lake, Upper St. Clair Township, while attending a picnic with her father, Fred C. Koerner. John Seits, of the Dormont fire department, tried to revive the child with an inhalator.

Senator Also Silent on Choice Of Successor to Gosser In Postmastership Here

United States Senator David A. Reed is home after his successful fight for the ratification of the London naval treaty but he declined to comment on politics or his choice of a successor for Postmaster George W. Gosser.

Replying to questions, Senator Reed said:

"I've been away six months and am not prepared to discuss the postmastership. I will stay here until Saturday and may have something to say later."

Senator Reed said he and Mrs. Reed were planning to spend the month of August in Kennebec, Me. He declared:

"We've not had a vacation in 16 years."

W. A. Kenyon, postoffice inspector, with headquarters in Washington, has been in charge of the Pittsburgh office since the retirement, July 1, of former Postmaster George W. Gosser.

James B. Anderson, assistant postmaster, and M. J. Shortly, manager of the local U. S. Veterans' Bureau, are prominently mentioned for the post.

KEEPS UP FIGHT OVER ALIMONY

Contesting orders of County Court, sustained by the Superior Court, requiring him to pay his wife $4,500 back alimony and $300 a month or go to jail for contempt of court, Michael Berardino, New Kensington business man, has petitioned the State Supreme Court for an appeal from the Superior Court. Justice Robert S. Fraser granted a rule to show cause why the appeal should not be allowed.

The cases are those of Mrs. Marguerite Cancelliere Berardino, separated wife of Berardino, against him, one to compel him to pay the back alimony and the other opposing his move to have the amount reduced. County Court Judge R. A. Kennedy had refused to go into a hearing on the latter case until Berardino paid at least $2,000 of his arrearage and on his failing to do this, sentenced him to jail for contempt of court. Instead of being locked up, Berardino was allowed to be held in a room at the William Penn Hotel until he could post $10,000 bond.

SEEK FLEAGLE IN MURDER

TORONTO, July 25.—(AP.)—Police investigating the slaying of Philip Rumbold, wealthy real estate operator, of Tonawanda, N. Y., have announced they were hunting William Tarrison (Jake) Fleagle, who is wanted on a murder charge in Colorado.

They gave no reason for seeking the man beyond the statement that citizens of Hamilton reported having seen Fleagle there Monday afternoon shortly before Rumbold was supposed to have met an unidentified man in Hamilton. Rumbold's body was found Tuesday in his automobile near Port Credit, Ont. He had been strangled and beaten to death.

Fleagle, known also by the aliases of Holden, Baker, Reed, Wilson and Barnett, is wanted in Colorado on a charge of slaying four persons in a bank robbery. Three of his alleged accomplices, including his brother, Ralph, have been executed.

SMITHFIELD ST. BRIDGE AFLAME

The Smithfield Street Bridge yesterday had as many fires as a youngster has measles, and scattered as sporadically. Firemen and motorcycle policemen were compelled to halt traffic many times during the afternoon and early evening, while they rushed with buckets of water from one burning spot to another.

Patrolman James Scanlon explained that the wood, dried by the hot sun, acted as tinder. Flames appeared where the friction of wood against wood was agitated by traffic vibration.

Firemen Michael Ogerdoski and Lee Nathan, of No. 30 Engine Company, and Motorcycle Patrolman Arthur Baker were stationed on the bridge. They carried the water from the bridge ends in buckets from large containers placed at both ends of the span. Part of the walk for pedestrians was blocked for hours as planks were ripped up after the blazes weakened them.

BUTLER AWAITS NOBILITY'S O. K.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Fiorvanti Del'Agnese, butler and major domo at the British Embassy, today was awaiting hopefully word that his fiancee, Miss Gytha Stourton, daughter of Britain's proudest nobility, had reconciled her family to their impending marriage.

Miss Stourton, great-granddaughter of the fourteenth Duke of Norfolk and cousin of Baron Esme Howard of Penrith, should arrive at her English home today or tomorrow.

Del'Agnese, obviously employed in a capacity far below what his education entitles him, was butler to Sir Esme when the latter was ambassador to Rome and later when he came to the United States. Del'Agnese will remain with Sir Ronald Lindsay, the present ambassador, until the new embassy is completely organized domestically.

The Italian, tall, handsome and distinguished looking, told International News Service today it was unfortunate the story of his romance with the English girl had leaked out. He declared he did not know when his fiancee would return to the United States, or when the marriage would take place.

David M. Lentz

DAVID S. LENTZ, first sergeant, U. S. M. C., East Liberty: I don't think it will. It's against human nature to be ever - peaceful, and I think there will always be war. The naval treaty might lessen it, but not prevent it.

Soost Pledges Ban on Fixing of Auto Tags

ENFORCEMENT PLANNED TO AID SAFETY

Drastic Efforts Promised At Testimonial Dinner To New Traffic Engineer

Pledges that "fixing is at an end" in the traffic court and police departments were made by Magistrate William J. Soost and Assistant Superintendent Ben Marshall last night at a dinner of the Pittsburgh Motor Club to Lewis W. McIntyre, newly-appointed city traffic engineer.

Magistrate Soost said that in spite of the fact that he is ward and city chairman of the Republican party, as well as traffic court magistrate, he will ignore the demands of friends for favors while the campaign to clear the streets of accidents and reduce fatalities is on. Marshall replied that with the assistance of the traffic organizations of the city, the police department would see that the campaign would continue "from now on."

WILL ENFORCE LAWS

"I intend to enforce the traffic laws with common sense," Magistrate Soost said, "but there are two offenders who will get no sympathy—those who disregard the red lights and those who drive cars while under the influence of liquor. These are two violations that must be halted.

"However, I do not intend to allow my friends to use me during this campaign to halt death and injuries due to reckless driving. I cannot, in this case, allow the fact that I am ward and city chairman to interfere."

McIntyre urged a "new order of self-restraint" upon motorists, explaining that the "obstinate, quarrelsome attitude is the cause of many accidents." He said the various motor organizations were asking council to pass the new automobile code, formulated by a national commission appointed by President Hoover.

"The code will do away with all those antedated automobile laws," he said, "such as the one forbidding a driver to stand up while driving. It will mean, too, that uniform laws will govern motorists in this and other cities of the nation."

SPEAK ON SAFETY

John Rice, president of the Motor club, was chairman. The dinner was held in the Keystone Athletic Club.

Men interested in the solution of the traffic problems and the prevention of injury and death to motorists and pedestrians, spoke on the efforts to keep the streets clear, as well as safe.

Frank L. Duggan, chairman of the Better Traffic Committee; Walter Rosenbaum, sub-chairman; Dr. T. H. Heard, Jr., past president of the club; Neil Swanson and Alex Zehner, newspaper editors, made informal talks.

The spokesmen expressed their appreciation of the work of the city's newspapers in presenting the facts about safety and traffic progress.

WILL NOT SAVE JOBS FOR EXTRAS

Defeat of Six-Day Week Means Furlough for 300; Many Veterans to Suffer

By a majority vote of 129, more than 2,000 motormen and conductors of the Pittsburgh Railways Company yesterday defeated a proposal to cut their working schedule from seven to six days a week in order to save the jobs of 300 men on the "extra list." The vote was 1,185 against the proposal and 1,056 in its favor.

Result of the balloting, held in the various car barns, was made known at a meeting in a hall at 1901 Fifth avenue last night. Among speakers were officers of Division No. 185, Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes of America, of which William White is president. P. J. McGrath, secretary, and Joseph Thomas, business agent. They were quoted by members of the division as being disappointed by the result of the vote.

There are nearly 2,800 conductors and motormen employed by the railways company, of whom about 600 are on the extra list. Some of these men are said to have been with the company 12 years. They claim that they get only an occasional day's work, while older men having regular runs work seven days a week.

MOTHER ASKS SANITY TEST

Mrs. Olive Stills, said to be well-to-do, of Cleveland, has petitioned court to appoint a sanity commission to examine her son, Edgar Peach, 26, who escaped from the Ohio State Penitentiary at Columbus, following the disastrous fire six months ago.

Peach is being held in the County Jail awaiting trial on a charge of attempted holdup in this city. After being arrested it was discovered he was one of those who escaped during the riot.

The mother's petition, presented by Attorney W. H. Coleman, set forth that her son's acts, she believes, are due rather to mental weakness than to criminal intent.

When only 8 he was sent to St. Mary's Institute in Baltimore, the mother told Judge S. H. Gardner. Subsequently he was an inmate of the Pennsylvania Training School, Morganza, and the reformatory at Mansfield, O.

On January 6, 1923, the petition avers, Peach was committed to Ohio penitentiary for 25 years on a robbery charge. During the fire and subsequent riots he conducted himself in such a manner that he was made a "trusty." While enjoying unusual freedom in the prison he escaped.

Judge Gardner reserved decision on accepting the petition because of wording of the act in such cases which stipulates that the jail warden or other responsible person must request a sanity commission. Coleman told the court that Dr. C. J. Ellis, jail physician, believes the prisoner sane.

BAPTIST GROUP ELECTS TODAY

Election of officers and the moderator's address were to be the feature of today's session of the thirty-eighth annual session of the Allegheny Baptist General Association which opened yesterday in Bethany Baptist Church, Tioga street, and ends today.

Yesterday's session was featured by the passage of a motion made by the Rev. C. A. Ward, pastor of the Central Church, that the association be given complete financial reports of the members. In urging this action the Rev. Mr. Ward pointed to the recent loss of Monumental Baptist Church to satisfy debts of $45,000. The 90 churches of the association should have been financially able to save the one member, he declared.

The Rev. G. E. Sallie is moderator of the association. Other officers are: Recording secretary, the Rev. James C. Allen; corresponding secretary, the Rev. W. A. Mason; chairman of the board, the Rev. W. R. Brown.

Two Men Arrested After Cars Crash

Dean Fiscus, 26, of Apollo, and Frank Circurello, 21, of Verona, were arrested early today after the automobile of Fiscus was in collision with Circurello's truck at Oliver avenue and Wood street. They were charged with reckless driving. Elizabeth Jackson, 23, of Apollo, a passenger in Fiscus' car, was slightly injured, but declined medical attention offered by police.

TELL IT TO SALLY

By SALLY MARTIN

How Should a Girl Treat Married Admirer?

What is Meredith to do about Romeo? That's the big question before the house today. She has tried everything but dynamite but she can't seem to get him out of her life.

Why does she want to get him out?

For a large number of reasons, first of which is the fact that Romeo is already married to another good lady. But for "auld lang syne" to do it. He just got mad and grabbed himself a wife one afternoon because Meredith had refused to elope with him.

And now he's back and how he loves that girl!

Being a Big Bold Boss with a towering physique and oodles of it, he just thrills Meredith to the marrow—though she vows she's doing her darndest to put him out of her life.

"He's the type that gets what he goes after," she wails, "and for the first time in my life I find myself not able to manage a Mere Man. What shall I do?"

So if you want to see what happens when a caveman gets cavish, read on.

WOMAN'S PLAINT

"Dear Sally:

"What can I do? For four years I devoted my time and affection to one boy. A very fine lad with lofty morals and splendid morals. We were in love and planned to get married as soon as he was financially able. Our families seemed pleased, and we were happy in our youthful dreams. But as the time went on our interests changed and we grew apart. I went away for a while and didn't think that I felt the same toward him when I returned, and he did several little things that hurt me terribly.

"We saw less and less of each other until eventually I practically forgot that he was alive. Then one day he came over to the interior decorators where I worked and he asked me to elope with him that afternoon. I treated the matter as a huge joke and said that I couldn't go because I was going to the football game. So that same day he went and married another girl.

ROMEO COMES BACK

"I treated this as something to expect from a fool man—declaring his love for one girl and marrying another all in the same day. And for two years, I was quite happy, as I have many men friends, and don't ever take any of them seriously—just have a good time as I see fit—Until—

"Several month ago this young Romeo came back into my life—and insists on remaining there. Now don't just tell me to 'send him away' because I've tried everything but dynamite. The thing that particularly worries me is that he has a terrible effect on me. He is a huge man with a forceful personality. The type that gets what he goes after, and frankly, for the first time in my life I can't manage a mere man.

He thrills me to the marrow and is 10 times more attractive to me than he was before—perhaps because now he is unattainable. But what am I to do?

He says he wants me and is going to have me. And I secretly vow that I will not have a love affair with a man to whom I was once engaged. He seems to have all his moral sense and even talks of getting a divorce. And although I realize that I do love him and would marry him tomorrow if he were single, I don't believe in taking happiness by making another woman miserable. But he won't leave me alone.

"I have appealed to his love for me and told him that he had no right to make me so unhappy and disturbed and that disloyalty to the woman who bears his name is not commendable or honorable. He'll promise to stay away but will come back in a few weeks. All this is nearly driving me crazy, and I can't seem to do anything about it.

If you can help me I can't tell you how grateful I'll be. Why are so many men like that anyway? Now I ask you, what is the matter with them, and why can't they leave us girls to get along happily without them? And what in the world shall I do? I'm nearly crazy.

MEREDITH."

What'll you do, Sister?

Well, taking a big drink of cold water might help. Because it's you and not Romeo who needs fixing.

You think he's to blame for all your trouble, but you're wrong. Romeo couldn't bother you for five minutes if you didn't let him.

The truth is that you're all hopped up with the "Cave Man" blues . . . and deep down in your heart you're anything but disturbed by Romeo's attentions. Deep down in your heart you think that all this lally-gagging you're complaining of is just too romantic for words . . . and you're scared to death for fear this piece of fish-bait'll take you at your word and quit "annoying" you!

Why do men act like that?" They act like that because you let 'em, sister!

Those are the facts, sister. I'd advise you to take a straight look at 'em and cut out the dramatics. If you really want to break another woman's heart and mess up your own life by playing around with this two-timer—hop to it, but don't come twittering to me that he dragged you into it. And if you don't want him loafing on your doorstep—kick him off! And then pick something that runs more to brains and less to round steak.

Dissipation Mars Feminine Beauty as Clouds Do Sky, Says Fay King

NIGHT LIFE AND DISSIPATION SOON CHANGE THE PRETTIEST GIRL
SOME GROW COARSE
OTHERS BEGIN TO WILT AND LOOK WEAK AND FADED
FAY-KING

By FAY KING.

It is sad to see how soon dissipation leaves its mark upon the prettiest girls.

It either coarsens them or crushes them.

They themselves seem to think they have improved, just because they feel so at home in smoky night clubs and have attained a certain poise of sophistication.

But it is not the same charm that belongs to wholesome beauty.

Recently I saw a certain very pretty girl for the first time. Here it seemed the dissipations I knew of had left no mark. But it had to those who knew her better:

"She's not nearly as pretty as she was a couple of years ago. She's hitting the booze too hard," they said.

But they haven't the courage to say that to her.

Love's Reawakening

Continuation of Lovers Awakening

Lillian Arrives at Farmhouse

Lillian was coming down the stairs as I rushed into the farmhouse, and there was nothing in her appearance to warrant the uneasiness with which I had invested her premature arrival. Her face was serene, her eyes smiling, but I knew her poise so well that my fears were not at all dispelled by her composure.

Junior had raced ahead of me into the house and flung himself upon her.

"Where is Marion?" he demanded.

"She isn't here," she told him. "She isn't out of school yet. But she will be here pretty soon, and Uncle Harry has something for you. He's out in the barn now, talking to Jim. If you hurry, you can catch him."

"Come on, Rod," Junior shouted. "Uncle Harry always brings the niftiest things."

"I always maintained that men have their uses," Lillian said, looking after the running boys. Then she turned back to me and grinned companionably. "Lo old dear. Katherine tells me you're standing the strain wonderfully. Ah! Mary, that's the first color I've seen in your cheeks for weeks."

"You mean the first that didn't come out of a box," Mary told her with a gamin-like grin.

"Corrected," Lillian admitted. "But this today is a pippin. Better run upstairs and let Noel see it before it fades, or Katherine makes him take his nap."

"I'll just do that little thing," Mary said so casually that I had hard work to believe it was the same voice which so shortly before had brokenly told me of Noel's inexplicable actions. But I noticed that as she ran up the stairs her hand went out now and again and gripped the balustrade as if for support, and I knew that behind her gallant front were nervous tremors.

Lillian's eyes followed mine, and when Mary was beyond earshot, she murmured:

"Those letters are still bothering them. I'll wager. Have you figured out anything yet?"

My answer was in the same low tones.

"No, but Mary told me about them this morning. I want to talk to you and Katherine about them as soon as possible."

"You'll have to make it snappy, old dear," she retorted, "for we're only down for the day, and we've been waiting for you two hours now. If we'd had any idea in which direction to look we'd have followed you, but all anybody knew was that you were going for Christmas greens, and that the Dicky-bird had gone hunting with the two older boys."

"Margaret! My mother-in-law's voice sounded imperatively from upstairs, "did you see that performance in the car just now?"

"No, mother, what performance?" I asked with apparent innocence, although a backward glance as I ran up the steps in search of Lillian had given me an idea of what she meant.

"I would have called you before," she said, ignoring my answer as she generally does when she is in what Dicky calls "the full pursuit of a subject," but I wasn't dressed and though I called through the window nobody paid any attention to me. I thought the sight would leave my eyes. Richard Second and Roderick, yes and Mary, too, climbed through the windows of the car and hung from the roof until they got a place for their feet on the fenders and then they jumped. Richard Second nearly slipped once. If he had he'd have broken his neck. What were you doing that you weren't attending to them, and what were they trying to do, anyway?"

"The bottom of the car is piled full of Christmas holly," I told her, "and I suppose they didn't want to get scratched and were in too much of a hurry to wait for anyone to unload the car first. I think it must have looked worse to you, mother, than it really was. They all are quite used to climbing, you know."

"You ought not say that," she reminded me caustically, "after that fall of Richard Second's from a tree."

"But this wasn't nearly so dangerous a climb as that," I explained patiently. "But I'll speak to the boys very seriously."

"Humph!" my mother-in-law snorted. "You mean you will if you get time from your precious Christmas holly. I do declare, Margaret, I sometimes think you wouldn't care if the whole family died and the house burned up, just so you could go out and bring in a mess of green trash to clutter up the house with."

She turned and swept majestically toward her room, closing the door emphatically after her. Lillian raised her hands toward heaven and shook them with an exasperated gesture which gave me an amused—and relieved laugh.

"And the cream of that joke is," she whispered, "that no one in the house enjoys the Christmas greens as does that same cantankerous old woman. But enough of her. Come on upstairs. I would have speech with thee."

She slipped her hand through my arm and we went upstairs together. I inwardly shaking with apprehension. I knew what busy days these were for my friend and that she would not have taken a whole one to come down to the farmhouse if something of the utmost importance was not upon the carpet.

Household Hints

Very dirty, dull sinks will yield before turpentine.

Boiling water and borax spells death to those red ants.

When the washing is over, unscrew the wringing machine until the rollers are open wide enough to slip two thin pieces of wood between them to allow air to pass through freely. This will preserve the wringer wonderfully.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND.

When a Man Suffers

Not all the back-seat drivers are women. One of man's pet weakness is his passion for "telling a woman how to DO things."

Watching his wife drive the car has the same effect on a man's nerves as watching the baby play with his watch or Junior fool with his gun.

Probably half the nervous wrecks in the sanitariums, today, are men who were driven there by the agonizing strain of watching their wives graze telegraph poles, take the paint off safety-zones and just miss killing traffic officers.

Nothing is so painful to a man as to sit beside his wife and see her "ball up" things in the midst of traffic, and then have to listen while she tries to argue with the policeman!

Yet, a man usually gives his wife no peace until she learns to drive, and is astonished when he knows no peace, himself, afterward.

There is no time when a woman gets so much attention from her husband as when she is trying to drive the car. That is when he concentrates both eyes and all his interest upon her. Even if she sits in the back seat, he keeps an eye to the wheels, an ear to the gears and a ready word for every signal. That is ONE time when a woman can turn her back on her husband and be sure that his thoughts are still WITH her!

* * *

You can always pick out the husband of the woman who is driving the car by his pained forbearance, his anxious haunted look and his bright expression of relief when the car STOPS.

Many a man who has fought in the trenches and faced the German machine-guns without flinching will cringe pitifully when he hears his wife grind the gears, groan when she stalls on a hill and turn pale at the sight of an old man in her path.

Anything that sounds like a crash within a mile of the car has wife is driving, is apt to give the man shell-shock.

A woman always imagines that once she has LEARNED how the car "works," the agony is over, and she may resume her natural expression, and go on her way, skidding, speeding and rejoicing.

Later, she discovers that, for HIM, the agony has just begun!

There are only two kinds of happy husbands these days. Those who insist on doing all the driving themselves and never permit their wives to touch the wheel. And those who are content to let their wives do all the driving and never know how often they face death!

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Hot Weather Colds Are Obstinate

"Taking cold" in hot summer weather is disgusting to us and to our friends. It seems an evidence of weakness, and it is really an indication of weakness. It shows that the system is out of gear.

DR. COPELAND

When you lose sleep, eat meals at all hours, spend hours and hours at hard work in dusty, smoke-laden rooms, you are sure to get an unfavorable reaction. The first thing you know you are sneezing and coughing, and maybe you have started the most obstinate kind of a cold.

You are liable to colds if you neglect to bathe regularly. In the hot weather, when the body wastes are thrown off by the skin in the perspiration, daily bathing is imperative if the skin is to be kept in good condition.

Cleanliness of the mouth and teeth is essential. The germs of colds, influenza and tuberculosis are ever present to make inroads in the body by way of the nose and mouth. The nostrils and mouth should be kept clean because they are the hiding places of many kinds of germs.

With a reasonable care of our bodies we do not need to fear these germs. But when we are tired out or run down from bad habits of living and eating then it is that the resistance of disease is low and we are easy prey for the germs.

As a matter of fact, we are terribly careless of these bodies of ours. Haven't you seen boys and girls throw themselves, overheated, on the grass after a strenuous game of tennis, or even go in bathing when they are overheated. Then comes a chill, and they may be made ill by the quick chilling of the body.

The condition called a "cold" is almost always accompanied by constipation. One of the causes of constipation is eating too rapidly. Eat slowly. Don't bolt your food. Chew it thoroughly. Do this because the processes of digestion begin in the mouth.

The time to deal with a cold is in its first stages. When you have sneeziness, chilliness, running of the nose, a smarting or burning of the throat you may know trouble is on the way.

The best thing to do is to get into a tub of water hot as you can bear it. Add hot water as it cools. Keep this up for some time. Then go to bed between blankets and drink a lot of hot water or hot lemonade after you get into bed. This will bring on a perspiration, and in this way the poisons are more quickly thrown off from the body. After the sweating is over, sponge off with cool water and get into a dry bed for a good sleep. You probably will feel much better in the morning on waking.

Every moment that can be spent out of doors in the summer time is a distinct asset for the coming winter months indoors. Without plenty of sunshine and fresh air, at least moderate exercise every day, and a proper amount of rest and sleep, and well-balanced and regular meals good health cannot be maintained. Live rightly and the summer cold will be a thing of the past.

Answers to Health Queries

Miss O. A. Q.—How can I reduce?

2.—What should a girl weigh who is 15½ years old, and 5 feet 2 inches tall?

3.—What can be done for constipation?

A.—Weight reduction is merely a matter of self-control as regards the diet.

2.—For her age and height she should weigh about 112 pounds.

3.—The diet should be corrected. Most important of all, foods unduly rich in fats and starches should be avoided.

Thank You. Q.—Is it serious if the soft spot on the top of the baby's head is not gone before the child has reached the two and a half years of age?

A.—Have the baby examined; there may be a touch of rickets at the source of the trouble. This condition is usually cleared up before this age. Proper treatment will overcome the trouble.

CORRECT MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Offering the Hostess a 'Helping Hand'

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

If invited to a friend's house for supper, is it the guest's place to wash and dry the dishes? When I am invited out and wear a good dress, I do not feel very happy about doing dishes. I heard a friend say once that a person was pretty "thick" if she did not offer to help with the dishes. What do you think?

M. C.

I think too that a person is rather selfish and thoughtless not to volunteer to help with the dishes, if there is no service in the household and she realizes that, if she does not help the hostess, it will mean that the hostess must wash and dry the dishes after the guest has gone. That would be a tiring task for a woman who has probably been busy all day, has prepared the dinner, and has tried to be a generous hostess.

Undoubtedly you would not be expected to both wash and dry the dishes. But even if you were, you should not take it so seriously and selfish. Why not take it as a light task—after all, it is, you know—and have a good time doing it, rather than be so depressed about giving your hostess a helping hand? One of the best cures for the depression of dish washing (although to me it is quite a merry task and I don't in the least mind it) is to sing, or if you can't sing to whistle. So, the next time you are invited to dine at the home of a hostess who is also her own "maid," put on a big apron or a smock and "sing at your work." And I'll wager that you won't get a spot on your pretty clothes. It's very necessary that we be thoughtful of our hostess, especially if she has been so especially hospitable that she is willing to prepare dinner with no help, just for our happiness.

Attire for the Bride's Second Marriage

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please let me know what a widow about 27 years old, and a mother of two boys, should wear at her second wedding? Is it proper for her to dress in white with a shower bouquet? She isn't going to wear any veil, but is white the correct thing, because it is the man's first marriage? JESSIE.

No, under these circumstances, the widow would show the best taste if she wears an afternoon gown of some becoming pastel shade, or her traveling ensemble. She should not wear white.

MISS HARD-BOILED

By JANE DIXON

selection from the newsstand. To her the news of the day was the news of another world. A screen was what she wanted.

Suppose Pancho had guessed what she would do. Suppose he had told Johnson. Johnson would get word to Phoenix. He would have someone . . . the police . . . watching for her. They would stop her. Take her back. She would go back to Hermosa, shamed, disgraced.

That big red-faced man coming in at the door. For her? No, he was meeting the little woman with the bundles on the bench in front of her. Fifteen minutes more and the train for Chicago would be leaving. She would be on it. Fifteen minutes between her and freedom.

A boy with a voice like a cow-horn shouted a name.

"Mis Xmz-ychqsst."

Raquel dug her face deeper into the paper.

The boy went on shouting. Blissfully unaware that he was growing, if possible, more and more unintelligible.

Another voice, deep and bellowing, took up the refrain.

"Sunset Special—leaves for—Chicago and points East."

Raquel skipped the stations until the voice reached Chicago. Chicago and points east. New York. Phoenix, Chicago, New York. She, Raquel Rojos, was actually in Phoenix! She was going to Chicago! And from there she was going to New York!

Like a scared shadow she flitted through the station to the track indicated by the bellowing announcer. This time she had armed herself with a ticket. It was not good to tempt Fate too far. She extended the ticket to the man at the gate. Her hand must not tremble.

At the moment the man would have punched her ticket something about Raquel compelled his attention. Perhaps it was her intensity. Her concentration on what he was to do. At any rate, he glanced sharply at her face. He hesitated, his hand with the puncher suspended in midair. Her beauty was so startling, so striking in its vivid contrasts of black and white and scarlet, that it penetrated the skin of this human automaton, hardened as he was to the never-ending parade of strange passersby.

"My ticket, please." The haughtiness in the demand brought him to attention.

"Beg pardon, Miss." He squeezed the puncher, and grinned sheepishly.

Raquel was in the train now, moving out of the station. The train gained speed. The town was thinning, yielding to the encroachment of open spaces.

"I'm free!" Raquel's heart sang.

"You're free," the wheels of the car thundered.

"Free! Free!" piped the whistle.

The remainder of the journey to New York was to Raquel a blur. The faces that came and went without registering more than a scratch on her consciousness. Of scudding towns. Of villages that nestled in hollows or sprawled on plains. Of the smoke and roar and bewildering antics of the giant city—Chicago.

She ate when it was time to eat. Slept when it was time to sleep. Mechanically.

She emerged from the miasma into which she had mercifully fallen when a pop-eyed porter, with itching palm and perspiring face, said to her:

"New York baggage, lady! Baggage. Where do I send it?"

Dandruff doesn't like oil, and that it why it should have plenty of it. Use vaseline, olive oil or castor oil thinned with an equal amount of rubbing alcohol. Let it remain on over night, then shampoo with melted soap. Flecks of dandruff in the glorious halo are not ornamental. On the scalp, it offers a lodging place for germs that create skin diseases.

Abnormally large ears can be pared down by plastic surgery. This operation is done now and then by the high priests of the profession, experienced medical men who have turned their talents in the direction of pulchritude. Outstanding ears can be flatted close to the head; the operation is a simple one. Double chins have tucks taken in them, and pouches under the eyes vanish. Marvelous, eh, Watson?

Oh, These Women

By LEOLA ALLARD

A lad of 12 writes me that he doesn't think a man should work all day then come home and cook supper and wash the dishes. He asks: "What is a wife for?"

The letter was short and the writing childish, and there is no doubt but that the youngster had somebody in mind when he wrote it. For her sake I hope it wasn't his mother, but it if wasn't, why should the boy be so serious and so much concerned?

It is vitally important what your children think of you. A child is always generous in its appraisal of its parents, and when one of them writes such a letter I fear that some day the mother will wish she had merited the lad's respect.

Not all mothers are good mothers, any more than all aunts are good aunts and all fathers excellent fathers. So many children arrive in this world not wanted at all. Sometimes love is born with the child, and grows into something very beautiful. Then again, the mother bides her time till she can shift the responsibility upon a school teacher, or governess, or relatives and neighbors.

I heard yesterday of a very well-to-do mother, who said she wanted to work in her husband's office. Her baby, the first, is just a year old. There is so much work to be done for him, but it is turned over to a nurse. Twice a day the nurse takes the child to the park, the mother never goes along or takes the child alone. She doesn't like to wheel a baby buggy in the park.

One of these days that child is going to run away from mother and hide its pretty laughing face in the lap of the devoted nurse. Perhaps the truth will then dawn upon mother.

I knew a family of girls raised by a governess, who stayed with the family till the girls went to college. But it was to her and not their mother that the girls wrote their troubles and from her they sought consolation and advice in any difficulty. The mother had been so sure it was she they would adore because she was the biological mother. The awakening was a sad one.

Very often the best mothers are those who have adopted their children.

Members of Younger Set Attend Box Party on Gay 90's Show Boat

The younger generation, though brought up on Nathan and Menken, Ibsen and O'Neil, Freud and Watson, thoroughly enjoys melodrama, the popular type of play in the early days of their elders.

Many young folks are finding diversion summer evenings at the Golden Rod showboat, anchored at the Hotel Montrose landing on the Allegheny River, below Aspinwall, where a showboat company is presenting "Tilty Ann."

Last night Elizabeth Wrenshall Hemingway, young daughter of the Lee DeWitt Hemingways, of Kings Highway, Rosslyn Farms, entertained at "Tilty Ann." Her box party included her two house-guests, Frances Hutcheson and Katherine Bullard, of Fairfield, Conn.; Moseley Putney and Ned Hemingway.

To Wed Oct. 7

With the mercury taking daily to mountain climbing, it's hard to believe that autumn, with its crisp, stinging air, giving a new tang to life, is near. But a month and another week only separate us from the early days of September.

And early fall will bring many weddings, and, a little later in the season, many debuts. Today I want to tell you about another wedding being planned for the fall.

Katherine McKibbin Schley, better known as Kittie Schley, has named Tuesday, October 7, as the date for her wedding to H. Allen Machesney, Jr., son of the H. Allen Machesneys. Kittie is the daughter of Charles Schley, of Shepherdstown, W. Va., and granddaughter of Mrs. Chambers McKibbin, of the Schenley Apartments.

Harriet Nourse Ramsburg, and her brother, Charles J. Ramsburg, Jr., of East drive, Sewickley, left Monday for Saranac Lake, N. Y., and will be guests at the Saranac Inn. They are going to Watch Hill, R. I., later, and Harriet will be the guest of Mrs. Henry Van Cleef at her summer home at the resort.

Travel Notes

The end of this week Forsyth Patterson, daughter of the Charles Forsyth Pattersons, of "Hillsborough," Sewickley, is returning from Beal Beach, N. J., where she has been the guest of her aunt, Miss Margaret Patterson. And Forsyth has been in Greenwich, Conn., too, and Southampton. You'll recall that her engagement to George Elder Watson, of New York, was announced this spring. The wedding is to be an event of the fall.

Miss Fanny Wright, of Melville lane, Sewickley, sailed for the continent recently and will not return until early September. This week the Tracy Murray Kramers, of Mt. Dora, Fla., Sewickley and Canada, left for their summer home in Ahmic Lake, Canada, accompanied by their children, Howard and Tracy, Jr.

Mrs. Harry Darlington, Jr., who is summering at her Watch Hill, R. I., place, has been in New York for a few days, where she stopped at the Ambassador Hotel.

Miss Elizabeth Magerry, of Termon avenue, will entertain Saturday with a bridge luncheon in her home in honor of Mrs. George L. Ness, Jr., of Beechwood boulevard, who was formerly Miss Mary Lou Francies, of Emsworth. Miss Magerry and Mrs. Ness were classmates at Hood College, Frederick, Md., and at Margaret Morrison Carnegie College.

Mr. and Mrs. Lea Boulter, of Gillingham, Kent, England, arrived Monday to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Mauratt, of Patton street, Wilkinsburg. Mr. and Mrs. Boulter have also been the guests of their sister, Mrs. Bert Reddwood, of Newark, N. J.

Mrs. Anthony H. Trimble, of Bellevue, announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Eleanor Downs Trimble, to William Frederick Peel, of St. Paul, Minn. The ceremony took place on Monday in the home of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. John Harvey Lee, of Germantown, Pa. The Rev. Lee, a cousin of the bride, officiated.

Bellevue Wedding

Yesterday a lovely ceremony was held in the garden of Dr. A. M. Courtney, of Deleware, O., formerly pastor of the Calvary Methodist Church of Pittsburgh, when his granddaughter, Miss Florence Wakefield, daughter of G. W. Wakefield, of the Willmar Apartments, became the bride of Alan S. Hays, son of Mrs. Bessie Irene Hays, of New York. The wedding took place at 4 o'clock.

The bride wore a summer frock of white organdy with a large organdy hat and carried gardenias and lilies of the valley. Her sister, Mrs. Albert Pettit, of Steubenville, O., as matron of honor, and Miss Mildred Wakefield, Mrs. Jean Hays, of New York, and Miss Eleanor Barnhurst, of Allentown, Pa., as bridesmaids, all wore organdy frocks in pastel tints and carried matching parasols.

The best man was Arthur Garfield Hays, and the ushers included Harold Hays, Jr., of New York; Cyrus Coleman, of Harcourt, Conn., and Frank Lewis, of Indianapolis, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Hays left for New York and sail today on the S. S. France for a honeymoon in Paris. They will live in New York when they return.

On Tuesday evening, Miss Stella Keebler daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest M. Keebler, of Freeport, became the bride of Wesley Royer Ozias, of Alexander, O., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ozias, at 6:45 o'clock in the First Methodist Episcopal Church in Chicago.

The bride wore a gown of flesh color point d'esprit and carried sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley.

After the ceremony there was a dinner and reception in the North Park Hotel.

The bride is a former student of Bucknell University and a graduate of the School of Dramatic Arts of Bush Conservatory, Chicago. She is a member of Kappa Delta. The bridegroom is a graduate of De Pauw University and a member of Sigma Nu. Mr. and Mrs. Ozias will be at home after August 1 in the Crest Hotel in Chicago.

Posthumous Honor Granted War Hero

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP.)—Another noncommissioned officer of Pennsylvania's famous One Hundred Tenth Infantry has been awarded posthumously the distinguished service cross by the War Department.

John M. Black, born at Rover and enlisted from Hollidaysburg, displayed extraordinary heroism as a sergeant in Company G when his regiment engaged the German forces near Villette, on the Vesle River, France, August 29 and 30, 1918, according to the citation, and was killed in action.

200 Americans Go To Welsh Eisteddfod

NEW YORK, July 25.—(INS.)—More than 200 Americans from all parts of the country will sail today for Wales to attend the Royal National Eisteddfod, famous singing festival, which dates from ancient times. In the party will be John Williams, of Oakland, Cal., a member of the Board of Mediation of the Labor Department.

Hundreds Sailing Today for Europe

NEW YORK, July 25.—(INS.)—Hundreds of passengers will sail for abroad today on nine ships.

Nobile Giacomo De Martino, Italian ambassador to the United States, will be on the Roma, and Lady Peel, known on the stage as Beatrice Lillie, is a passenger on the Homeric.

2 MIDDIES FACE DISMISSAL

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP.)—Dismissal of two Annapolis midshipmen for taking two Washington girls into the dormitory and mess hall of the Naval Academy has been recommended to President Hoover by Secretary Adams.

The youths are Lawrence L. Myatt, of Quincy, Mass., and Miller S. Burgwin, of San Antonio, Tex.

An appeal for less drastic action has been presented by Senators Walsh, of Massachusetts; Sheppard, of Texas, and Fletcher, of Florida.

They said their information was that after the two girls had expressed a desire to dine in the mess hall, the midshipmen accompanied them to the dormitory and supplied them with uniforms which were worn into the dining hall.

Defection followed and Rear Admiral S. S. Robison, superintendent of the academy, recommended dismissal.

SMOOT SCORES TARIFF PLAINT

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP.)—After an examination of foreign protests against the rates of the new tariff law, Senator Smoot, of Utah, says many of them are unjust and groundless.

In particular, Smoot, one of the authors of the bill, objected to the protests of France.

He said the United States buys $256,000,000 worth of French products and spends $300,000,000 in tourist money in France annually, while exports to that country amount to $160,000,000, leaving a balance of $290,000,000 in favor of France. He continued:

"France discriminates against American goods because tariffs in France are on an entirely different basis than in the United States.

"We make our tariffs equal to everybody. The French, however, have a maximum and minimum tariff and bargain with other countries for favored positions. The net result is sharp discrimination against American goods."

The outcome has been, he said, decreased stationary exports to France.

LINDY DENIES PLAN TO MOVE

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP.)—In the course of a day, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh receives a lot of telegrams, but yesterday his quota was so augmented he was impelled to deny a groundless rumor he was planning a change in residence.

Representatives of chambers of commerce in many parts of the country, hearing he was thinking of moving to Tulsa, Okla., hastened to wire him all sorts of inducements to locate in their communities.

Breakfast Bridge to Be Held on August 13 by Congress of Clubs

Several diverting events are being planned by women's clubs for this month and next. On August 13 the members of the Congress of Women's Clubs are having a breakfast-bridge at the clubhouse. Next Thursday there is going to be a board of directors meeting.

Many of the club women are away for the summer. Mrs. John A. Dodge, who is a member of the board of directors of the Congress, is in Lucerne, Switzerland. Mrs. Saul Lavine, who is a member of the Council of Jewish Women and of the Congress of Clubs, is vacationing at her cottage on Lake Erie, "Willow Crest."

Mrs. Jane Schlotterer Cooper, Pittsburgh pianist, will present the program during the Congress radio period over KDKA on Tuesday at 1:30 o'clock.

Syria Auto Club Outing Opens Today

The sixth annual outing of the Syria Automobile Club will start today at Conneaut Lake. The picnic will last three days. Dancing, cards, boat rides and a special exhibition of a blimp are among the featured attractions of the outing. Special entertainment will be provided for the children.

BOY SCOUTS IN FIRST AID TEST

Ninety teams of six Boy Scouts each will compete tomorrow in a first aid meet at Carnegie Institute of Technology, the meet being the third event on the summer program. The meet, one of the largest to be held by the scouts in any part of the country, will get under way at 2 o'clock. Several hundred scouts will be present in addition to the participants.

The chief judges will be J. T. Ryan, of the Mines Safety Appliance Company; J. J. Forbes, of the United States Bureau of Mines, and Coroner W. J. McGregor. The honorary judges will be F. F. Schauer, Ralph E. Flinn, A. K. Oliver and Harmar D. Denny, Jr.

Francis Feehan, of the United States Bureau of Mines, will be chief announcer; C. A. McDowell, of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, will be chief recorder, and J. E. Cartel, of the Carnegie Steel Company, will be timekeeper.

Frank L. Duggan, president of the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council, under whose auspices the meet is to be held, will present the prizes.

Avalon Man Wins Military Honors

FORT WASHINGTON, Md., July 25.—Edward A. Bellstein, of 320 California avenue, Avalon, has won the highest honor at the citizens' military training camp here. He was adjudged the best Blue, or fourth-year candidate, winning out over 44 others. This is the second honor he has had, as he was picked as color sergeant early in the camp.

NEW MILLINERY OFFERS BIG VARIETY OF MODELS

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph,

PARIS, July 25.—Hats have capped the climax of the sartorial story as related by the very beautifully turned-out women in evidence at the various smart race meetings these last few weeks. At Longchamps and Chantilly and other nearby race tracks, it has been a delight to watch the kaleidoscope picture presented by the fair devotees of King Horse, as they circulated about the velvety lawns and the georgeous settings provided by that master scenic artist, Nature. But to return to our hats. As we have previously remarked, it has been many seasons since the mood of the millinery mode has been so generous and in consequence we have been permitted to choose hats that really suit and even flatter us, rather than be restricted to the one or two styles usually sanctioned by the mode. It is to be hoped that as we have now been awarded our freedom in the millinery world that we will not again allow ourselves to be restricted to certain ordained styles, as has been the case with the skull-fitting cap and the brimless models that have been in circulation during the last few years.

At the recent Prix de Diane event we observed two exceedingly smart hats that are eloquently expressive of the present trend of the millinery mode. The first is a light gray panamalac with a moderately wide brim turned back off the face over a wide double looped bow which covered the front of the crown and went well around to the sides. This bow was of heavy black satin. A black and gray mixture made the tailored frock which was brightened by the addition of a jabot-scarf with pointed ends. This was black and white crepe de chine with zig-zag stripe.

THE OTHER HAT is also of gray, a wide-brimmed felt with an inset of black velvet in the crown and a facing of the velvet on the underside of the brim. At one side of the crown is a feather ornament mottled in gray, black and white.

Mandell Gives Advice To His Successor, And It's Good.

Can't Beat Our Pie. Truth Is Out. Tilden's a Genius.

THE END OF A FOOLISH TRAIL

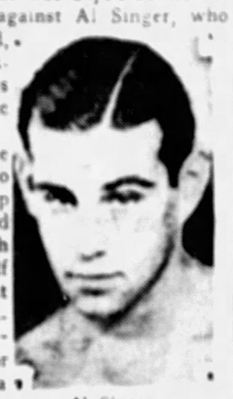
MANDELL WARNS AGAINST THIS

Realizing too late his folly of having been a non-fighting champion, Sammy Mandell advises young Al Singer, who recently dethroned him with a one-round knockout, to draw a lesson from his own career and meet the best men in his division. It is sound advice, but Singer may foolishly ignore it. Pictured above is Mandell's sorry ending in the Singer battle.

THROUGH AS LIGHTWEIGHT champion of the world and undecided about whether or not he was doped before his final futile gesture as a titleholder against Al Singer, who knocked him out in the first round, Sammy Mandell, back home at Rockford, Ill., has had time to think things over and he comes to bat with some kindly advice to his successor.



Al Singer

"Tell him," says Sammy, "to be a real fighting champion. Tell him to meet the best men in his class, to keep away from matches over the weight and to avoid setups. Only by following such a course will he be able to do himself justice. Fighting the best, he will profit through being champion and will enhance his prestige and keep on improving as he goes along. Meeting inferior opponents is the worst thing that a champion can do. Beating them gives him a false sense of security and when the end comes he realizes that he has foozled the chance of a lifetime. I'd like to start my reign all over again. Things would be different."

RABBIT MARANVILLE

A grand old veteran, the Rabbit will be honored by the Boston fans tomorrow, when Maranville Day will be celebrated at Braves' Field.

IF SINGER IS a wise young man, he will pay heed to the words of wisdom that emanate from the man he has beaten and that come from the heart and a bitter experience. Other champions have learned after it was too late that what they thought was a "smart" policy of avoiding real defense of their titles was the worst sort of folly. What is the use of striving to become champion if the champion doesn't fight when he reaches the top? Hoarding the title doesn't butter any parsnips or pile up money for the time when his fighting days are over. It leads to disrepute and speeds the hour of complete defeat.

Primo Carnera, with the makings of a champion, will live to regret the fact that he wasted his salad days in the land of milk and honey meeting setups and participating in fazed matches. He is paying the penalty already, having been ordered out of the country as an undesirable. He might have become a ring immortal and one of the wealthiest men the sport has produced.

The boxers themselves are not to be blamed too much for making the mistake Mandell is advising Singer to shun. Money-mad managers generally are at the bottom of their actions. These pilots will let their men fight anybody to attain championship heights, but, once the boxers get there, the managers put them in glass cases and refuse to let them meet formidable opponents for fear of seeing them beaten.

If Mandell can turn the footsteps of young Al Singer in the proper direction, his own sad experience will not have been in vain.

DON'T COUNT OUT those New York teams in the major league pennant fights. If you look closely at the standings, you'll note that both are in third place, within striking distance of the leaders and in a good spot for this stage of the proceedings. It is easier to give chase than to lead a race over the route and thus have something in reserve for the final dash to the wire.

IT DOES OUR ticker (slang for heart) good to see that ever youthfully-enthusiastic Pie Traynor come through with home runs that win two games in one afternoon, even if the feat was done against Philly throwers. Pie is a man's idea of a baseball player, a hustling sonuvagun who can't be tournament victory in succession over the bounding Basque. The match was bitterly fought and was featured by a turbulent scene in the third set when Borotra scored a service ace after the American had lifted his hand to indicate he was not ready to play. The umpire ruled Tilden had motioned too late and gave the point to Borotra.

BIG BILL TOPS BOROTRA IN FOUR SETS

BASQUE'S RALLY VAIN

Tilden, already rallying mightily after erring frequently in the first set, rose to new heights after the upsetting incident and trounced Borotra, parading through to the first victory of the challenge round with only the final desperate effort of the Basque in the fourth and deciding set holding him up temporarily.

The Basque rallied in the final set after Tilden had run the count to 5-1 in games. The Frenchman reeled off four straight games, but could not hold the pace and dropped the deciding set 7-5.

Tilden's courtcraft was perfect in the later stages of the match. He repeatedly dropped shots just over the net which Borotra could not reach. The crowd, numbering approximately 10,000, booed Big Bill, but Borotra, a perfect sportsman, turned to the stands and said:

"That's perfectly correct tennis."

LOTT OUTCLASSED

The Cochet-Lott match was almost the reverse of the earlier fray. Cochet, unconsciously or otherwise, emulated Tilden, and played coolly and easily from the baseline, pitting his vast experience and mathematical accuracy against the vigor and strength of his young opponent.

The French genius simply outclassed Lott from start to finish. He never was extended, although Lott put up a valiant fight and ran one game to deuce seven times before dropping it to the experienced Frenchman. Cochet was at the top of his form, a form decidedly different from that he displayed at Wimbledon when Wilmer Allison, of Austin, Tex., toppled him rudely from the throne he had occupied in 1927 and 1929.

Cochet's victory raised high the hopes of France that the Davis Cup would remain in this country for another year. His splendid form makes him seem a virtually certain winner over Tilden in Sunday's match, so the outcome of the tournament depends largely on tomorrow's doubles and on the Lott-Borotra singles match on Sunday.

GEORGE "DISGUSTED"

Unless Lott shows up to better advantage on Sunday than today, it may be taken for certain the cup will remain here. Although the Chicago youth furnished something in the nature of a genuine threat at the outset, he seemed to tire quickly, and in the later stages failed to put up even an interesting exhibition.

"I'm disgusted," said Lott when the match was over. "I counted on at least one set, but Henri was too fast for me. I couldn't seem to get started."

At the conclusion of the matches it was announced that Cochet and Jacques Brugnon had been chosen to meet John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison in the doubles tomorrow.

TOMORROW—WEIGHED AND FOUND WANTING

FRITZ MERCUR SEMI-FINALIST

TORONTO, July 25.—(AP.)—An Irishman, a Canadian and two players from the United States gained the semi-final round of men's singles in the Canadian tennis championships yesterday.

G. Lyttleton Rogers, giant Davis Cup player from Dublin, meets Fritz Mercur, of Bethlehem, Pa., today, while J. Gilbert Hall, of East Orange, N. J., clashes with Gilbert Nunns, of Toronto, Canadian Davis Cup star.

Mercur disposed of his semi-final round opponent, Jack Delara, of Los Angeles, only after five hard sets that produced the finest tennis of the championship. The scores were 6-4, 6-4, 2-6, 4-6, 6-3. Rogers eliminated C. W. Aikman, of Montreal, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

Hall eliminated Walter Martin, of Regina, 6-1, 3-6, 6-0, 6-3, while Nunns surprised most of the experts with a 6-3, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3 triumph at the expense of Marcel Rainville, of Montreal.

In the women's singles, the semi-final round will pit Olive Wade, of Toronto, defending champion, against Marjorie Deeming, of Victoria, while Jean Burritt, Toronto, encounters Mrs. E. P. Coke.

Jim Murray Sues Hickey, A. A. Head

MILWAUKEE, July 25.—(AP.)—President Tom Hickey, of the American Association, was served with complaint in the suit of Jim Murray, former American Association umpire, alleging the league head interfered with his livelihood by keeping him from umpiring.

The complaint charged Hickey had written a letter in which he said he would keep Murray out of baseball for all time. Murray, storm center of several contests in the league, was present when an officer served the complaint on Hickey, in the press box above the grandstand.

U. S.-BRITONS DRAW

LONDON, July 25.—(AP.)—The English and American team drew in the foils event of the three-weapon fencing matches for the Robert Thompson trophy with eight wins each last night. The epee contest today will be held in Birmingham at Sabres at Edinburgh, tomorrow.

Elmer Layden Proud Father Of Baby Boy

Knute Rockne ought to feel better now that news of an heir to "Four Horsemen" honors has reached him. When Bill Cerney, former Notre Dame fullback, became the proud father of twin girls and Elmer Layden followed him as the pater of a girl baby Rock despaired:

"We'll never have a football team if all my fullbacks are going to be the fathers of girls."

Now his days of apprehension are over. For after Wednesday at 2 p. m. he was able to offer congratulations to Elmer Layden and wife, the Duke coach having been presented with a lusty male, potentially Elmer F. Layden, Jr.

Layden has the additional distinction of being both the only member of the immortal "Four Horsemen," with children and the only recent Notre Dame fullback with a son. The new member of the Layden family has a 3-year-old sister. Both Mrs. Layden and son are doing well.

MISS MORRILL NET CHAMP

MANCHESTER, Mass., July 25.—(AP.)—Miss Marjorie Morrill, of Dedham, today defeated Miss Marjorie Gladman, of Santa Monica, Cal., 6-1, 6-2, in the final match of the Essex Country Club invitation tennis singles.

THE LOWDOWN ON THE BUCS

By THE BENCHWARMER.

NEW YORK, July 25. — Well, folks, there was one for the ledger. It got so dark in the seventh that Comorosky thought they were inaugurating night baseball and he wanted somebody to go and get him a miner's lamp for his cap.

I've heard they had some pretty dark days in Pittsburgh, but I don't think they could compare with yesterday afternoon at 4:30. When Bill Klem finally called the game they had to turn on the lights in the clubhouse and in the stands. And then in about an hour the sun was out again.

Klem put on a good act when Dave Bancroft came out to say something to the pitcher. Bill was trying to keep everything goin' and I wish you could have heard him lay into Banny, who really had no right out on the diamond, because he's only a coach. The Giants were tryin' to get away with some stallin' and they did, but I guess we would have done the same thing if the tables had been turned.

Dick Bartell was almost fightin' to get to the plate in the black seventh with the bases loaded and only one out. Dick said he was willin' to bet $100 to $1 that he would at least drive in the tyin' run, and I guess he figured he might do better than that.

It was tough on Commy to lose that double, because he's leadin' the league in two-ackers. Them Giants was plenty lucky and I guess there was a lot of singin' in the rain in their clubhouse when the storm broke loose. There was no solos or duets in our clubhouse. Everybody was as sore as a boiled owl because we didn't get Frenchy a run or two. That home-run of Lindstrom's would have been easy for Commy on a real ball park. Kremer has lost three tough ones in his last three starts, but there always is some other club that's gettin' a worse break. When I came in from the Polo Grounds I picked up a paper and see where the Phillies make 15 more runs and lose another ball game. That's a tight number, isn't it?

NEW YORK, July 25.—The brightness that permeated the camp of the Giants this morning was in contrast to the gloom that hung in the Pirate household on top of the bob-tailed contest of yesterday which the elements decided in favor of the men of McGraw.

Nobody knows what would have happened had the Pirates and their foemen finished the seventh inning, but there is nothing vague or indefinite concerning the situation that obtained when the big storm broke loose in the seventh.

STORM, DARK, INTERFERE

The Pirates had the bases packed with only one out and one run needed for a deadlock. Carl Hubbell was acting panicky on the slab while Dick Bartell was arching to get a sock at the southpaw chucker. There was reason to believe that Richard, the Lion-hearted, at least would have driven in the tying tally. Did he did not get up there.

Umpire Bill Klem did just about all anybody could to keep the fight going, but at this point it became so dark that Klem had no other alternative but to halt the contest. A few minutes later the storm broke loose and it continued for almost 30 minutes, the field being too damp for play after the waters ceased.

To add to the Pirates' bitterness portion was the knowledge that the only run of the 1-to-0 ball game was the result of one of those Chinese homers which are the bane of every pitcher who visits the Polo Grounds or the Baker Bowl.

In the first inning Fred Lindstrom drove the ball far and high to left center. Adam Comorosky had plenty of time to get under the sphere and the Polish flyer was awaiting its fall when it hit the protruding facade that separates the downstairs section from the balcony. The ball rebounded onto the field, but it was a homer under the rules.

RAY IN HARD LUCK

Thus was added another hard luck chapter to the book being written by Remy Kremer. Just a few days back in Boston, Kremer saw a game slip out of his grasp as a thrown ball struck Fred Maguire in the head, allowing him to score the winning run in the ninth. On his next turn on the mound, Kremer was thrown for a loss partly on account of the right field wall in Philadelphia and now a Chinese homer beats him in a six-inning game, and just when it seems his club is ready to step out.

A single by Grantham and a double by Comorosky with one

Nick Altrock Says:

CHICAGO, July 25.—This morning I was shooting golf on one of those pee wee courses and I can see why they caught on. You can get more exercise walking down to first on a base on balls than playing 18 holes at a Tom Thumb country club. It is just what the public wants. The only improvement I can think of is to rig up some outdoor pastime you can play in rocking chairs. Anyway, this town is seething with these pee wee layouts. Every vacant lot in Chicago is a golf links and every street is a shooting gallery. Yep, Chicago is my favorite stopover and I don't mean the beer.

MARKS, WOLFF FAVORED TO REACH FINAL

WEST PENN JUNIOR TITLE AT STAKE

BULLETIN.

Regis Wolff was clashing with Wilson Marks in the final round of the West Penn Junior golf championship at the Westmoreland Country Club today as a result of victories scored in the semi-finals this morning. Wolff defeated W. W. Long, 1 up, while Marks advanced by defeating Thomas Vantacky, 4 and 3.

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

The annual fight for the Western Pennsylvania junior golf championship, being staged at the Westmoreland Country Club under the auspices of the Western Pennsylvania Golf Association, reached the serious stage this morning when Regis Wolff, Highland star, took on W. W. Long, of New Castle, in the upper bracket, and a semi-finalist of last year, Wilson F. (Billy) Marks, of Kiski, club-mate of Denny St. Clair, who was ineligible to defend his crown this year, met Tommy Vantacky, of the Titusville Country Club, in the 18-hole penultimate round matches.

According to their scintillant play of yesterday, Wolff and Marks should come through their semi-final tests and battle it out this afternoon for the championship. Both of them were going well in their first few holes of the third round.

CARSON ELIMINATED

Wolff reached the three-quarter point by eliminating Claude McKee, of South Hills, 3 and 1, in the first round, and then whipping Sidney A. Carson, Jr., Greensburg luminary, 7 and 6, in an up-set at least so far as the one-sided score was concerned.

Long vaulted into opposition for Wolff by taking the sails out of the popular Johnny Totten, of Stanton Heights, 2 and 1, in the second round, after having first disposed of R. Burton Parker, of Highland, 1 up, 19 holes.

Vantacky's 1 up win over Thomas S. Jamison, Jr., of Greensburg, negotiated by a long putt on the home hole, was the big surprise of yesterday's two rounds. The Titusville chap had eliminated Jack Benson, South Hills youngster, 1 up, 21 holes, yesterday morning.

MARKS WINS EASILY

Marks has the field pretty well in tow after his two comparatively easy upward steps yesterday in which he rather humiliated George Chubb, of Sewickley Y. M. C. A., 8 and 7, in the second round, after having set down Bill Mercer, of Shannopin, 1 up, in the first.

Other first round settos yesterday saw Sid Carson top Rupert Friday, of the Feild Club, 3 and 1; John Totten, of Stanton Heights, beat his brother, Francis, 2 and 1; Tom Jamison trip Johnny Haskell, of Titusville, 4 and 3, and George Chubb dispose of H. C. Weidner, Beaver Valley, 2 and 1.

WOMEN PLAY TODAY

Today a one-day medal play event is being staged by the Women's Golf Association of Western Pennsylvania at the Edgewood Country Club and a big field was anticipated.

Betty Trimble and Ellsworth Giles, with an 86, copped the mixed foursome invitation tourney at the Shannopin Country Club yesterday, although the low net went to Lois Miller and Mark Hosenfeld, who registered, 92-19—73. Mrs. J. R. Hileman and E. W. Patterson, and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Boss registered net 78c.

In the second flight, Mrs. H. H. Hanna and Harry Hetzel came through to cop with 100-26—74, the runner-up pair being Miss McQuade and R. M. Snyder, 103-27—76.

If your husband had to stand on the corner waiting for a street car while you used the family motor he would be for getting a second car. Show him the bargains in Used Cars offered in today's Classified Ads.

FRENCH MAY HURL TODAY

out put the tying and winning runs in the scoring zone in the seventh as the darkness fell upon the field. Bill Terry was handicapped by the elements as he failed to stop both the Grantham and Comorosky drives. Traynor walked in the darkness, and then the field was in an uproar. The umpires finally waved everybody off and both teams rushed to their clubhouses.

FRENCH OR SPENCER

Manager Ens was in a quandary as to his slab selection for today, but he said the choice simmers down to Larry French and Glenn Spencer. French has been working overtime of late, but he is ready and willing to take the assignment this afternoon. The Buccos expect to look at the slants of Clarence Mitchell or Bill Walker, both of whom are southpaws.

Legion Nines Meet For Title Tonight

The Swissvale American Legion Post No. 63 nine will meet McKees Rocks Post No. 82 this evening at Frick Park for the junior baseball championship of the Thirty-third district.

The game will start promptly at 6:30.

SHARPSVILLE PLAYS ERIE

SHARPSVILLE, Pa., July 25.—The Sharpsville American Legion baseball team will play Erie, at Franklin, Saturday afternoon for the district title. Sharpsville won over Ridgway and Franklin in a double header. The locals replaced Grove City after it was found that club had used two ineligible men.

40-ROUND BILL CARDED FOR BOWL RING

A card of 40 rounds of boxing will be completed for the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, next Monday night to make up for the cancellation of the Johnny Indrisano-Tommy Freeman feature by Indrisano, who suffered a cut eye in training.

In the double windup of two 10-round bouts, Tom Malco, of Soho, and Young Rudy, of Charleroi, meet in a return battle, and Harry Williams, local Negro light-heavyweight, clashes a fourth time with Patsy Pirrone, of Canton, O.

An eight-round bout remains to be arranged.

Jimmy (Snowflakes) Wright, Negro puncher, of Cleveland, and Nick Polis, of Aliquippa, are down for the second six-round bout, and Sammy Paris, of the Hill, and Steve Senich, of Homestead, for the opener.

Between Rounds

The next amateur boxing show at the Twenty-seventh Ward A. C., is scheduled for next Tuesday night.

Bud Cicerone, of Braddock, who knocked out Tommy Ward at the Bowl last Monday night, meets Whitey Labaugh, formerly of Wilmerding, now of Williamsport, in the main bout of a show in the Embassy Theater, Altoona, tonight. Jesse Duke, of Clearfield, and U. S. Carpentier, of New Kensington, will box the semi-final.

An infected toe prevented Andy Andruzzi from accepting a bout on the Meyers Bowl card next Monday night.

Arthur Flynn and Willie Oster meet at North Adams, Mass., tonight. Fred Monte bokes Benny Brostoff in Brooklyn, Jimmy Slavin and Mickey Doyle tangle at Camarose, L. I., and Willie Siegel and Mike Sargo top a bill at Long Beach, L. I.

Baby Joe Gans will box Eddie Murdock, of Denver, in the 10-round semi-final to the Kid Chocolate-Jack (Kid) Berg bout at the Polo Grounds, New York, August 7. Sammy Dorfman and Eddie Mack, the latter also of Denver, will meet in another 10-rounder on the same bill.

Sammy Fuller and Angie Pisano box at Tiverton, R. I., and Johnny Farr and Andy Callahan meet at Braven Field, Boston, Monday night. Eddie Curley and Roy Brooks are down for a 10-rounder at New Bedford, Mass., August 4.

Battling Giazy and Young Saylor are the headliners on the double winding card at Hickey Park, next Thursday night, the former meeting Ray Coultas and the latter taking on Billy Brent for 10 rounds.

Washington Golf Second Round Ends

WASHINGTON, Pa., July 25.—Second round play in the annual club match for the President's cup was completed at the Washington Golf and Country Club yesterday. Bill Amos, Wash-Jeff grid coach, skidded into the third round bracket by upsetting C. H. Dorsey. Rev. Joseph Hamilton, local club veteran, is well liked by dopesters to outlast the affair. Second round matches in the women's division were also completed. The summary:

First sixteen—P. F. Eckstein defeated H. W. Graves, 3 and 2; Walter Vaughan defeated Ed Markey, 5 and 3; R. F. Northrup defeated F. H. Campbell, 3 and 4; J. P. Barr, Jr., defeated J. T. McNary, 4 and 3.

STRIB, SCOTT TAPER OFF

WINDSOR, Eng., July 25.—(INS.)—W. L. (Young) Stribling and Phil Scott, American and British fighters scheduled to battle it out in the ring here Monday night, today concluded their heavy training and began easing up on their daily program.

Scott has been doing most of his training in secret. The fight in these parts has been hailed as the "battle for the world heavyweight championship."

The British Boxing Board of Control indicated the identity of the referee will not be disclosed until the fighters have stepped into the ring.

Apparently expecting a kayo, the board ruled that the referee's count must end with the number of 10 instead of the traditional "nine—out."

Stribling is favored 3-to-1 to win, and there are reports of dissention in the Scott camp.

Cubs Hope to Make History Repeat

CHICAGO, July 25.—(AP.)—One year ago yesterday the Chicago Cubs went into first place, not to be dislodged. Today Cub fans were hoping their favorites would be no more than one day behind schedule in moving into the same situation.

A victory for Joe McCarthy's team, and defeat for Brooklyn would put the Cubs in first place by the almost unnoticeable margin of three percentage points.

Portland Pitchers Marked in Fist Fight

PORTLAND, Ore., July 25.—(AP.)—Forsaking his submarine ball for submarine uppercuts, Carl Mays, former major league pitcher, engaged in a 20-minute fist fight with Wallace Walters, another Portland hurler, Wednesday night, it became known today.

The battle, other players said, left the pitchers badly battered and unable to pitch for several days.

Pirates to Play At Ellwood City

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., July 25.—The Ellwood City team of the Beaver County League has announced the scheduling of a game with the Pittsburgh Pirates to be played at Ellwood City, August 4.

It will be the first appearance of a major league club in the Beaver Valley district for several seasons.

SWIM MEET SUNDAY

The famous Willows swimming team of Oakmont, with 30 beautiful mermaids and star mermen will compete in a water gala and pageant, Sunday, at 3 o'clock, at Junction Park, New Brighton. Jane Layton, Ida Mae Halsted, Evelyn Rochester, Louise Petrilli and Ruth Wiegman are trained to perform acrobatic and difficult dives off the low and high boards. Tom Wiegman, junior low board champion; Ford Fat, Ed Sturni and Bob McTiernan, Ken McKillop and Howard Mertz, of the Rock Bottom Club, will compete.

PALMER BACK AT ARMY

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., July 25.—Frederick Palmer, backfield star on Coach Dike Beede's Westminster College football team two years ago, will re-enter the United States Military Academy the latter part of next year, it became known here today. Palmer was a member of the plebe class at West Point during the past year, but was dropped when he failed in mathematics last spring.

WINE DEFEATS M'FOWLER IN TAME BOUT

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

A typical heavyweight match. Slow motion. Lots of clinching an' close-range mauling. Little damage done. A foul claimed. Yells from the crowd for action or toss 'em out of there. And many of the fans walking out on the show.

Yes, it was a typical heavyweight affair, the 10-round windup between Ike McFowler, Negro, of Johnstown, and Frankie Wine, of Butte, Mont., at Hickey Park, Millvale, last night. The least said about it the better. Wine won the decision of the two judges, with the referee calling it a draw, and none of those present seemingly cared a whoopin' how! what they decided upon, just so it was over.

McFowler claimed the foul early in the seventh round, when he was socked in the stomach. Failing to get away with the claim, he arose at the count of four and fought back harder than at any other time until the bell.

As bad as it was, both men were doing their best. McFowler weighed 196¼ pounds and was fat around the body and slow. Wine is a short, under-sized, light, curly-haired Polishman who scaled only 186. He was the aggressor and deserved the duke, such as it was.

DE LUCA GETS GIFT WIN

In the eight-round semi-final, Cowboy DeLuca, of Lawrenceville, did his usual faint-hearted bicycling act around the ring round after round while Al Becker, of Sheraden, chased him and socked him fore and aft until the Cowboy clinched and ran some more; yet at the finish both judges and the referee voted unanimously for DeLuca, simply because his defensive jabs as Becker came rushing in happened to bloody Al's nose and mouth. On forcing and heavier punching Becker carried every round but the first and fifth, although he was knocked off balance in the first and fourth and wrestled through the ropes in the eighth, fourth and wrestled through the ropes in the eighth.

DeLuca conceded weight to Becker, scaling only 143½ pounds against 151¼, but that didn't excuse his one-foot-in-the-water-bucket exhibition that made a foot race of what might have been an interesting affair.

Buck Brady, of Cumberland, a raw novice, in the second bout gave an even better sprinting exhibition than DeLuca, against Paul Balint, of the North Side, for almost four rounds before his seconds tossed in the towel to save him from further punishment. He scaled 122½ pounds against 123¾ for Balint and seemed stricken by ringfright from the first tap of the gong and never stopped running.

ROBERTS BEATS MONROE

Hans Roberts, of Brookline, 143, defeated Al Monroe, Negro, of the Hill, same weight, substituting for Freddie Boylestein, of Kittanning, in the opening bout, for which Boylstein reported so far overweight that Roberts refused to take him on.

Al Grayber and Eddie Kennedy alternated as referees. The judges were Frank Ferris and Lou Meininger, and the timers A. C. Couch and Steve Russell. Harry Klaas was the announcer. The attendance was only fair.

O'Doul Regains Leadership in Big Six Race

Associated Press.

Frank O'Doul was the big exception to the rule of light hitting among the Big Six yesterday while Al Simmons was a lesser follower of his fellow Philadelphian. O'Doul regained the lead in the National League by slamming out three hits in five times at bat to add three points to his average, breaking the tie at .405 with Chuck Klein. Klein scored three times, but he hit only once in four trips to the plate and dropped two points into second place in the Big Six. Simmons tightened his grip on the American League ...d, adding a point to his aver... with two hits in five times. The standing:

REDMOND, HERRMANN WIN IN PARKS PLAY

STARS REACH SEMI-FINAL ROUND

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN.

Jack Redmond, slashing southpaw star of Highland, and Jack Herrmann, rangy Riverview premier, battled sturdily through preliminary round ordeals at Frick Park last evening to win his way to the semi-final men's singl honors in the Inter-Park Elimination Series of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph revival of the Pittsburgh Public Parks tennis championships yesterday. Redmond's victim was blond Karl Beilstein, youthful veteran of West Park, whose gallant and often brilliant resistance is in no wise indicated by the 6-1 6-3 6-4 verdict of the tilt. Herrmann fought up from behind to account for Robert Broad, accomplished Olympia ace, in a bitterly contested five-set marathon that lasted well into the twilight and went to a 4-6 6-3 4-6 6-1, 6-3 decision.

A bit earlier in the day, Mrs. Jean Artzberger, Olympia luminary, and Letitia Schmidt, formidable Schenley contender, had brushed aside initial opposition in the women's Inter-Park debates. Mrs. Artzberger carved out 6-0, 6-2 victory over Mrs. Ruth Spencer, Highland entrant, while Miss Schmidt out-sped Ruth B. Staiger, clever Riverview girl, 6-1, 6-3. And be it said both feminine tussles were far more torridly skirmished for than the rather top-heavy tallies would lead one to imagine.

MEETS BROIDA

As result of his triumph yesterday, Redmond advances to encounter Frank Broida, driving Frick flash and likewise a portsider. Broida blew in from Philadelphia last night just as Herrmann and Broad were having it out. The Frick delegate had been jousting in the Pennsylvania state junior tournament at the Cynwyd Tennis Club and had been defeated in the quarter-finals after having his conqueror down twice at match point. He is in splendid trim, and his fracas with the rather free-hitting Redmond should prove a real feature, not only of the parks tourney, but of the entire local campaign. Herrmann takes on Irvin Goodman Schenley stylist and Pitt varsity redoubtable in the other penultimate man-to-man engagement, and if he can wrench away the net play from the classy little Panther, plenty of fur will fill the atmosphere.

In the women's semi-finals, Miss Schmidt is slated to encounter Anne Elise Searing, Frick driver, with Mrs. Artzberger meeting Mildred Klages, chop-stroke artist from the West. The Schmidt-Searing conflict is scheduled for this afternoon at 3 o'clock. At 5:30 the two men's melees will get under way on adjoining net angles, and at 6 the Artzberger-Klages scrimmage will commence.

OPEN VIGOROUSLY

Redmond won the toss and chose service for his match with Beilstein. Both contestants opened vigorously, with Redmond a trifle more accurate than his rival to sustain delivery in the first game, crack opposing service in the second, and run into a 3-0 lead in the third. Here Beilstein braced to hold service, but Redmond breezed right back for 4-1, then 5-1 as Beilstein contributed a pair of double faults in game six. Redmond was down at love-30 and later at 30-40 in game seven, but deuced the going with a well-directed lob that caught Beilstein dead at the net, and it was game and set, 6-1, an instant afterward as the North Sider netted and outed in quick succession.

Beilstein errors gave Redmond the first two games of the second frame with loss of but a point in each. Beilstein, however, bore down on service to snare the third at love and it was 2-2 at the end of the fourth, which Karl bagged by dint of a brace of pretty cross-court backhand passing shots. But again Beilstein faltered, this time to drop service at love on two backhand nets and as many double faults. Beilstein was still wobbly as Redmond grabbed off the next two games at 40-15 and 15-40 respectively to lead at 5-2 but the West lad kept fighting and, though Redmond had him 40-15 and set point in the eighth, he profited by an enemy foot-fault to ease into four straight markers for the game. At this juncture Beinstein might have put himself back in the milling properly, for Redmond, nervous and shaken after being twice called for foot-faults, slipped down to 40-15 on Karl's delivery. But two backhand misplays deuced the game. Redmond outed a backhand and Beilstein netted for another deuce. Again Beilstein netted and on the ensuing exchange he outed a backhand for game and set.

BEILSTEIN THREATENS

With Redmond over-anxious in stanza three, Beilstein made his most threatening gesture. Redmond copped service for game one, whereupon the West Parker accelerated the mixing to grab the next two in short order. Beilstein hauled up from love-40 to deuce on service in the fourth game, only to out a volley and to double-fault to toss opportunity away. Thus encouraged, Redmond pushed to the net to rip off three more games for a 5-2 advantage. Beilstein, however, refused to give up. He nailed service at love for 5-3 and traveled to deuce to break Redmond's delivery for 5-4. But with splendid chance to carry the set into extra games, he lapsed once more. Serving, he netted a backhand for love-15. A double fault and another net sank him to love-40 and, requiring a single point, Redmond moved in to smother a lob with ripping smash for game, set and match.

Neither Redmond nor Beilstein exhibited overly impressive ground strokes. Both hit fast forehands upon occasion, but lacked enough confidence in their prowess to wallop the pellet consistently. Neither showed better than a defensive backhand. Redmond's strength lay primarily in fast service and faster overhead. His volleying was steady, but not especially decisive. But he went for everything and was sufficiently resourceful to return most of what came his way—or even a good piece out of his way. Beilstein slapped a service with low trajectory. It carried fair pace, but was not difficult to handle. When pressed, he was apt to slow down to slicing range. He volleyed nicely and was about average overhead.

The Herrmann-Broad contest, though protracted to the limit, brought fewer thrilling rallies than did the Redmond-Beilstein affair. The Riverview-Olympia rivals were too prone to excessive caution throughout most of the seance to uncork the tennis that they are really capable of. Now and then each let fly with sizzling forehands, though Herrmann appeared to hesitate just enough on these to destroy accuracy. Both were weak off backhand, with service more or less of a stand-off, and Herrmann boasting advantage overhead, though he neglected many opportunities to employ this useful lethal weapon when Broad permitted lobs to fall near the baseline, and the Riverview youngster stood back without closing in for the kill.

MRS. ARTZBERGER COPS

The women's fracases were interesting, if not sensational. The victors kept the situation neatly in hand throughout most of the mix-ups. Mrs. Artzberger's back court consistency and valuable barrier attack offsetting Mrs. Spencer's well-executed drives, while the hard, flat service, and steady chopping of Miss Schmidt were too much for the slices and occasional drives of Miss Staiger.

The summary:

MEN'S SINGLES.

First round—Jack Redmond, Highland, defeated Karl Beilstein, West, 6-1, 6-3, 6-4; Jack Herrmann, Riverview, defeated Robert Broad, Olympia, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-1, 6-3.

WOMEN'S SINGLES.

First round—Mrs. Jean Artzberger, Olympia, defeated Mrs. Ruth Spencer, Highland, 6-0, 6-2; Letitia Schmidt, Schenley, defeated Ruth B. Staiger, Riverview, 6-1, 6-3.

stopped by a bum glimmer or other physical impairments—the sort of an egg you want up there for the home team in a pinch.

GAMES LIKE THAT 16-15 battle in 13 innings between the Pirates and Phillies at Philadelphia the other day, with the teams making 50 hits between them, eight of them home runs, don't do major league baseball any good. Major league baseball is supposed to be the last word in perfection in the sport, and even sandlotters would be ashamed of such an exhibition. If the magnates ever get around to wondering why their turnstiles don't click so merrily, they might put a finger on this aspect.

Eddie Morgan, Cleveland's home run hero, who has set a new circuit clouting mark for all time for a Cleveland player, is quite an athlete. He is 25 years old and is serving his third season with the Indians. Coming to the club as an outfielder, he has become its regular first baseman, and, as for his versatility, he is a former Tulane University football star.

EXPLAINING BILL TILDEN'S yen for the theatrical in everything he does in connection with his tennis playing, an eastern critic brands him a genius. So that's it, huh? Well, many sins are committed in the name of genius. However, if the Old Master can win back the Davis Cup for his Uncle Samuel and his pals, the manager and non-playing captain of the team, all will be forgiven. Otherwise the charge of being a genius will be held against Large (if not sweet) William, who bumped off Jean Borotra in the first singles match of the Davis Cup play today.

RABBIT MARANVILLE, former Pirate star, is to have a Day in his honor in Boston tomorrow. The wee veteran still is a star for the Boston Braves and has the celebration coming to him. And no one yet has called him a genius. He's simply a natural baseball player, with the accent on the natural.

NOW IS AS good as any other time to get back on the subject of fouls in boxing. List to the word of an authority on the subject, one Vic McLaughlin, a former light-heavyweight, who fought 'em all, but didn't get very far.

"Take it from one who knows what he's talking about," says Vic. "Max Schmeling was faking when he pretended he couldn't get up when Jack Sharkey hit him low in their bout for the heavyweight title. I don't say he wasn't fouled, but he didn't have to go through all of those agonizing contortions. Young Stribling fouled me a dozen times in a bout we fought in his home town, Columbus, Ga., in 1925. The referee was with Stribling and my protests didn't do any good. So I just let him keep fouling me and not only was able to keep on my feet, but won the popular decision. The same thing happened the next year in a bout I had with Bob Marriott in the South. Unless a foul blew lands in one particular spot it doesn't hurt even as much as a fair blow in the pit of the stomach or a punch under the liver. But even after the worst type of foul blow a boxer is able to walk. Schmeling convinced me, by his acting, that he was taking the easy way out."

Sport Vignettes

This column tomorrow will be turned over to Fred Turbyville, new sports publicity chief of the University of Pittsburgh, a veteran sports scribe, and a good one, as guest conductor, and he will answer some questions the fans have been asking themselves about Pitt's chances this fall, the Stadium schedule, the possibility of filling up the bowl for the first time this year, etc. Order your copy now (adv.) . . . . The football rules, we read, will be simpler this fall . . . . Just how simple, and how much is simpler and how simple must a football rule be before it can be understood and intelligently interpreted? . . . . There is no truth in the report that Joe Keally, the referee, will turn in his official's card and go back to fighting.

BY THE WAY, didn't the American League once have a player by the name of Whataman Shires? Reports are that he is buried in Washington . . . . Summer is the Robins' time, but who ever heard of those birds being hot stuff in the fall? . . . . The craze for Tom Thumb golf courses leads a brother scribe to inquire what has become of that great pastime, Mah Jong, that had everybody by the ears only a few years ago . . . . You may or may not know it, but Kid Chocolate, who makes more money as a challenger for several titles than any of the champions, never has lost a bout and has engaged in 168 listed battles . . . . His next start is against Jack (Kid) Berg, English-Jew claimant of the world junior-welterweight title, at the Polo Grounds, New York, August 7, and the Keed can make the 126 pounds called for by the featherweight division . . . . Pound for pound, Chocolate is the best fighter in the ring today.

BRYAN GRANT, JR., of Atlanta, the new national clay courts tennis champion, is only 19 years old, but has beaten a number of the best players in the game . . . . He is a steady backcourt player who is gradually making his strokes more powerful and seems destined to reach great heights. He is a hard worker and possesses plenty of nerve and is playing a full tournament schedule and thereby gaining a lot of experience this year . . . . Benny Bass, the junior-lightweight champion, is not getting any better and may be slipping a lot, judging from the shellacking Tony Canzoneri handed him in their return bout in Philadelphia the other night. Only the fact that the match was over the weight saved Benny's title . . . . One of the proudest fathers in Western Pennsylvania these days is good ol' Jim Marks, the poet and coach of Kiski School, whose two sons, Wilson and Jim, Jr., have been hot stuff in the West Penn junior championship golf tournament at the Westmoreland Country Club.

REMEMBER BEN TINCUP, the Indian pitcher who came up with the Phillies some 15 years ago and hung around for a while before drifting back to the minors? Well, he still is a winner with Louisville, in the American Association. Working in relief roles, he was credited with 11 victories before suffering his first defeat a few days ago and is the leading pitcher in the circuit . . . . The Cumberland (Md.) race track is declared by horsemen who have raced their thoroughbreds over it to be the fastest half-mile track in the country . . . . It will stage its fall meeting of one week from August 24 to September 1 and reduced rates have been arranged by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad for the fans from Pittsburgh and Wheeling who wish to attend.

Francis Flynn, local boxing promoter, leaves with his wife on an automobile vacation trip to the Adirondack Mountains today . . . . He will be back to reopen the Moose Temple arena the last Friday night in September, already having signed a lease for its use every Friday night in the season with the exception of Good Friday.

CHICAGO GOLF STARS LEAD IN WESTERN

BEVERLY COUNTRY CLUB, CHICAGO, July 25.—(AP.)—Two Chicago stars, Ira Couch and Johnny Lehman, held 1 up leads at the amateur turn of their 36-hole semi-final matches in the Western Amateur golf championship today. The leading sandlot battle of the evening will be staged at Whitaker, where the Homestead Aces, led by Jack Fertig, clash with Whitaker in the West Penn loop.

This is a local fight and should be played to a banner crowd. Both clubs are in the running for the West Penn title.

The battle for the leadership of the Central League will be staged at Moultrie Park this evening, when the Soho Board of Trade nine clashes with Fintex. The Clothes boys, who are heading the loop, have yet to be defeated and the Hornyak aggregation will be fighting hard. Hornyak states that Bailey or King will work against Pickles' club.

The Baltimore and Ohio nine, led by Frank Rush, will invade Etna this evening to hook up with Carnegie Steel.

And seeing that Manager Weber has the Steelers hitting in a winning stride, the Railroaders should be in for a strenuous evening. Two games will be played in the Steel City loop. The East End Cardinals meet Lincoln Place at Homestead in the Eastern section, and Dom Mazzie travels to Clover Club in the Western.

Three games will be played in the City loop. Book Shoe is at Homewood, Stowe goes to Dormont and the North Side Civics hook up with Pleasant Valley at the Smilers' grounds.

The Civics, Homewood and W. O. W. came through to cop their battles in the City League yesterday, Thomas deadlocking at seven-all with Dormont. Pleasant Valley lost to the Civics, 8-2; Book Shoe bowed to Homewood, 10-1, and Stowe lost to W. O. W., 12-3.

Jenkins tripped the Homestead Aces, 5-2, and Edgewood beat North Bessemer, 5-4, in the Greater Pittsburgh circuit, while Mine Safety came through in the C. & I loop, beating the Rieck-McJunkins, 6-3.

Bylleshy toppled the Railways, 21-5, in the Philadelphia Company League, the Presbyterians nosed out the Methodists, 3-2, in the Crafton Church, and Y. M. H. A. bested St. John's, 4-3, in the Central. The Crawford and Lincoln Civics copped independent games.

Acragas Annexes Liverpool Cup

LIVERPOOL, Eng., July 25.—(AP.)—Marshall Field's Acragas won the Liverpool Cup today.

Acragas is by Phalaris out of Maritsa.

S. V. Joel's Knight of the Grail was second. M. Boussac's Leopardus was third. Fourteen ran.

Acragas won by a half length while there was a length and a half between second and third.

The betting was 13 to 2, 100 to 8, and 100 to 8.

The stakes were £1,500 and the distance one mile, two furlongs and 170 yards.

HEAVIES ON CARD

NEW YORK, July 25.—(INS.)—All heavyweights, mostly newcomers to the division, make up the supporting card for the 10-round battle between Vito Hanney, the Hard Rock of New Zealand, and Tony Orlando, of Sioux City, Ia., at the Queensboro Stadium next Tuesday night, it was announced today. The Flowers-Grogan bout, postponed last night, will be staged a week from Tuesday at Queensboro.

Sherman, 101-10—91; Miss Ellen Wyvenberg, 107-20—87; Mrs. J. P. Neal, 113-17—96; Miss Katherine Thomason, 108-12—96; Mrs. W. A. Hemerson, 133-35—98; Mrs. P. W. Jenkins, 125-30—95.

German Not to Play In U.S. Championship

BERLIN, July 25.—(AP.)—The German Tennis Association yesterday refused Cecille Aussem permission to compete in the American national championships on the ground that the American event coincides in date with an international championship tournament at Hamburg and the international women's team match between Germany and Great Britain at Berlin.

Fraulein Aussem had planned to compete in the United States in mixed doubles with Bill Tilden, and in women's doubles with Elizabeth Ryan.

Fight Results

At Hickey Park, Millvale—Frankie Wine defeated Ike McFowler, 10 rounds; Cowboy DeLoss defeated Al Decker, 8 rounds; Paul Balint won by technical knockout over Rock Brady, 4 rounds; Hans Roberts defeated A. Mosher, 6 rounds.

At Buffalo—George Parker knocked out Whitey Stevenson, 2 rounds; Tommy Paul defeated Steve Smith, 8 rounds.

At Waterbury, Conn.—Al Gainer defeated Chuck Burns, 10 rounds.

At Cincinnati—Cecil Payne defeated Battalino, 10 rounds; Ralph Lesky and Howard Mitchell drew, 8 rounds.

At New York—Bruce Flowers-Tommy Grogan bout postponed because of rain until next Tuesday night.

At New York—Knut Hale knocked out Jack Ditz, 2 rounds; Tommy Ando and Joe Sapiola drew, 8 rounds; Charley Tobias defeated Frankie Penza, 8 rounds.

HAHN PLAYS FRIEDMAN IN FINAL

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—(AP.)—Leonard Hahn, Lansdowne, Pa., High School, and Bernard Friedman, West Philadelphia High, advanced to the final round of the Pennsylvania State Junior Boys Tennis Tournament at the Cynwyd Club, and will meet for the title today.

In the semi-finals, Friedman, seeded number 1, defeated Herbert Oritsky, Overbrook High, 6-3, 6-1, and Hahn beat Eddie Bordin, Central High, 6-2, 6-1. Oritsky reached the semi-finals by a 6-2, 6-4 victory over Mickey Bodenger, who won the championship in the boys' division.

FEHRS DISTRICT CHAMP

SHARON, Pa., July 25.—William Fehrs, Grove City youth, successfully defended his title as Shenango Valley tennis champion when he defeated George Dehoff, Sharon veteran, three out of four sets in the finals of the 1930 tourney. Dehoff also was runner up last summer.

PRIMO TO GET HEARING

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP.)—Primo Carnera, huge Italian prize fighter, will be given an opportunity Monday by immigration officials to show why he should not leave the United States.

Carnera's six months leave in this country has expired and he has been ordered overseas. His representatives protested and the board of review today fixed the date for the hearing. Meanwhile no penalties will be imposed for his remaining here.

Carnera has been fighting over the country under a permit given many foreign entertainers and visitors, entitling him to remain six months.

If he wished to stay here permanently, he would be obliged to obtain a status as a quota immigrant from his own country, but the Italian quota at present is very difficult to enter. The hearing will be held in Washington.

WARRANTS ISSUED

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—Warrants were issued here yesterday for the arrest of three of Primo Carnera's entourage in connection with a beating allegedly administered to Francis W. Connelly, inspector for the State Athletic Commission, on June 23, when the big Italian heavyweight fought George Godfrey at the Phillies' ball park here.

Those sought are Billy Duffy and Leon See, Carnera's managers, and Walter Friedman.

Connelly alleges he was beaten when he entered Carnera's dressing room.

Johnnies Win in Eleventh, 8-7

An 11-inning battle marked yesterday's games in the Middle Atlantic League, Johnstown extending the game that long before it defeated Cumberland, 8-7. Fairmont won from Scottdale by a one-sided margin, while Charleroi bumped Jeannette, 7-6. Wheeling knocked off Clarksburg, 6-3.

Peoria Scores 31-9 Victory; Claims Record

PEORIA, Ill., July 25.—(AP.)—A record of some kind belongs to the Peoria Three-Eye League club.

In a night game with Quincy last night, Peoria crashed three pitchers for 31 hits, and scored in every inning to win by 31 to 9. The only member of the blood-thirsty club who failed to hit safely was Pitcher Virgil David, former University of Iowa southpaw. The big damage was done by Shortstop Bluege, a brother of Washington's Ossie, who had two triples, two doubles and a single.

Outfielder Duffy scored six runs.

PAYNE BEATS BATTALINO

CINCINNATI, July 25.—(INS.)—Bat Battalino, world featherweight champion, still wore his crown today despite his defeat last night at the hands of Cecil Payne, Louisville featherweight.

Payne won the decision following a hard-fought 10-round bout in which Battalino's championship title was not at stake.

In the second round the going became especially tough for the champion when his opponent knocked him down. Battalino arose and resumed the bout after taking a count of nine.

He was groggy and another terrific right to the chin sent him reeling about the ring. He was saved from a knockout by the bell.

It was Payne's fight from then on, but Battalino came back in the third stanza with renewed pep and never again was in danger.

He managed to hold Payne even in several rounds and won a few others by the slightest of margins.

When Payne and the champ met before, the Louisville lad also won by taking a majority of the rounds. There were no knockdowns in that fight, but there was plenty of slugging with the honors going to Payne.

Grays and Monarchs Meet Here Tonight

The Homestead Grays and the Kansas City Monarchs will meet in the last local night game of the season at Forbes Field at 8:30 this evening. The local Negro nine and the Westerners inaugurated night baseball here last week-end, meeting in after-dark duels on Friday and Saturday nights.

Bell will hurl for the Monarchs and Joe Williams for the Grays tonight.

Tomorrow night, the Grays will play in Dennison, O., and Columbus, O., will be the scene of their competition on Sunday and Monday. The night series will be concluded in Akron on Tuesday.

LEGION TITLE AT STAKE

LEBANON, Pa., July 25.—(AP.)—Reading and Lancaster yesterday qualified to meet here this afternoon for the inter-district title in the American Legion junior baseball tournament. Reading entered the final by eliminating Harrisburg, 18 to 8, and Lancaster defeated York, 8 to 7, yesterday.

Reclamation of Columbia Basin Offers New 'Promised Land'

By B. C. FORBES

PORTLAND, Ore., July 24.—These words are from Herbert Hoover:

"Every drop of water that runs to the sea without yielding its full commercial returns to the nation is an economic loss which, in all its economic implication, can be computed in millions."

Mr. Forbes

Mr. Hoover could truthfully have said "billions" instead of millions."

Boulder Dam—at last—has been set going. Now coming to the front is the Columbia basin reclamation project, designed to fructify, through irrigation, fully 1,800,000 acres of land of vast potential richness, but now largely abandoned because of want of water.

WHILE LIVING in Africa I once saw a whole section of Johannesburg deliberately set aflame by the fire department and everything in it consumed. The resulting spectacle was tragic, sad, pathetic.

Flying over a wide area of this parched land, and noting deserted farms on every side, recalled that horrible sight. What heartaches lay behind every abandonment; with what feelings was the door closed for the last time? How was a new fight with the world faced? No Moses was here to lead these unhappy folks to a promised land.

BUT A VERITABLE promised land is to be created out of this now deserted territory.

SOME FACTS and figures were given in yesterday's column. To Easterners and others far from the spot the whole ambitious project may seem Utopian impracticable, impossible. It is big. It is even breath-taking when viewed from 6,000 feet in the air—3,000,000 thirsty acres stretch below. But we have the pronouncement of authority after authority that it is entirely feasible.

AND RARELY have I seen anywhere, for any purpose, such enthusiasm and dogged determination as motivates the responsible citizens in Spokane who are pushing forward the enterprise to fruition. Theirs is no flash-in-the-pan outburst of exuberance. They have been at it for a decade and today are more eager and earnest and confident than ever.

Gen. Herbert Deakyne, chief of engineers of the War Department, Washington, D. C., arrived at Spokane the other day, accompanied by aides, to survey the plan, the latest of many highly-placed Federal officials to pass on the feasibility of the undertaking.

MOST IMPORTANT of all, however, is the fact that President Hoover is enthusiastically behind the idea. Here are extracts from statements made by him when he examined the territory very carefully when secretary of commerce:

"The initiation and construction of the Columbia basin irrigation project is inevitable. It should be undertaken at the earliest possible date. My observations have convinced me that the Columbia River basin should be embraced in a national program of major water improvement.

"It should not be delayed until we are overwhelmed with population in this country.

"In the upper stretches of this river there are two and one-half million horsepower, and there is a possibility of adding 1,750,000 acres of land to intensive cultivation. By utilization of these great resources, the state's industrial development will be greatly promoted and its population increased one half. Water today is our greatest undeveloped resource.

"Our streams and rivers offer us a possible total of 53,000,000 horsepower, and of this less than 11,000,000 has been developed.

"Our government has done effective work with water, but we have wasted vast sums of public money under political pressure and we have now skimmed off the easy jobs. Today it is the major engineering jobs and the opportunity of great national design which lie before us."

Some people imagine that just because the country is having a quiet spell it will never grow any more. The quintessence of childishness. Before this far-flung undertaking can be completed, America's consumption of fruits and vegetables and dairy products will have increased voraciously and enormously.

Let us go forward, not stand still.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks Drift — Local Market Quiet

STOCKS DRIFT AS TRADING SLUMPS

Bull Forces Content to Rest on Oars With Price Trends Mixed, Narrow

NEW YORK, July 25. (AP.)—The bull forces were content to rest on their oars and let the stock market drift on the extremely sluggish currents of speculative activity today.

Trading slumped to around the lowest levels of the past two years. Price trends fluctuated uncertainly and were for the most part narrow and inconsequential. Support was provided for most pivotal shares and the market as a whole maintained a steady to firm tone most of the time.

A moderate trickle of investment buying has come into the market in the past few days, but on the whole the public response to rather widely disseminated buying recommendations of two large commission houses has been anything but impressive.

ATTITUDE CAUTIOUS

Bulls were inclined to feel from the start that it would be difficult to maintain a sustained advance, and a cautious attitude has become rather general. Several important banking interests regard this as a healthy attitude for they feel that a runaway market might result in a repetition of the spring and early summer crash further unsettling business confidence.

It has been notable however that the bear faction has become, if anything, even more cautious than the bulls. If further efforts on the upside meet with scant success, nevertheless, precedent indicates that professional traders will finally again try their hand at the down-side of the markets.

The overnight announcement of a drop of $17,000,000 in brokers' loans, in contrast to forecasts of a gain of $50,000,000 or so, failed to generate any considerable enthusiasm. Traders perhaps remembered that the flurry of bullishness created by the unexpected drop of $21,000,000 in the last full week of March proved ill-timed.

COPPER MOVING

A bright item in the day's business news was report of heavy buying of copper, both for foreign and domestic use. Stewart Warner declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents, against 25 cents three months ago, and 87½ cents six months ago. R. C. A.-Victor management announced that production would be brought to full capacity by August 1. Less favorable in its implications was announcement of substantial cuts in prices of iron and steel products at Chicago warehouses.

Radio and General Electric were active features, but failed to make headway. U. S. Steel was well supported at moderate concessions from yesterday's close, and General Motors held fairly steady. Westinghouse and American Can dropped a couple of points after meeting fair support during the earlier hours of trading. Auburn was a soft spot, losing a few points.

GOOD GAINS MADE

Auto strop sold up nearly 5 in response to first half earnings of $2.66 a share, more than double the like period of last year, but later reacted in profit taking. Eastman gained as much. Curtiss Publishing gained about 3 in response to first half earnings close to last year's, and Stewart Warner gained a like amount on the dividend announcement. Gillette, Mengel, Paramount, Loose Wiles and Anaconda sold up moderately. Transamerica, first traded on this market, moved narrowly.

Credit was easy, call loans renewing at 2, and going to 1 per cent outside. Time money was about ¼ lower for most maturities.

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, July 25.—Corn averaged higher and wheat lower in the early dealings today. Generally hot rainless weather prevailed throughout the corn belt. On the other hand, Liverpool reports of large offerings of Russian wheat were persistent. Opening unchanged to 1c up, corn afterward held near to the initial figures. Wheat started unchanged to ½ off and subsequently underwent a sag all around. Oats were firm. Provisions declined.

All deliveries of corn today outdid the highest prices heretofore touched on the upward movement of the market. Profit-taking sales, however, enlarged at above 79 cents for December contracts and brought about reactions.

The following quotations on the Chicago Board of Trade are reported by A. E. Austin & Co.:

American Can Co. Secures Group Insurance

NEW YORK, July 25.—The American Can Company has taken out the biggest group contract issued by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company this year—a contract that provides nearly $33,000,000 life insurance, supplemented by sick and non-occupational accident benefits for approximately 16,000 employes working in every state of the Union.

Insured employes join American Can in defraying the cost. Benefits range upward from a minimum of $1,500 life insurance and $15 weekly sick and accident allowances. The life contract includes the usual total and permanent disability clause. Under this, employes becoming totally and permanently disabled before age 60, receive the full amount of their life insurance in monthly instalments, with interest.

'SOUP' ACQUIRES COTTON BELT

NEW YORK, July 25.—The Southern Pacific Railroad took an important role in the rail consolidation movement with the announcement that it had acquired a substantial interest in the St. Louis Southwestern (Cotton-Belt) Railroad, and that it would seek permission to acquire a majority interest.

This represents another move running counter to the consolidation plan as proposed earlier in the year by the Interstate Commerce Commission, which allocated the Cotton-Belt to the Illinois Central. While official comment is lacking, Wall Street asserts that the Illinois Central Railroad would not be adverse to seeing the Cotton-Belt go to the Southern Pacific.

The control of the 1,700-mile Cotton-Belt has been a point of serious contention. It was acquired not long ago by the Kansas City Southern as part of L. F. Loree's plan to merge the two roads with the Missouri-Kansas-Texas to form a southwestern system, but the Interstate Commerce Commission made the Loree group dispose of its interest.

The Loree interest was sold to New York Investors, Inc., and Investment Trust. It amounted to 135,000 shares of voting preferred stock, which was tantamount to working control. This block of shares was recently taken over by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., bankers for the Southern Pacific. Further purchases of the stock are understood to have raised Southern Pacific's interest to about 180,000 shares.

DEMOCRATS AIM AT VICTORIES IN NORTH

Also Eye Border States in Hope of Ruling Congress; Plans Formed Secretly

WASHINGTON, July 25. — (AP.) — Democratic chieftains are laying plans for an intensive congressional campaign to begin late in August, by which they hope to obtain enough seats in the House to give them control in the Seventy-second Congress.

Formulated at secret conferences between the party leaders here and in New York, the plans entail the raising of funds for drives in 72 districts in border and Northern states the Democrats hope to win.

The money to be raised is to be used exclusively for the congressional campaign. None of it is to be applied to the $500,000 deficit of the Democratic National Committee.

Not only do the Democratic leaders expect to recapture the 30 seats lost in the 1928 elections which are normally Democratic, but they hope to take over nearly all of the 54 seats that have gone Democratic in off-year congressional elections during the past decade. With 23 additional seats to the 30 normally Democratic, they would have a bare majority of 218.

Representative Byrns, of Tennessee, chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee is to return to Washington late in August and direct the campaign until the November elections. He has been assured by Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, and John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, of close co-operation, both in the campaign and in the raising of funds.

STAINS IN AUTO MURDER CLUE

CLEVELAND, July 25.—(AP.)—Spots presumed to be bloodstains found in an automobile belonging to Orie Noland, of Solon, one-time friend of Mrs. Myrtle Smith, whose mutilated body was found in a rural district Wednesday night, are being studied as a possible clue in the murder of the North Randall marshal's wife.

Noland, according to police, was killed by a truck in Cleveland the night after Mrs. Smith disappeared. The Nolands and Smiths are said to have been friends for years.

Noland's car has remained in a garage since he was killed and was examined by authorities today.

Detectives are looking for the left hand severed from Mrs. Smith's body. Assuming Mrs. Smith died in a struggle for her life, it is believed the missing hand might shed some light on the identity of her slayer.

Road Worker Killed When Hit by Auto

WELLSBURG, W. Va., July 25.—(AP.)—Lewis Mozingo, 45, of Wellsburg, was killed when struck by an automobile driven by Archie Berghoff, 22, of Wheeling, on the Wellsburg - Follansbee Highway. Berghoff, who said the man stepped in front of his machine, was released. Mozingo was a state Highway Department employe.

Death of Chemist In River Mystery

WELLSBURG, W. Va., July 25.—(AP.)—The body of a man found floating in the Ohio River at East Steubenville, W. Va., July 9, has been identified as that of Robert Little, chemist, employed by the Weirton Steel Company. The manner in which he came to his death probably will never be established, authorities said.

Manor Man Killed By Hit-Run Driver

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 25.—(AP.)—Harry Pritchet, 45, of Manor, was killed last night when struck by a hit-and-run driver on the Penn-Manor road. Glass from automobile headlights was found near the body. Pritchet was an electrician. He leaves his widow and several children.

Two Men Injured In Scaffold Fall

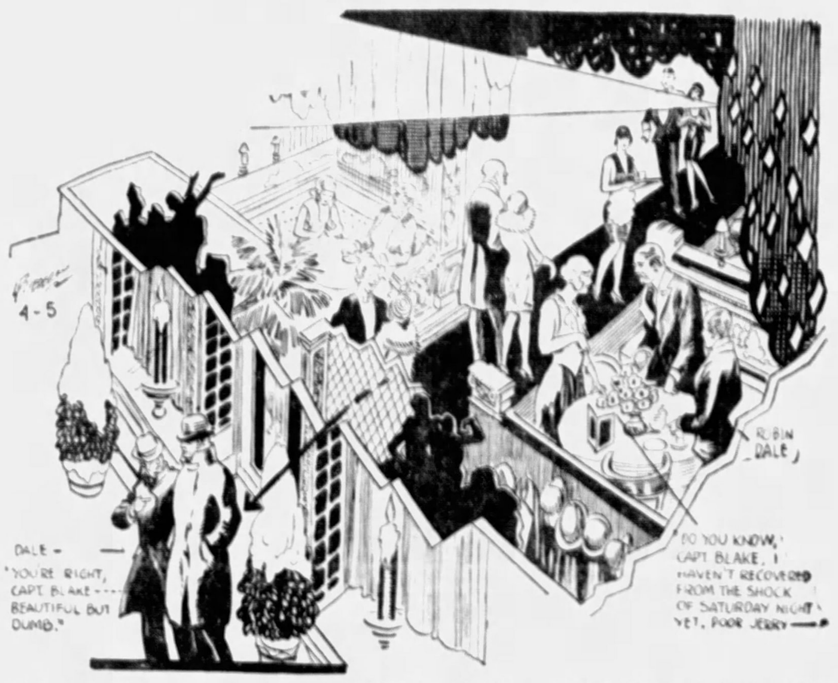
Master Mysteries

By ARTHUR HOERL

The Muffled Shot



WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Jerry Murdock is mysteriously shot and killed at Gordon Stiles' palatial home in Manhattan Beach, a suburb of New York. The only clues are a bullet hole in a window drape and footprints in the snow. A number of well-known Broadwayites are at the house for a week-end party. Eric, the Stiles' butler, implicates Diana Amberson, a dancer. She admits having gone into Murdock's room just prior to the murder. Dr. Wattles, police medical examiner, reports "doped" water in the two rooms adjoining Murdock's. Capt. Blake questions the Quinceys, who occupied one of the rooms. Robin Dale elicits the fact that Murdock financed a tea-room operated by Dolores Quincy. Later, as Diana Amberson is being arrested, Bert Forrest, a playwright, confesses to the crime. The murder weapon is found in Forrest's room. Gordon Styles identifies the revolver as his. Forrest is arrested. Later, Rita Kane, a showgirl, claims the Murdock estate, stating she is Jerry's wife. While Blake and Dale are questioning her at her apartment they are all startled by the entrance of Duncan, Murdock's former servant.

Now Go On With the Story.

CHAPTER V.

"Sit down, Duncan," Capt. Blake said pleasantly. This is quite a fortunate meeting—saves me the trouble of inviting you down to headquarters. There are a few questions I wanted to ask you."

Duncan sat down in silence. He was obviously troubled, not yet understanding the reason for Blake's presence in the apartment. Rita Kane took a chair and was now fingering the folds of her dress nervously.

"Why did you go out of the Stiles house about 1:30 Saturday night, Duncan? And why did you lie about it when I questioned you yesterday?"

"Didn't think there was any use mentioning it. Just went out to the car to get a bottle I left there."

"Queer," drawled Dale. Miss Kane was at the beach about that time. Didn't happen to see her, did you?"

"Why didn't you shut your mouth?" Duncan snarled at Rita.

"You fool! Why didn't you shut up? I never said anything."

"When you two get through arguing maybe we'll get somewhere about Saturday night. Better come clean Duncan; it may save you a lot of grief."

"Oh, there's nothing to be afraid of." With that Duncan turned and addressed a few words to the girl.

"I'll tell him everything, sis. Well, Miss Kane is my sister. Murdock met her through me. Last June they were married in Greenwich. He wanted it kept quiet so his folks wouldn't cut him off for marrying a showgirl. He didn't live the most decent life in the world, but there was nothing I could do with him. Sis raised the devil about it and threatened to tell the world the truth if she caught him at it.

"Saturday night she threatened Jerry she'd break in at the Stiles place, so he told me to watch out and head her off. That's why I went out at one-thirty. I did not meet her far from the house, explained that everything was okay and she finally went on home. I was back in the house 15 minutes after I left it. Then I went right upstairs, like I said, and didn't hear a thing until they broke the news in the morning."

"We'll go into that story later, Duncan. Meanwhile, you spoke of Murdock's way of living. I asked you once before if you knew anyone who might have had cause to kill him. Do you want to say anything more now?"

"Sure, I'll tell you everything I know—an' that's plenty! I don't suppose I have to tell you he was on the make for Diana Amberson? Getting her in his room was his style of working. But she ain't the only one. He put up the dough for that Quincy woman to open that hoity-toity place of hers near Fifth avenue.

"Grace Stiles was another. They had quite an affair before the lady met Stiles and fell for him. I'll say this for her, though, she gave Murdock the air clean since she got married, and I know he's tried out his act more than once but it didn't work. Got enough now, captain?"

Capt. Blake questioned Duncan at quite some length, but obtained no other important information. When he left the apartment with Robin Dale he called the office and left word to have Grace Stiles in for questioning the following forenoon.

"How about some afternoon tea, captain? I know you'll enjoy Dolores Quincy's place."

Capt. Blake smiled and nodded his head. They decided to walk, as it was not more than half a dozen blocks.

The Dolores tea room had a distinctive appearance, even on the outside. There were massive candles, a single one in each window. Heavy drapes hung on the inside of the windows, fastened back by a rope about at the level of the eye. Huge wooden cut outs, beautifully executed, screened the dining room from the gaze of passersby, placed, as they were, inside the windows. There were two, one to each window, copies of famous group statues.

Inside the atmosphere was quite as distinctive. Partitions were so arranged that practically every table was in a booth, varied in size to accommodate parties of any number. It was decorated completely in Louis XV and the partitions were scrolled in designs which depicted scenes at the court of that monarch. Tapestries were in abundance on the walls and hung over the partitions. The only lights were those from candles set in each booth.

Blake and Dale had difficulty in obtaining a booth. The tea-room was filled with fashionably dressed women, and quite frequently, as they passed to the far end, the two men glimpsed young ladies with distinguished looking elderly escorts. As they had asked to speak with Dolores she finally entered their booth.

"Congratulations on your charming tearoom, Mrs. Quincy," Dale said, after they greeted each other.

"It is rather nice, isn't it? And we've been doing wonderfully. You know we've taken the next floor and are going to enlarge. Richard's going into it with me from now on, and I'm sure we'll make a go of it."

"Quite expensive setting up a place like this," Dale said as he was examining some of the beautiful furnishings.

"A horrible lot of money, but one has to be distinctive in any business. Do you know, Capt. Blake, I haven't recovered from the shock of Saturday night yet. Poor Jerry—and to think that such a nice young man like Bert Forrest could have done such a dreadful thing."

And thus it continued. All the efforts of Capt. Blake and Robin Dale to probe information from Dolores went for naught. She skimmed blithely along on the surface of everything. When they finally stepped into the street again Blake merely smiled and shook his head hopelessly.

"You're right, Capt. Blake—beautiful but dumb."

URGES SUGAR YIELD CURB

HAVANA, July 25.—President Machado declared that it should be apparent to all that there is only one solution to the problem of the sugar industry, namely, the reduction of world production to a point that at least approximates world consumption. He said:

"I am sure that those engaged in the production of sugar in Cuba are willing, as they have always been willing, to co-operate to this end, but it can only be attained by the sincere co-operation of all concerned. As far as Cuba is concerned, the problems of the sugar industry are in the hands of its owners. Nevertheless, the solutions to be undertaken for the present crisis are a matter of deep concern for the government of Cuba, and in order that we may be completely informed, I have asked Dr. Viriato Gutierrez to serve further in this matter to the extent of lending support to any constructive movement. In the direction of restriction, Cuban interests undoubtedly will go as far as the sugar producers of any other nation. In the past, we have made all of the sacrifice, and any future agreement to be even considered, must be based first of all on the mutuality af sacrifice. This is the only road that can lead to successful reconstruction."

Man Confesses Penknife Killing

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., July 25.—Dale Wyer, 26, of Straight Creek, has confessed he held the penknife with which Leonard Parks, 28, of Smithville, was fatally stabbed Sunday morning at a dance platform, Ritchie County officers announced today.

DAILY TRUE STORY

Proxy

"We-uh have new copy to get out for the Smithfield Company, Miss Fessenden."

John Dane, president of Apex Advertising, sat at his desk, pressed his fingertips together and smiled at June Fessenden.

Inwardly Jane groaned. She knew John Dane thoroughly and she knew when he spoke like that and smiled like that there was extra work to be done.

"I thought that came in December, Mr. Dane."

"It did, but they have made changes; it is a big account and, after all, it is their right to dictate about their own changes."

There went Jane Fessenden's vacation!

She knew it just as well as if Mr. Dane had told her so in so many words. Jane wanted to cry, and to offset this, to prevent Mr. Dane from suspecting that her thoughts were for a moment apart from her work, she laughed.

John Dane looked at her with a puzzled expression for a moment and then smiled again. He believed he understood.

"You thoroughly enjoy the prospect of extra work, Miss Fessenden. It is most amazing. I appreciate it, naturally, and shall see that an—uh—extra honorarium shall come to you."

Jane thanked him.

She did enjoy her work because she needed the money, but she also enjoyed a rest now and then, and for three seasons she had been unable to take a vacation.

"Later—uh—when this Smithfield copy is out, I shall see that you have an adequate vacation."

Jane was furious, despite her apparent calmness. She wished John Dane wouldn't use so many "uhs" when he talked and she wished he could understand how thoroughly tired she was and how bitterly disappointed.

Disappointed

When one has been planning half a year or more for a vacation that seemed absolutely certain, and when one had saved and prepared a wardrobe—to have someone smirk and say "uh" and utterly annihilate the promised vacation in a few oily words was trouble enough.

"What's wrong, Janey?" Mrs. Tinkham asked that night when Jane came to the little apartment, tossed her hat on the hall stand, picked little Hal's tin locomotive from underfoot and crossed the living room to the big chair, where she put her brief case, fat with papers, on the table.

It was amazing how Mrs. Tinkham, Jane's widowed and invalid sister, could tell Jane's moods as unerringly as a thermometer indicates temperature.

"Nothing is wrong, Emmy," Jane said. "How have you been?"

"Better, and Hal was a darling all day—but, look here, something has made you unhappy—" The sweet, sensitive little woman eyed the fat brief case apprehensively. "Don't tell me that you can't have your vacation, Janey!"

Jane gave her sister a startled glance. It still amazed her, Emmy's uncanny way of guessing things.

"It's all right—a little extra work, but I'll have my vacation later—and extra money. Won't that be lovely?"

Emmy Tinkham nodded and silently went to her room. Little Hal was cutting pictures out of newspapers. Jane sorted some of the papers from her brief case. By working nights she could get this Smithfield copy out in a rush and perhaps her vacation wouldn't be delayed more than a couple weeks. Then she realized how quietly Emmy had slipped from the room. Jane Fessenden loved her younger sister with all of her generous, unselfish heart. She worked for her to save enough to educate little Hal and to care for Emmy.

Jane stepped into Emmy's room and found her, as she feared, curled up on the bed, her face buried in the pillow. She sat down and stroked Emmy's head and laughed lightly.

"Now, Emmy, don't be silly, dear—it isn't anything. I love the work and it means so much to me," she said.

"John Dane is a mean, selfish, stingy man and I detest him—and I hate myself—being saddled around your neck like this—and if it wasn't for Hal I'd wish I were dead. You'd be so free and independent if it wasn't for me and you could tell John Dane to take his job and—and be darned to him!"

Finishes Work

"Awful big words for a mother to use!" Jane said with a laugh.

She lifted her sister up, kissed her and pretended to scold.

"My life wouldn't be worth living without you and Hal, and you aren't to worry about anything or else you won't—you'll be slower getting well—and besides, it makes me feel so unhappy."

"Don't feel unhappy," Emmy begged.

Matters quieted down, but both women were thinking rather unhappy thoughts. John Dane knew that Jane was thoroughly efficient and reliable. He knew that Jane was supporting her invalided and widowed sister and child and therefore could be made to do extra work without danger of having her resign.

Jane knew also that John Dane knew this.

After two days of rough outlining the advertising copy with Dane, he left Jane to work it out. He said he had to go away on a little business trip. He took his golf bags with him, and Jane knew that his business took him to a resort on Lake Champlain noted for its links.

Jane finally finished the extra work. As soon as Mr. Dane came back she would ask for the extra honorarium he had promised and she would take Emmy and Hal to a quiet beach resort.

He saw her pass his open door and before she had her hat off he stepped to his door and smiled at her.

"Oh—uh—will you see me a moment, Miss Fessenden?"

Jane was thinking that he better bet his life she would see him and demand the extra money and three full weeks' vacation with pay.

She sat down but before she could say a word he smiled at her, pressed his finger tips together, leaned forward and asked:

"Do you—uh—know what a proxy is, Miss Fessenden?"

"It is empowering one person to act for another, Mr. Dane."

"Of course you would know—you seem to know pretty much of—uh—everything. Well, Miss Fessenden, you are my proxy."

He leaned back with an expression of satisfaction, as if he had just told her that he had made her Queen of the Universe.

Sister Objects

"What does that come to?" Jane asked, being suspicious.

"Er—there will be an extra—"

"I mean is being your proxy just another form of putting off the vacation that I need and that my sister and her little boy need? Suppose I am your proxy, with power to act for you—and I tell myself that I may have a month's vacation?"

"It is in a way of business. I find that I cannot go to California just now, but Apex Advertising must have a representative out there to personally prove to a Mr. Theodore Ruskin that he should place all of the citrus fruit advertising with us. It means—well, everything to me—to the company," he finished hastily.

"And you think I can do it, Mr. Dane?"

"I believe you can, just as well—or about as well as I could."

"Thank you," Jane said crisply. She was wondering how she had best tell him to take the old job because she was through. She wished she had the courage.

"It will take several weeks, the trip and all. In addition to your expenses I shall give you five percent of our commission—that alone will amount to many thousands."

Instantly Jane saw those "many thousands" tucked away to insure a college education for little Hal.

Thoughts of resigning faded.

"Tell me all about it, when shall I start?" she said.

It took them a week to go over their plans and to prepare Jane to cross the continent, meet a strange man and wheedle a million dollars' worth of advertising out of him.

"The trip will be in the nature of a vacation," John Dane said.

"If I fail I won't come back," Jane told him.

"Oh no—no—no, not that, couldn't spare you—really I don't expect you to fail, but—you understand—always a nice position here for you, always, Miss Fessenden."

She nodded.

"Send my salary to my sister every week. I have to hire a maid for her while I am away," Jane ordered.

Sister Emmy cried quite a lot over it—she wanted Jane to have that vacation at the quiet beach and it seemed a pretty tough old world that she had to be such a mill-stone around her poor hard-working sister's neck.

Jane Replies

John Dane received a letter telling him that Jane had met Mr. Theodore Ruskin and that he wouldn't be able to go over the matter with her for another week.

The week passed, and two more weeks and no more word from Jane. John Dane began to worry. He sent her a wire. He was afraid she had failed and was going to keep her word and not return.

Jane replied to his wire with:

"Nothing to worry about—yet."

Dane fumed. It was just like a woman—didn't tell anything at all.

More weeks passed and another wire of inquiry came from Dane.

Jane answered back:

"Hold my salary in office; my sister has gone on a trip. Nothing to worry about—yet."

John Dane muttered a mild swear-word.

And then Jane appeared in the office—a very different Jane. She was bright-eyed, smiling, rosy-cheeked and dressed so wonderfully well that for a moment John Dane did not recognize her. Then he did and played his old game of not being too enthusiastic.

"Ah—back again, I expected detailed reports from you, Miss Fessenden."

"I secured the advertising contract, Mr. Dane."

"Good—very good, indeed. Now, after we get out this copy and have everything in shipshape you can hop off for a week or so vacation."

"Someone else will have to do the copy, Mr. Dane. As your proxy I secured the contract—"

"But you must do the copy for me, Miss Fessenden—"

"I'm not Miss Fessenden, Mr. Dane, I am Mrs. Theodore Ruskin now. My sister and her boy are out in California, and we, Teddy—Theodore and I, are on our honeymoon. I never knew that being a proxy was so wonderful."

BOY FOR RENT

We will rent a boy, aged 12, by the day or week, to stick his finger on any wet paint you may apply inside or outside your home or office building. This saves others from this messy task. Our boy is also trained to do all the accidental rubbing up against wet paint, and he will stand at "Fresh Paint" signs and demonstrate to passers-by that the paint is actually wet. This will prevent needless experiments on the part of countless other volunteer and curiosity seekers who invariably insist upon testing out the truth of wet paint signs.

Harris's Sportsmanlike Indorsement of Pinchot

Law and justice are not always synonymous, and one can never foretell what a Supreme Court decision will be in a case involving legal technicalities. Accordingly, while there is not the slightest doubt that Gifford Pinchot is the choice of the Republicans of Pennsylvania for the gubernatorial nomination, there is a possibility that he may be deprived of the nomination by the decision in the Luzerne County perforated ballot case.

Under the circumstances fair play demands that Republicans continue to support Pinchot as an independent candidate, even though the name of Francis Shunk Brown should appear on the ballot as the Republican nominee.

Senator Frank J. Harris, who supported Brown in the primary campaign, has announced he will vote for Pinchot, even if Brown should receive the Republican nomination through the Supreme Court's decision. Senator Harris is the first of the Brown leaders in Allegheny County to come out for Pinchot and fair play. His announcement is not a matter of political expediency, but has undoubtedly been inspired by the Senator's sense of justice and appreciation of decency. He is to be congratulated on his sportsmanship.

Washington Shows Good Sense in Fireworks Ban

The City Council of Washington, Pa., has done a praiseworthy thing in passing an ordinance banning fireworks. It is the more commendable because of the strong opposition to the measure, which was fought by a large number of storekeepers.

The Council was unquestionably right in maintaining that the only way to reduce Fourth of July accidents is by forbidding the use of dangerous explosives as toys. And it was also right in acting on the matter now instead of waiting until next Fourth of July. Usually the fireworks question is not discussed until a few weeks before Independence Day, and within a few days after the celebration the problem is forgotten.

Washington's example is commended to the attention of other cities and boroughs in Western Pennsylvania. Pittsburgh needs their help in its own fight to save the children from injury on the Fourth.

Councilman Robert Garland promises to bring up at the next meeting of Council the proposal to tighten the restrictions against fireworks here. It is reassuring to know that this important matter is not to be neglected or postponed.

Fires Point to Need Of Caution in Woods

Numerous forest fires in Pennsylvania, reported by the State Department of Forests and Waters, constitute evidence of the severity of the recent drouth and heat wave. Forest fires do not usually occur to any extent in mid-summer; it is in spring and autumn that they are worst.

The woods have apparently become very inflammable. It is accordingly in order for campers, tourists and picnickers to adopt precautions.

A forest fire near McConnellsburg is attributed to a discarded cigaret, and the person accused of having thrown it carelessly aside has been arrested. The incident suggests the need of handling tobacco cautiously when going through the woods. Gifford Pinchot, as state forest commissioner some years ago, requested during a season of fire danger that people should not smoke while moving through the woods. It was while they were in motion, he said, that there was greatest likelihood of their setting the forest on fire. The danger was less if they smoked while at rest, for then they would be more likely to extinguish the sparks. The advice given then is, of course, equally good now.

Pennsylvania has millions of dollars of the citizens' money invested in state forests. The investment should be safeguarded. A single fire may cause thousands of dollars of damage. The threat to human life must not be forgotten, either.

They Kept the Faith

We Owe Them a Debt of Gratitude.

Now that the London naval treaty has been ratified it is high time for the American people to acknowledge the debt of gratitude they owe to that militant minority of Senators in Congress who went down to defeat championing the cause of the United States.

Under the leadership of Senator Johnson, of California, ranking member of the Committee on Foreign Relations, ably supported by Senator Hale, of Maine, as chairman of the Committee on Naval Affairs, these Senators have indeed "fought the good fight for the good cause."

Their opposition prevented the ratification of this treaty until the Committees of Foreign Relations and Naval Affairs were compelled to call the highest naval authorities of the United States as witnesses.

It was upon the practically unanimous testimony of these experts, under the leadership of Admiral Jones, that this treaty is "unjust and unfair to the United States" that the fight against ratification was founded and fought to a finish.

Senators Johnson, Hale, Robinson, of Indiana, McKellar, Moses, Oddie, Shipstead, Copeland, Bingham and the other Senators who voted or were paired against ratification deserve well of their country whose cause they so steadfastly championed.

These were the Senators who preferred, in regard to this highly technical treaty, the advice and counsel of the highest naval authorities of their own country to that gratuitously offered by the British admiralty and the Japanese general staff.

These were the Senators who kept the faith and they can await serenely the verdict of history.

"Bugs" Baer Says:

New Records

Ever since Shipwreck Kelly discovered the wrong pole every American has been after the Sultan's prize for the first citizen who does something sensible.

"Bugs" Baer

Old ladies have parked themselves in rocking chairs and rocked themselves to oblivion. In order to make it a goodwill tour they took along Cicero pineapples and sub-machine guns.

People who should only pick their teeth in self-defense have suddenly joined the radicals on the left wing and started forth to hang up records that only a circus owner can appreciate.

The Hunter brothers stayed up in the cloud department for over three weeks. That's a record. But only because they were the first people to stay away three weeks without going anywhere.

Now the erratic episodes have smacked the American boy plumb center in his imagination. Four Newark kids took turns riding a bicycle and wore it right down to a roller skate.

We don't know what this proves but they claim they were cementing relations between our Senate and wild life in the African jungle.

That was a great goodwill journey taken by those two kids in the Middle West. They decided to become tree frogs and to avoid the dull cares of a prosaic and commercial world by climbing into an old oak.

They took a saxophone with them. The last we heard of these two boys they had been adopted by the Audubon Society and were on their way to the bird sanctuary in Florida.

No boy requires a ponderous reason from a sheep-bound volume to climb into a tree during the crab-apple season. He will climb up there and stay there until he gets ripe and falls off.

But the manager of the twig team claimed that his two experts had climbed into the oak to promote better relations between the friends of Egypt and the makers of storm-proof gumdrops.

No matter what you do these days it's all for the best. You can kick your grandmother down the cellar steps and then sue her because she didn't send you souvenir postcards on her one-flight goodwill tour.

We guess it all started with Lindy's flight. But there must be an end to everything except the shape of a cruller. Out in the Dakotas there is a champion who claims to hold the record for jumping puddles. Well, if you can find a puddle in the Dakotas during the dry season we can get a million from Congress to deepen it and make it a harbor.

FIRE

By Archibald Henderson

Poets, artists, scientists, philosophers are all agreed that civilization dates from the discovery of the uses to which fire could be put for man's advantage and improvement. The snatching of fire from the chariot of the sun by Prometheus stands today, as in the past, as a sort of poetic symbol of man's eternal quest for knowledge. The sun, or fire in various forms, has become the central point in various religions in the course of human history.

In fire lurked not only danger but utility. The signal fires of the tribe, a primitive survival, for example, among our own American Indians; the uses of fire to warm the body, cook food, to make implements and ornaments of various sorts—pottery, earthenware, iron, steel, gold, silver—all mark the gradual evolution of civilizations, the thrust toward a more comfortable, convenient and highly organized life.

As Millikan says in "Toward Civilization"—"The fire trust has grown in power and influence until, a very few years ago, Einstein reorganized the whole physical world under the hegemony of fire. Earth, air and water, indeed, all forms of matter, are supposed by him to be leaping continuously of their own accord into the furnaces of the sun to keep the great fire ball going, and this sacrificial act on their part is alone responsible, according to modern astronomy, for the fact that we are here today. Otherwise we should have been long ago merely the ashes of a spent star system."

Fire had its many and multiform uses, and these were exploited and developed in innumerable directions. But it was not until the time of Count Rumford that scientists began to think of heat as a mode of motion. Fire is energy, and the mathematicians and physicists for less than a century have had the practice of expressing kinetic energy in symbolic form. Step by step the great figures in science worked out the principles by which fire could be accurately and usefully employed to develop power.

A great step forward was taken when Galileo discovered that force could be represented as mass multiplied by acceleration. Modern physics and astronomy—Newton's law of universal gravitation; Leplace's comprehensive principle of astronomy—all arise out of this great and fundamental principle.

Civilization took a great leap forward when the mathematicians and the physicists, the engineers and the biologists set their minds to harnessing energy, and compelling it, like the genii of the fairy tales, to do man's bidding, to work for the world's betterment.

The day will come when the world's most convenient and available sources of energy, coal and oil, are exhausted. But long before that time arrives man will have learned how to utilize solar energy and use it for man's purposes. The magnitude of that solar energy, as yet unharnessed, may be realized when we consider that two modern countries receive in a day as much heat as is now produced by all the coal burned in 24 hours throughout the world.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Do you feel that life has been particularly cruel to you? Are you carrying some burden which you're sure no one else can understand? Then listen to this story of Kisagotami and Gotama, the Buddha.

She was only a baby herself, one of India's girl mothers, and she adored her tiny brown son with the unreasoning passion of a child. For a year they played together in the green walled garden of her husband's home. Then, just as he took his first toddling steps, her baby died. Heartbroken, poor little Kisagotami fled into the streets with the dead baby clasped in her arms and wandered from house to house asking for help.

"Give me some medicine that will bring my baby back again," she cried. But her pitying neighbors could only shake their heads and turn away.

Then at last someone sent her to the Buddha—and looking at her with his wise old eyes he saw all the terror and ignorance in her tortured young heart.

So he said, very gently, "Yes, I will make you medicine, Kisagotami." Then joyfully she cried: "What herbs will I bring to you for the medicine, master?"

"Only some mustard seed," he answered. "But wait," he continued, for she had turned to go joyfully upon so simple an errand. "You must get that mustard seed from a house where no son, or husband, or parent, or slave has died."

So Kisagotami went out happily, kissing her dead baby, feeling sure that soon it would open soft eyes and coo at her again. For sure it would be easy to find such mustard seed.

But when she asked at the first house, another mother, whose eyes were faded with weeping, answered, "Mustard seed have I plenty, but no longer a son. For thrice have my arms cradled your dead burden."

And when she came to the next house she found that a father had just breathed his last. And in the next house they were still in mourning for the husband. So it went. In each house there was an empty place and sorrowing hearts.

Slowly the truth dawned on Kisagotami. She had thought she was alone in her terrible grief. But lo, to every home such grief had come. That was what Buddha had sent her to find! Not mustard seed, but truth. And though that truth cut her heart in two, as she looked at the baby who was now one of a great multitude, still there came with it a strange peace. For if this pain was the common human lot, she would find courage to bear it too.

So little Kisagotami buried her baby in the forest and went back to the Buddha and to life again. Part of her heart would stay forever buried in that grave, but, through that suffering, she had at last come into wisdom and womanhood.

Does a sorrow drag at your heart? Follow Kisagotami's trail. Each life you question will reveal some loss or lack as grievous. And perhaps in time wisdom will come to you as it came to Kisagotami. Then you will discover two things. The first is that you are not alone in your suffering—that you are only one of very, very many. And the second and greater discovery is this: Pain itself is a part of life. It is not an abnormal infliction—it is not an accident or a blunder on the part of the Creator. It is a part of life—it is as much a part of life as happiness. For we cannot grow unless we suffer. And only when our hearts are broken can wisdom enter into them.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS.

My Wish

May I go singing all the day
A song so brave, a song so gay,
That down far ways its notes will stray!

Before dawn lights its earliest spark
Who knows what fears beset the lark
Through night's strange hours, still and dark?

Who knows what subtle terror creeps
Where all the muted forest keeps
Its vigil through night's hidden deeps?

And yet with morn's returning glow
How swiftly phantom shadows go
How sweetly lark's glad lyrics flow!

This is my wish, then, to descry
Dawn's first pale promise in the sky
And so put night and darkness by,

And may it hold, this song of mine,
The gleam of dawn when white stars shine,
The magic of the dawn-wind's wine!

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

SECTION 5. ROLE OF THE GENES.

We have traced the main stages in the evolution of an individual body from an egg.

First, the very young embryo is a plastic thing, making the most elementary arrangements, deciding in which direction its head and its tail will be produced and which will be its right and which its left.

Then it begins to specialize itself, to crystalize out into tissues and organs. Rudiments appear and shape themselves and differentiate until they become workable parts. And, finally, there is the third stage of action, of pulsing blood, of contracting muscles and hardening bones, of messages flashing along the newly drawn out nerve fibers, of ductless glands pouring their controlling secretions into the blood stream.

H. G. Wells

In this stage the tissues settle down together, so to speak, and knock each other into shape until the body becomes a harmoniously working whole.

Now, all through this orderly development the genes in the chromosomes are exercising a regulating supervising action. As we noted in the first chapter, there is not a corner of the body that cannot be altered and modified in some way by these active little units in the chromosome outfit.

We must remember what a gene is. We grow accustomed to using convenient but in a sense so misleading shorthand phrases like "the gene for blue eyes" or the "albino gene," that we tend to think of the genes as in some way little replicas of the characters with which they are concerned and of the gene outfit as being a sort of compressed organism with a part corresponding to each part of the body.

But that idea is wholly false; it is really a survival of the preformationist ideas of the Eighteenth Century, which so worked on the imagination of one microscopist that he actually drew a human sperm with a homunculus, a miniature man, squatting within the head!

The genes are something structural and chemical in the chromosomes, and that is all we know about them materially. The rest of our knowledge is based on their observed effects. The characters they produce are the end-results of physical or chemical influences that they exert.

The gene for blue eyes has nothing of blueness about it—nothing suggestive of eyes.

It is a chemical unit which modifies the train of events leading to pigment-formation in the eye. Moreover, the genes are scattered about on the chromosomes; there is not a particular region where all the eye-genes are, another where all the foot-genes are, and so on.

In the fruit fly the color of the eye can be modified by any one of over 20 different genes, which are scattered about at random over the chromosomes, and the same can be said of other thoroughly investigated cases, like the coat-color of rodents. The relation between gene and character is by no means a simple matter.

It is an interesting fact that many genes produce their characteristic actions by influencing the speeds of processes occurring in the body.

For example, the little brackish water shrimp Gammarus chevroxi is normally black-eyed. But various recessive varieties are known with other eye-colors, and here the effect depends upon the rate at which black pigment is deposited. The normal shrimp has red eyes at first, but black pigment is very rapidly formed in them so that even before hatching the eyes are black.

Then there is a variety which produces black much more slowly; for several days after hatching the eyes are red, then they darken slowly to a chocolate color. In another variety the eyes darken still more slowly and only reach a brownish-red, and finally there are individuals whose eyes never darken at all.

Now Gammarus is an animal which hatches as a miniature replica of the adult and can be watched as it grows up. In the case of the fruit-fly the development occurs in the pupa stage; when it emerges the fly is a finished product, and does not grow or develop any more.

So it may well be that the great variety of eye-colors known in the fruit-fly are really due to the speeds at which the eye-pigments are formed in the pupa.

Much of the variation in the color of human hair and eyes seems to be due to similar controllers of speed. Many children change their eye color as they grow up, and the earlier the change shows, the more quickly it runs its course and the deeper is the final shade reached.

Really dark eyes are, on this view, eyes in which dark pigment had formed very rapidly and had reached its final condition before birth; and in true-blue eyes the rate of pigment production is slowed down by the influence of a special gene to so little that it never appears appreciably during the period when change is possible.

And now we will take up again the question of how much of development is due to the genes. Are these genes directly responsible for all the stages of development, even for the earliest formative steps in the egg-cell?

Abroad With A New Yorker

By O. O. McIntyre

LONDON—London's kerb merchants and itinerant musicians inspired Hogarth to many of his unlovely etchings of life in the raw. And to me they give the city a good humored bustle and charm it would not otherwise have. They are an odd mixture—half hooligan and half Shylock—that poverty spews up from its depths.

One shriveled old lady on Cockspur street offered from her barrow the chill of Spitzbergen and the warmth of Sahara with rows of half penny dabs of ice cream, a mouthful on a stick, and a tiny cornucopia of roasted chestnuts. Alongside of her was a sidewalk artist sketching the masterpiece he will sell for a sixpence when finished.

Thousands of outstretched hands offer every variety of flowers—from Scotch heather to daffodils. Toys jump about on strips of black cloth to the surreptitious tugs of hidden threads. Match-sellers, balloon hawkers and criers of handkerchiefs, pencils, dolls and other play-pretties are everywhere.

In the mews where squalor hides away so successfully behind Tudor trappings the strolling singers lend a picturesque cheerfulness. They chant the coster songs of many verses—the halt, the blind and the maimed. There is one coster refrain about "Bertie, Me Lad" reputed to have more than a thousand verses.

No people the world over are so hopefully optimistic as the street minstrels of London. In a bleak blind courtyard in the rear of the Savoy a little band of four huddled in a drenching downpour tooting madly for more than an hour although in that time only one small coin was tossed to them.

For the lovers of domestic pets there is a treat in store along Leadenhall Market filled with live stock shops. Here one may purchase marmosets, gold fish, puppies, kittens, bullfinches, bantams, guinea pigs, pigeons and even bright eyed foxes for the chase—if one is that utterly heartless.

Huge joke, ha, ha, from a current Punch: "Flapper necking with young man on a park bench—'Heavens! there's my fiance. Pretend you don't know me.'" Rotten, eh what?

Bleak drab days have always had a charm for me. Consequently the fogs of London are a constant delight. They have a way of rolling up softly from a gentle mist into a deep, fugitive and mysterious density. The whole city seems to hang magically in a leaden sky. All that is harsh in its architecture is obliterated. There is indefinable beauty and romance in the wraith-like blobs of street lights. I always look for adventure in a fog.

Incidentally, I am told London has fog forecasters just as we have weather specialists in America. On the south side of the Thames is a spiraling chimney and when the first light mist appears the expert goes to the top and broadcasts his warning so that extra pressure may be given the furnace fires for the lighting plants all over the town.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

It is hard for you who have been active in earning money to find the way blocked by circumstances and have to ask for money as a dependent.

It matters not whether it be in your own home or in that of another.

It is hard to feel an earning ability and a laudable purpose for spending money you might earn, and yet cannot get at the job that brings in money.

Have you ever had the kind of cold that makes you talk in whispers?

You feel just about as effective.

To know what is needed in a certain direction, to know where and how to get it, and yet be unable to reach it, means paralysis of spirit.

Perhaps you have strained every nerve to force circumstances.

Words are inadequate to express the depth, the heighth, the breadth of weariness that comes from such ineffectual striving.

Perhaps your own family wonder and think you have lost interest in home.

It is not a thing you can explain.

It must be understanding and a willingness to help you in self-expression that can help you, you think.

But, instead, you have reached bottom to enable you to see that there is only one thing that can help you, and that is faith in God's ultimate good for you.
